Mixed News Again.
And a Big Copper Mine.
Complicated Industry.
Many Chances Remain.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

HODGE, Cal., Feb. 26.

BACK FROM beyond the Mexican border to read news that does not interest Mexico much, the victory of Mayor Thompson in Chicago, that of the prohibition amendment in the Supreme Court, the bonus question, Muscle Shoals question, wheat problem, and a rising stock market.

MANY THINGS, important when you dwell among them, seem trivial a few miles away, and a few thousand feet up in the mountains. On the way through Tucson, you read the Mexican paper, "El Tucsonenze," ably managed, and learn about a ipolicia que deposito $250,000 en 6 anos, "a policeman that deposited $250,000 in six years."

This energetic New York defender of the public earned, it seems, four thousand a year as policeman, and the Mexican editor, R. E. Vida de Moreno, wonders at the opportunities that our nation offers to energy and talent.

MR. "PEPPER," who has sold newspapers from coast to coast, the Boston American in Chicago and the Examiner in San Francisco, calls out the Tucson Daily Citizen, owned and published by Frank H. Hitchcock, who used to be postmaster general. "Pepper" and Gen. Hitchcock agree, after trying everything else, that Tucson is the place.

AND "PEPPER" wishes the world to know that he is expecting Mr. Rockefeller any day now, and Paderewski is just coming in, on his private car. Pepper says:

"You could live 10 years for what he gets just for playing the piano, once. Soft!"

NEWS OF bread riots threatening in Paris proves that conditions can change as suddenly in prosperous France as they did not long ago in prosperous Wall Street.

The wise men asking what causes the world trouble are as foolish as a drunkard, unable to understand what causes his headache the next morning. The world is paying for the war, for the butchering of twenty million men, at a cost of two hundred and fifty billion dollars.

THE INTERESTING magazine, "Asia," prints a pathetic picture of a miserable creature in rags, haggard, timid.

His father's fortune had made him rich. Opium made him a beggar. The big war was the world's opium. But the world will struggle out of its trouble, and perhaps know better next time. In any case, this nation should keep out of European leagues, world courts, and everything else that could drag us into the next debauch.

IN HOLLYWOOD, where everything is stupendous, a lady is suing a well known moving picture director and producer for six hundred and one thousand dollars. She charges that when she kept an appointment to discuss her desire to rise in her profession, the gentleman was guilty of a serious social affront.

Everything in the law suit is taken for granted, except the one thousand tacked on the six hundred thousand dollars. An insult might be worth six hundred thousand or a million, but how can it be worth exactly six hundred and one thousand? A cynic suggests that a press agent added the one to make the suit interesting.

IF YOU OWN copper stocks, you are engaged by proxy in an interesting, changing business and might learn about it by visiting the Cananea copper mine, a little south of the Mexican border, near Douglas, Ariz. That mine had stock selling at $8 a share. Copper running as high as 40 per cent was found and the stock jumped to $200 a share. Now the Anaconda Copper Company owns it.

CANANEA IN normal times pays the Southern Pacific Railroad a freight bill of $1,000,000 a year. Mr. Weed, manager of the mine, a blue-eyed young American from the Michigan School of Mines, with his forehead leaning out above his eyes, learned the real business working in a mine after graduating. He continues learning the business by running one of the greatest mines on earth.

HE SHOWS you millions of dollars worth of machinery that was "the latest" a while ago and is now junk, and idle, waiting to be torn out. You see smelters that would have delighted Cotton Mather, enabling him to make descriptions of hell more vivid.

Torrents of burning oil pour into the furnace through five pipes, producing a heat of almost 4,000 degrees, separating the copper from iron, sulphur, etc., in the ore. The iron floats on top of the molten mass and with other materials lighter than copper is drawn off as fat is skimmed from a soup pot, forming slag.

That slag would make the best road material, brick, or stone mixture for cement, but it is wasted. Transportation costs too much.

HOW MUCH does it cost to produce copper? That question can never be answered definitely in America or in the African copper fields. It depends on the quality of your machinery. Mr. Weed has just installed, for Cananea, machinery that cuts down the necessary man power exactly one-half. That is the story everywhere, and civilization must adjust itself to it.

Millions of pounds of molten copper are poured in and out of County Voters' League to Insist Council Act Now; Waste in Buying Scored

To the growing demands for a public hearing of the conduct of the discharged Bertram L. Succop, director of city supplies, has been added the voice of the Allegheny County League of Women Voters.

The League's chairman, Mrs. R. Templeton Smith, announced that Council would be asked next Monday to grant an open hearing. Mrs. Smith indicated that the League feels that if Succop, in awarding contracts to higher bidders, tossed the taxpayers' money away, steps should be taken to restore that money.

TO FORCE HEARING

Mrs. Smith said:

"If Council refuses our request we will do everything possible to force an open hearing. We think it is terrible that the taxpayers' money has been spent this way."

Mrs. Smith added that the Succop cases probably would be discussed generally at a meeting of 100 county leaders of the league today in the Congress of Women's Clubs headquarters.

Succop continued his silence today, again promising a statement tomorrow. Mayor Kline announced that he was tired of being both director of supplies and Mayor, and would announce Succop's successor in a few days. The Mayor added that he spent the morning listening to 25 applicants for the job.

QUIZ VOTED DOWN

The League's request for an open hearing would have been unnecessary had Councilmen Charles Anderson and Robert Garland succeeded yesterday in their motion for a public investigation. Majority members, sup-

Steels Lead New Boost In Stocks

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—The bull market in stocks was enthusiastically resumed today, after yesterday's temporary setback, and prices were boosted to new high levels for 1931.

Steel and electric power stocks were in the lead, as trading continued in large volume. United States Steel common, which has held back recently, advanced nearly $4, and Bethlehem gained $3, both reaching new highs for the year.

In the public utility group several issues rose $3 to $6.

Auburn Auto continued its wide fluctuations with a $10 gain, which nearly canceled its recent losses.

LEWIS SMITH, 15

OFFICER SHOOTS FLEEING BOY

A 15-year-old boy, shot by a police lieutenant last night for a traffic violation, lay on a cot in Children's Hospital today, a bullet four inches above his left knee.

He is Lewis Smith, 15, of 16 Eller street, shot as he and two companions abandoned an automobile, said by police to have been stolen, after the lieutenant chased them several blocks.

Lieut. Harry J. Payne testified in Morals Court today that he was on his way to work in the Oakland district when he saw an automobile, containing three occupants, being driven recklessly at Forbes street and Craft avenue. He pursued it, he said, and at the end of Craft avenue Smith and the two others abandoned the car. It was then that he fired, Payne said.

Smith named his accomplices. One of the alleged pals, Anthony Repinsky, 16, of 2515 Aliquippa street, was arrested a short time later.

In Morals Court today Repinsky was held for further investigation. He admitted the auto had been stolen from in front of the University Club. It was the car of Dr. Kenneth M. Day.

Four Plead Guilty In Election Plot

Four members of the election board of the Twenty-first District, Fourth Ward, pleaded guilty to conspiracy in Criminal Court today as a result of charges preferred by the special recount board which investigated casting of ballots at the May primaries last year. Judge George V. Moore said he would take testimony later to determine the degree of guilt. Those who pleaded were Max Adler, John E. Casey, Pat Higgins and Joseph B. Kelly. The board of the Fifteenth District, Sixth Ward, was ready to be placed on trial.

HOOVER SEES 'DRAIN' ON TREASURY

Veterans Won't Profit by Plan, He Says; Congress To Override Disapproval

By GEORGE R. HOLMES,
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—President Hoover vetoed the soldiers' loan bill today and sent it back to Congress with a vigorous message of disapproval.

He objected to it on a dozen grounds—among them that it will require an estimated outlay of $1,000,000,000 from the treasury which the treasury is no position to stand; that it will retard the country's recovery from business depression; that it will do the mass of veterans and their dependents no good; that it confers special benefits on those able to take care of themselves; that it brings nearer an increase in federal taxes; and, finally, that the whole project is economically unsound and wrong in principle.

CONGRESS IMPATIENT

A Congress hostile to the President's position and determined to over ride his veto listened almost impatiently to his message. It was addressed the House of Representatives, where the bill originated. The President said:

"I regard the bill as unwise from the standpoint of the veterans themselves, and unwise from the standpoint of the welfare of all the people."

Mr. Hoover inferentially accused Congress of having deceived the country when the original compensation act was passed in 1924. He declared:

'When the (original) bonus act was passed, it was upon the explicit understanding of the Congress that the matter was closed and that the government should not be called upon to make subsequent enlargements.

"It is now proposed to enlarge the loan rate to 50 per cent of the 'face value', at a low rate of interest, thus imposing a potential cash outlay upon the government of about $1,700,000,000, if all the veterans apply for loans, less about $330,000,000 already loaned."

$1,000,000,000 ESTIMATE

Then, estimating that the number of veterans who would take advantage of the borrowing opportunity would account for about $1,000,000,000, he said:

"There not being a penny in the Treasury to meet such a demand, the government must borrow this sum through the sale of reserve fund securities together with further issues or

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—More than 180 persons were killed in the Ba and Sinatoka districts of the Fiji Islands in the worst hurricane and flood there in recent years, members of the crew of a government ship reported on their arrival at Suva, Fiji Islands, tonight.

GIRL RECORD FLIER MISSING

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Edna May Cooper, 26, co-holder of the world enduring refueling flight record for women and former film actress, was sought by the police missing persons detail today.

Aid of the officers was asked last night by Mrs. Mary Cooper, who said her daughter left their Hollywood residence Tuesday and had not been heard from since. Mrs. Cooper said:

"Edna May has never remained away over night without telling me in advance. She said she was going to a downtown office, but when I called there at noon they told me she had not arrived."

Mrs. Cooper said the fact that her daughter wore a diamond ring and diamond-studded wrist watch with a value of $4,500 added to her fears.

Miss Cooper was made a featured screen player by Cecil B. De Mille in 1918. She played in "Beauty and Bad Man," Show Girl," "Apache" and other films. She is the divorced wife of Karl Brown, motion picture director, and mother of Karl, Jr., 8 years old.

Bobbie Trout and Miss Cooper established a world endurance refueling flight record for women of 122 hours 50 minutes here January 9, last.

X-Ray Reveals Pet Poodle Swallowed $1,000 Ring

An X-ray of a poodle owned by Miss Mae Harnette, 2506 Shady avenue, cleared the mystery of the whereabouts of her missing 1,000 platinum diamond ring, according to city detectives.

Detectives Sol Fromme and Joseph Jackson, detailed to investigate the disappearance of the ring, learned that the dog previously had chewed up a dollar bill, and had bitten off a piece of lipstick.

Absence of any evidence that the house had been entered by thives led the sleuths to the theory that the dog must have swallowed the ring when it leaped upon the dresser Wednesday in chasing a cat.

They took the dog to Dr. R. N. Bowman, 2514 Shady avenue. His examination with an X-ray substantiated their deductions, they reported.

Chaplin Reveals He Fled At Shaw's Threshold

LONDON, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Ten years ago when the literati were just beginning to discover that Charlie Chaplin was a "genius" the move clown mounted George Bernard Shaw's doorstep, saw the playwright's name staring boldly from a glittering brass plate, lost his courage, turned and ran.

Today he disclosed he confessed that misadventure to Shaw when they met yesterday for the first time at a luncheon given by Lady Nancy Astor yesterday.

It was while he waited to ring Shaw's doorbell, he said, that a boy with an autograph book in his hand followed him up the steps. Chaplin turned quickly and the boy ran. In a moment Charlie was going after him. Shaw asked:

"Why did you run away?

Chaplin explained:

"Purely a case of follow the leader."

Chuckling in his beard, Shaw remarked:

"I'm nobody to be afraid of."

It developed today that the guest list for the opening of Chaplin's new picture on Friday reads like a section of Who's Who. Among the names are Shaw, David Lloyd George, Evelyn Laye, Alstair MacDonald, Elinor Glyn, Sir Philip Sassoon and Lord and Lady Astor.

After the opening Chaplin plans to go to Toledo, Spain, to study the pantomime of the bullfighting.

MAYVIEW HEAD DENIES SELECTING FOOD BRAND FOR HOME

'GOAT' ROLE SPURNED BY HAMMERS

Records Show Parke Goods, Jamming Warehouse, Not Specified by Official

The name of the L. H. Parke Company does not appear in hundreds of requisitions made in the last two years by Dr. J. S. Hammers, superintendent of Mayview City Home, to Bertram L. Succop, former director of the Department of Supplies. Implication has been made that preference for the Parke company was due to requests of Dr. Hammers.

Examination of files at Mayview fails to show the Parke name on requisitions and Dr. Hammers confirms this with a statement that he has rarely if ever asked for Parke goods.

RECEIVES PARKE GOODS

Although he did not ask the Parke brand in the requisitions filed in his office the Department of Supplies shipped him plenty. The warehouse at Mayview is filled with Parke products.

A large part of this canned goods is now Mayview Hospital property. It is still held by the Department of Supplies to be issued when the need arises.

No complaint is made by Dr. Hammers regarding the purchase of the Parke goods which he says are an excellent and uniform brand. He does tell a story of the struggles he has had at Mayview to see that other types of perishable foods come up to standard.

SPURNS "GOAT" ROLE

"No one who has not lived down here will know what I have gone through. I have done my best to see that the inmates receive good, substantial food. I do not intend to be made the goat in this affair."

Dr. Hammers says he has been compelled to send back because of poor quality, quantities of foodstuffs purchased through the Department of Supplies. He said it has been necessary to check carefully on count and weight of items to be sure the city is getting full value. This trouble does not apply to canned goods, he declared.

BRANDS NOT MENTIONED

The last big order of canned goods for Mayview was made July 11, 1929, Dr. Hammers declares. He showed a copy of requisition No. 4628 including detailed specifications for apples, apple butter, green beans, blackberries, prunes and other items which carried no mention of the Parke brand or any other.

Up until last fall Mayview used entirely from the 1929 order. A few small requisitions were filed in the last six months but Parke goods are not requested in them.

A trip through the warehouse at Mayview with J. A. Murphy, steward, and with the approval of Dr. Hammers, disclosed that a large percentage of the canned goods stored at Mayview is of Parke brand. A walk through the warehouse gives the casual observer the impression of strolling through a Parke display room.

DEPARTMENT'S PROPERTY

One large pile of goods in the center of the warroom is covered with a tarpaulin marked "Do not touch. Property of Department of Supplies." A hasty check of the quantity of goods in this lot placed it at 850 cases containing six No. 10 cans each.

There were 350 cases of Parke's early June peas, 200 cases of Parke's cut green beans and 300 cases of Parke's Hawaiian pineapple.

In the refrigerator there were two other large piles of Parke goods labeled as property of the Department of Supplies. Each of these two stacks of goods were of about equal size with the first.

PRAISES QUALITY

The quality of the Parke goods is uniformly fine, Dr. Hammers declared. The "blind" test referred to by Mr. Succop and Mayor Kline was actually made by the dieticians and officials at Mayview at the time the large order was being placed in 1929 and Parke goods selected. The Parke brand was not favored in his formal requisitions, however, Dr. Hammers said, referring again to the file.

Recent cases where the hospital was forced to send back goods to dealers involved for the most part perishable foods such as meats, butter and eggs. In these instances the dealer was asked to make good or the contract was canceled according to the Mayview steward.

ADMITS LOSS OF EGGS

Asked regarding the loss of a large quantity of eggs in the refrigeration plant through carrying them at too low a temperature, Dr. Hammers said a quantity of eggs were frozen due to the carelessness of an engineer. He declared:

"I had the man dismissed at once because of it."

Questioning brought out that the refrigeration plant itself had been endangered by this carelessness. Quick action by other persons at the plant prevented serious damage to the machinery, Dr. Hammers said.

Asked regarding the possibility of a successful bidder delivering to the Mayview warehouse less goods than the contract called for, Dr. Hammers replied that the condition exists and that the controller's office is at once notified of the exact amount of goods left so that the city is protected from overcharge.

GOODS INSPECTED

Inspectors from the city controller's office come to Mayview several times a week to inspect incoming goods, Dr. Hammers said. He said he believes it has frequently happened that the meats are inspected at the warerooms of the firms that furnish them.

On one occasion some time ago Dr. Hammers recalls that a shipment of meat was passed by a city inspector and its condition was such that the hospital could not accept it.

No milk with the exception of canned milk is purchased for Mayview, Dr. Hammers declared, because the institution has its own dairy. There has not been a pint of fresh milk bought for Mayview in five years, Dr. Hammers says.

HENNERY YIELDS EGGS

The last shipment of eggs received at Mayview was 15,000 dozen, which came July 12, 1930. The hennery at Mayview is taking care of a large part of the needs of the hospital, according to the steward.

Strict and detailed specifications are seen as the best remedy for difficulties in the buying of foods according to Dr. Hammers. He says he has been gathering information from the government and other cities which, if used, may make a big improvement.

Jury of Pinochle Players Picked in Bridge Killing

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—A jury including 10 married men, five of whom are fathers, was selected last night to try Mrs. Myrtle Bennett on the charge of murdering her husband, allegedly in a quarrel over a bridge game.

Bailiffs expressed belief the jury consisted of pitch and pinochle players. When the men called for cards to while away the time they engaged in pitch or pinochle games.

The intricacies of bridge are expected to play an important part in the trial testimony, which got under way today. Mrs. Bennett is alleged to have shot her husband in their apartment after he slapped her in front of another married couple when she called him a "bum bridge player."

The Bennetts were partners in the game and the husband, John G. Bennett, failed to make a good a bid of four spades. His wife had raised the bid two spades.

porting Mayor Kline defeated the motion.

Another motion by Anderson and Garland providing that, no matter how small the contract, the Bureau of Supplies advertise for bids, also was defeated, but Council did pass one authorizing Controller J. P. Kerr not to honor contracts over $500 without competitive bidding.

In refusing to vote immediately for an open hearing the majority in Council agreed to take up the matter next Tuesday, when three ill members—Muldowney, Little and English—are expected to attend.

MAYOR STILL SILENT

Mayor Kline has kept a strict silence since firing Succop for "inefficiency and lack of business methods."

Demanding passage of his motion to advertise for all contracts, Anderson argued:

"I know of one instance where there was a $4,000 contract let which was later recalled and divided into items of less than $500. I'm not interested in food alone. No director should be allowed to spend a cent. That's the thing we should stop. I don't think there is a councilman here who hasn't heard of this 'monkey business' at some time or another. Council should be able to enact legislation to put an end to it all. I'll try and do it, even though I'm alone."

SEEKS BUREAU REPORT

Garland then interjected:

"President Herron, when do we get the report of the Bureau of Governmental Research?"

Herron replied:

"Soon. We are trying to conduct our business in a mannerly way. We are not going to be abused by anyone who thinks he can run Council."

The "anyone" was inferred to be John D. Houston, president of the James W. Houston Company, who brought charges of food and canned goods contract favoritism that resulted in Succop's dismissal.

Senator Jam[es] [Reed], of Pennsylvania, who declared the newspaper charge was a "contemptible lie" if it applied anonymously to him, was to turn over to the committee all his records regarding purchases of stock in the Celotex Company, which manufactures a processed board from sugar cane. He bought the stock five years ago, he told the committee, and was prepared to show the checks sent the company, as well as copies of the correspondence leading to the purchases.

The committee was said to plan a thorough inquiry into the accounts of the Celotex Company, which has offices in Chicago. Investigators will be sent there, it was reported, to investigate every angle of the stock transaction. Davis said he welcomed the inquiry.

BENN DISCLAIMS POWER TRUST PROPAGANDA

Federal Trade Board's Probe Only 'Gesture' to Witness At Utilities Inquiry

By E. W. PRENDERGAST
Staff Correspondent.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 26.—Public Service Commissioner James S. Benn believes the Federal Trade Commission investigation several years ago was "propaganda."

Questioned by William A. Gray, Governor's counsel in the public utility investigation, concerning propaganda by the Power Trust of Pennsylvania in the schools, letters which he is supposed to have received from the trust and recommendations he was alleged to have made, Benn denied any participation in power trust propaganda.

DENIES KNOWLEDGE

Gray asked:

"Has the Public Service Commission nothing to do with school or educational matters and school books?"

Benn answered that he recalled only two instances, saying:

"Only when the school authorities ask us for information, which is not infrequent, or ask us to appear before some school."

He said he "did not remember" a letter which Gray read, as follows:

Dear Mr. Commissioner:

"In conformity with your desire expressed by P. E. Fickenscher, I am enclosing an outline of public relations and educational activities of the public service industry in Pennsylvania during the past 12 months. I expect to have similar data referring to steam railroads next week."

RECORD CITED

Benn, under cross-questioning insisted he couldn't remember, and Gray suggested to him that this was a record filed in the Senate in Washington by the chairman of the Federal Trade Commission.

Gray asked:

"Now, do you recall it?"

"No, I do not. I would not have thought much of it anyhow. That federal trade investigation thing was Hearst newspaper progaganda."

Later Benn admitted he saw a heading of such a thing in the United States Daily, Washington newspaper.

Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth and former public service commissioner, waived immunity and took the stand today.

Questioned regarding the transportation system in Philadelphia, he said that a chief engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad warned him when he was a commissoner that "the Pennsylvania railroad would absolutely not stand for independent buses."

BACKED DAIX

Following beamish, J. B. Anderson, general agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, said that "indirectly" he hoped he influenced the election of Senator A. E. Daix, Jr., as president pro tempore.

Monsignor J. J. Curran, of Wilkes-Barre, the next witness, said that he had been refused help from President Hoover and Gov. Fisher in the fight to force the Public Service Commission to protect the people against utilities, and added:

"The people of Pennsylvania are between the devil and the deep blue sea."

FIRST JOBLESS PUT TO WORK

placed to work, 188 in all, were 162 laborers, 10 timekeepers, nine timbermen, six carpenters and one blacksmith.

WILL INCREASE SCOPE

Maj. Matthews, commenting on the employment said:

"Within a week, when it is expected that the projects started today will be well under way, 644 men will have been removed from the list of local relief agencies and provided with gainful occupations. For these men the need of charity will cease; they will earn a respectable livelihood.

"From now on, the Pittsburgh plan will be accumulating work as the city, borough, township and county governments release additional funds for materials and tools for improvement projects."

It was pointed out that each $400 received by the association will provide 100 men with a day's work and will place $666.66 into circulation in the county. The $226.66 over the $400, officers of the association explained, is the money the local governments must spend for materials to match the provided labor, because the average municipal construction project cost is 60 per cent for labor and 40 per cent for material.

PROJECTS UNDER WAY

The projects started today include laying of water lines in La Belle street, at Virginia avenue; sewer in Sixteenth street, at Bigelow boulevard; McKinley Park sewer at Saw Mill Run boulevard; Park road sewer at Becks Run road; Thirty-sixth street sewer, at Smallman street; Gould avenue sewer, at Perrysville avenue; Cassina way sewer, at Rosedale and Susquehanna streets; Riverview Park sewer, at Grand avenue; Pocusset street paving, at Schenley Park, and the paving of the Negley avenue entrance to Highland Park.

Support of the Pittsburgh plan was given the association by Howard Heinz, president of the H. J. Heinz Company, in a message to A. E. Braun, chairman of the executive committee of the association. The letter stated:

"I am glad to join other employers in giving one day's payroll to the unemployment relief fund. I believe the Pittsburgh plan is the best method yet adopted for meeting this emergency."

The following additional contributors were named by the association.

Bendum-Trees Oil Company, J. N. Chester Engineers, Concrete Products Company, Cramer Printing and Publishing Company, P. Duff & Sons Company, Franklin Electric & Construction Company, Geyer Printing Company, Haller Baking Company, Holmes Electric Protective Company, Kincaid Brothers, Loring Oil Company, Penn State Laundry Company, H. H. Robertson Company and Robert C. Sproul & Sons.

GRIFFITH SIFTED

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—The district attorney's office today was investigating the filing of a $601,000 damage suit against David Wark Griffith, veteran motion picture director, by Fern Setril, 22-year-old actress.

Deputy District Attorney Blayney Matthews said:

"The inquiry so far is to determine whether complaints should be issued against certain parties for asserted unethical practices in connection with this action."

Miss Setril's original complaint, alleging the director lured her to an apartment with the promise she would be given the role of Ann Rutledge in "Abraham Lincoln," was amended yesterday to eliminate reference to the film. Griffith said in New York the picture was completed before June 25, 1930, the date of the alleged offense.

Miss Setril was divorced from Frank X. Setril last January 7, on grounds of cruelty. Setril had filed an answer charging his wife with unfaithfulness.

W. Easterday, who with others is on trial on a charge of using the mails to defraud in connection with a bucket shop scheme.

Before her marriage to Easterday, the woman was known on the stage as Laura Sanderson. A wholesale hardware dealer said he cashed the check, signed "Laura Morgan," April 27, 1928.

NAVAL PACT PUT BEFORE ITALY

British Hopeful That Accord With France Will Be Reached at Parley

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service

ROME, Feb. 26.—The final stage in their effort to enlarge the London naval treaty into a five-power affair was launched by British Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson and First Lord of the Admiralty A. V. Alexander here today.

The two British cabinet officers, who already have won from France an agreement that will make her entry into the pact possible, conferred for several hours this morning with Italian statesmen in an effort to obtain their approval of the Anglo-French compromise.

The conference was held at the Chigi palace. Henderson and Alexander, accompanied by R. L. Craigie, of the Foreign Office, left the conference room shortly before noon and were to visit Premier Mussolini before resuming the conversations at the palace.

Large concessions on the part of the two Latin powers will be necessary before a complete agreement can be formulated and adherence to the London pact arranged, but the speed with which an understanding was reached in Paris spurred hopes for similar accomplishments here. The Italian press continued to manifest the greatest reserve relative to the naval talks, indicating that the Mussolini government was patiently awaiting the British proposals before committing itself to any statements whatever.

SWOPE URGES JOB INSURANCE

Declaring that the peace of mind of the worker is the most serious problem before industry today, Gerard Swope, president of the General Electric Company, outlined five ways to bring this about at a noon membership meeting of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce.

They are:

"Insurance contributes to this peace of mind.

"Provide homes for workers.

"Provide savings.

"Establish old-age pensions.

"Establish unemployment insurance."

Mr. Swope described the efforts of the General Electric Company to meet these five requirements, through contributory insurance, aid in financing home purchases, company investments and cooperative unemployment insurance.

He said in regard to the unemployment insurance plan, in which the employes contribute 1 per cent of their earnings, that:

"Never before have we had such a splendid morale in our organization. Never before have we had such an aroused public conscience. With this awakening, it gives us great hope of developing a perfect plan for the future."

Mr. Swope will address the Western Engineering Society tonight in the William Penn Hotel.

Coolidge Lauds Federal Interest in Child Welfare

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Feb. 26.

To the Editor of the Sun-Telegraph:

The movement sponsored at Washington for enlarging public activity for child welfare holds a promise of much good. For many years some of the states have had charitable organizations for the prevention of cruelty to children which have maintained offices and agents that work in conjunction with public officials. They have been chiefly concerned with delinquencies and have not extended their activities broadly into the constructive field of general improvement of hygienic and educational conditions.

Calvin Coolidge

While there is no complete substitute for the right kind of parental influence and supervision, health and education are so much questions of public policy that both the government and organized social effort may well intervene to supplement the home in increasing the physical and mental powers of the young.

The unification and extension of the disconnected and sporadic effort already in existence for child welfare will have an elevating influence over the whole country. The door of opportunity will be opened wider, the race will be improved, the social order will be stabilized, and the foundation of citizenship will be strengthened. The progress of a nation requires its children to be well born, well nourished and well educated.

CALVIN COOLIDGE.

Confesses He Took Woman On 'Death Parade'

FATAL SHOT ACCIDENT, HE SAYS

Frazer Declares Shock of Killing Deranged Him; Wife Reveals Long Romance

International News Service.

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 26.—William M. Frazer today confessed that his pistol killed Mrs. Phoebe Stader and that he took her on a "death parade" from New Jersey to Virginia, according to authorities.

He told Prosecutor Abe David, who arrived here from New Jersey, that the killing occurred in that state.

Frazer claimed, however, that it was an accidental shooting. She was sitting in the tonneau of his car. His revolver also was there, and as he reached for it, the revolver exploded, he said.

Frazer sobbed:

"God knows I never meant to kill Phoebe. It was an accident, and I was just so shocked I was half crazy. I didn't know what I was doing."

Mrs. Stader's body was found last Sunday in a thicket off the Washington-Richmond road, near Bowling Green, Va.

MATE IDENTIFIES BODY

The body was identified at Bowling Green yesterday by Philip Stader, her husband.

According to Prosecutor Abe David, Mrs. Hilda Frazer, wife of the accused man, and his cousin, Ira Jensen, both of Rahway, Frazer told them last Wednesday he had killed Mrs. Stader.

Jensen claimed on Wednesday Frazer visited his home and showed him the body of Mrs. Stader propped up in his car. He said Frazer then drove to Raleigh. Last Saturday, Jensen said, he took $260 to Frazer in Raleigh. Jensen is held as a material witness.

SLAIN WOMAN ACCUSED

Mrs. Frazer insists Mrs. Stader "ruined" her husband, former New York cafe cashier.

She said:

"I forgave him time after time. I don't know whether I can stand by him through this."

She described Frazer as a loving, attentive and industrious husband until he inherited $25,000 from his father two years ago. He then quit work, she said, moved into a fine house and turned "playboy." Recently he went "broke" and got a job in a factory.

Mrs. Stader's husband also was out of money and out of work. She refused to live in the shabby rooms to which her husband wanted to take her after they had been evicted from an apartment in which they had lived two years. Stader took no part in the merriment and dancing in the apartment during those two years.

U. S. CHECKS ON GROUP HERE

Four Held for Court for Inciting to Riot; Fines Imposed on 11 Prisoners

Of 28 persons—four of them women—arrested in the unemployment demonstration at the Pennsylvania Railroad Station yesterday, only two are naturalized, it was brought out in Central Police Court today, where four were held for court. Twelve were fined and 13 discharged.

Names of the aliens were taken by Miss Emmelinne Pitt, special representative of the Department of Labor, who said she would turn over the list to Bureau of Immigration authorities.

The four held for court were charged with inciting to riot. They are: Robert Woods, 25, 2314 East street; Joe Mankin, 30, 153 Crawford street; Mike Burich, 32, and Edward Cook, 20, both giving their residence as the Improvement of the Poor Hotel. In addition to being held for court, Woods and Mankin were fined $100 each with the option of 30 days in the workhouse. The fines were based on charges of violating a city ordinance in participating in a demonstration without a city permit. Woods and Mankin are the only naturalized citizens.

WOMAN FREED

One of the four women was discharged. She is Joan Summers, 21, of Arch street. Phonecia Hill, 42, Negress, of 1601 Wylie avenue, was fined $10; Nell Amter, 21, of 3127 Ward street, described by police as an "agitator" and leader in the Communist movement, was fined $25, and Pauline Jaurich, 15, of Wilkinsburg, was turned over to Juvenile Court at a separate hearing in Morals Court.

Magistrate Rothenberg heard the cases against the others in Central Station. He fined five $25 each; five $10 and one $100. Fred Kearns, an alleged organizer of the Communistic movement, was fined $100.

None of the fines was paid.

Testimony at the hearing revealed the police as having been beaten and slugged instead of the demonstrators, as is usually the case.

Lieut. Detective Edward Harkins was knocked over a fireplug, according to the testimony, when he sought to pull Woods from a box upon which he was attempting to make a speech. Mankin, it was brought out, slugged Harkins, and Borich attacked Precinct Detectives Jack Dillon and Matt McGraw when they attempted to break up the demonstration. Two other unnamed detectives also were attacked, according to the testimony.

STUDENT OBSERVES

A Pitt student, Kenford Joseph, 22, of 640 Maryland road, was discharged when he told of having been assigned to the demonstration by his professor of economics. He said he was told to get material for a thesis. He said:

"It was very interesting and good experience. I'm going to write a 'knockout' of a thesis."

Magistrate Rothenberg replied:

"Very well, I'll let you go this time, but keep away from these affairs, they only lead to trouble."

Attorney Jacob Margolis, representing all of the defendants, said he would appeal the fines.

The meeting scheduled to take place last night at Ninth and Merchant streets, Ambridge, was broken up when an unidentified person tossed a tear-gas bomb into the crowd of 300 which had gathered there.

GIRL SPEAKS

Edith Briscoe, 20, who previously had been arrested this month for passing Communistic literature to Harmony school children, was one of the speakers. Louis Horvatin, chairman of the "Council of Unemployed of Ambridge," also participated in the meeting.

Ambridge police claim to know nothing of the tear bomb, which was said to have been thrown from a large red touring car.

Permits had been issued for a parade and no arrests were made.

Both demonstrations were a part of a nation-wide affair termed "International Unemployment Day."

TEACHERS BOO DRY FOE

DETROIT, Feb. 26.—(INS.)—Amid loud cheering, which turned to equally lusty jeering when a lone New Jersey delegate voiced the threat of opposition, the superintendents' division of the National Education Association today indorsed the prohibition law by an overwhelming vote at its sixty-first annual convention here.

The resolution passed by the assembled delegates read:

"We affirm our belief in the Eighteenth Amendment as the most effective means to curtail the distribution and use of alcohol. We call upon the teachers of the nation to cultivate both in their own attitude and in their teaching a respect for this law."

Thus did the educators dispose of the issue which threatened to engulf the convention, which has brought 15,000 teachers and school officials to Detroit.

Before the resolutions committee late yesterday, a measure calling upon the educators to take a stand for repeal of the prohibition law was voted down. It had been introduced by Dr. Daniel Kealey, superintendent of schools at Hoboken, N. J. Dr. Kealey was booed and jeered today.

GAMBLING LUCK QUITS WALES

VINA DEL MAR, Chile, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Lady Luck, who chaperoned the Prince of Wales before dawn yesterday at the new casino baccarat tables, was not so lavish in her favors after sundown and his royal highness quit only 420 pesos—about $50—to the good.

The Prince banked the game himself, beginning play with about 10,000 Chilean pesos, but had little luck either as banker or player, and finally after several hours play gave up his place to Viscount Ednam.

Members of the royal party today said that in Wednesday daybreak play the Prince won 27,000 pesos—about $3,375. He did not begin play until about 4 o'clock.

BLOCK CANCELS BID FOR WORLD

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Paul Block, publisher, announced today he had withdrawn his offer to purchase the New York World newspapers.

He made his announcement through Max D. Steur, his attorney, who explained that Mr. Block not only had decided not to purchase the newspapers for himself, but also to withdraw the offer he made to buy them and allow the employes of the Worlds 45 days within which to purchase them without profit to himself. Steuer said Mr. Block had decided to withdraw after he had learned last night of a contract concluded between the Pulitzer trustees and Roy W. Howard, of the Scripps-Howard newspapers.

Surrogate James A. Foley will decide today whether the will of Joseph Pulitzer may be broken to allow sale of the newspapers. The withdrawal of Mr. Block means that the employes who have made a bid for the Worlds must arrange their financing without his assistance.

MELBA BURIED BESIDE FATHER

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—The body of Dame Nellie Melba was laid to rest today by the side of that of her father in the cemetery of the little village of Lilydale, near the home she loved.

The usually busy streets of Melbourne were hushed and lined with sorrowing crowds when the casket was taken on a farm cart from the Presbyterian Church, where thousands had filed past the bier, paying their last respects to the famous singer.

The church, where the diva as a girl sang in the choir, was filled to overflowing for the funeral service which was attended by representatives of federal and state governments and of the world of music and art.

Dame Melba died Monday evening after a strange lingering illness, designated in a posthumous diagnosis as paratyphoid.

Phila. Police Head Raids Bar in His Own Club

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—The Manufacturer's Club, one of Philadelphia's most exclusive institutions, was raided early today by a special police detail personally directed by Maj. Lemuel B. Schofield, director of Public Safety, a member of the club.

Armed with a warrant issued by Magistrate Edward P. Carney, the raiding party entered the club shortly before 2 o'clock. In a suite of rooms on an upper floor, Director Schofield said he found a regular old-fashioned bar and about 100 lockers, many of which contained liquor.

From the lockers and bar the raiders said they removed between 500 and 800 quarts of liquors, including cordials, champagnes, rye, Scotch and gin. The manager of the club, August Bolli, was arretsed on a charge of possession.

Immediately after the raid Director Schofield tendered his resignation as a member of the club and issued the following statement:

"The only way to enforce the prohibition law is to arrest the big fellow along with the little fellows. To the police, Broad and Walnut streets (the club central city location) looks the same as any little speakeasy up an alley."

Clara Bow Back at Work, Toomey New Leading Man

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Clara Bow, fully recovered from the trial which sent her one-time secretary and "best friend" Daisy De Voe, to jail for 18 months, was back on her movie job today—and with a brand new leading man.

Her new lead is Regis Toomey, former Pittsburgher, who two years ago made his film bow in a gangster talkie "Alibi," and has made bows to Bow in other pictures since.

Toomey has supported the tumultuous Clara in several films but found himself in the role of her romantic lead for the first time today in the picture "Kick In" from Willard Mack's play.

The last time Clara faced a camera was in Superior Court in Los Angeles where she laughed, cried, stamped her feet and pointed a chubby finger while persuading a jury that Miss De Voe, her former confidante, was guilty of grand theft.

Daisy went to the county jail and Clara cried because of it, but it was all forgotten when some one hollered "camera" on the lot today.

'DOPE' CRUSADE APPEARS NEAR VICTORY

Long Fight to Curb Drug Evil Bearing Fruit; Conference In London Raises Hope

By WINIFRED BLACK

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Inch by inch—foot by foot—mile by mile, the long hard fight against "dope" is beginning to win.

For years America has been the world's dumping ground for dope.

We've been lax and broken them.

We've been apathetic and ignored them.

We've laughed at a fatuous smile to smuggle drugs from all kinds of places.

But finally we've faced the truth about our slavery in this and every other civilized country on the face of the globe.

And when we've really faced the truth we've found the subterfuge and the excuses and the excuses breath-taking.

GREAT BATTLES WON

In the last eight months two great battles have been won in America's fight against the drug ring.

The narcotic control conference set for May in London is set with the frankly-avowed intention of discussing openly and honestly a plan to limit not only the control of narcotic drugs but to limit very definitely indeed the production of them.

To that conference are coming delegates from India, Persia, Japan, China, Great Britain, France, Italy, Belgium, Switzerland, Germany and perhaps South and Central America.

These delegates have promised to discuss with open minds the ways and means of limiting the entire production of narcotic drugs, to the amount actually needed in actual medical practice.

That's a long step—just the promise to consider this plan and discuss it openly.

ANSLINGER ACTIVE

In our own country we have done some wonderful things in that last eight months.

We have taken the control of narcotics away from the Prohibition Department and given the narcotic commissioner an office and a position of his own so he can stand on his own feet and carry out the law on his own responsibility without calling any other department into any sort of consideration whatsoever.

Commissioner Anslinger, the man at the head of the Narcotic Bureau today, appears to know his business and there doesn't seem to be the slightest doubt that Mr. Anslinger spends most of his time and his energy and his trained intelligence in attending strictly to that business.

A million dollars worth of opium started for the United States was caught in China not so long ago.

Two million dollars worth of dope already landed and ready to flood the country with a hideous disease that is worse than death—was seized on the docks in New York City a few weeks ago.

FIGHT FOR CHILDREN

In San Francisco Mr. Anslinger's local force picked up over a quarter million dollars worth of dope floating in San Francisco Bay.

The new bureau is on the job.

But there are a good many things to be done before we can feel that the danger from the most hideous menace of the times is over.

Plain, simple, honest, open-dealing things.

Let's talk them over together, you and I and the neighbors.

Let's protect our children and our children's children from this evil of narcotic slavery, as we would protect them against a band of hungry bears let loose in the middle of the yards of a kindergarten.

If our children are worth protecting—why not on the name of common sense and common decency—and common honesty, go to work and protect them.

Engineers Honor Aviation Pioneers

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(INS.)—Three outstanding figures in aviation, Glen H. Curtiss, Chance M. Vought and Daniel Guggenheim, who died last year, were honored last night in a commemorative meeting of engineering and aeronautical societies.

North Side Plant Damaged by Fire

Damage estimated at $2,000 resulted from fire when a dry cleaning washer in the plant of the Howard Cleaning Company, 1228 Reedsdale street, North Side, exploded shortly before midnight.

Today

great metal pots, handled in 500 pound buckets intensely hot, and six men do all the work. That would surprise the old Cretans that hammered their copper for water pipes out of the ore by hand.

BAD NEWS for the Texaco Oil Company supplying oil to Cananea. A 12-inch pipe 350 miles long is on its way from Texas, bringing natural gas to take the place of fuel oil. It will supply the great smelters at Douglas, Ariz., and then reduced in size to eight inches, will supply Bisbee, Ariz., and cross the border to feed Cananea's smelters.

BAD NEWS for Paul Shoup, of the Southern Pacific Railroad, also, for he will no longer carry "free" oil. The gas carries itself by natural expansion and the Interstate Commerce Commission can protect a railroad against that.

However, the Rio Grande Valley, in Texas, will soon more than make up for the Southern Pacific loss caused by Texas natural gas. The El Paso Natural Gas Company says it has a gas supply for 100 years. Mr. Weed's separate investigation assures him that the supply is safe for 50 years at least. It takes an active mind to keep up with United States industrial methods.

IF YOU want exercise, climb in and out of the stopes and walk through a few miles of underground tunnels in a big copper mine for two or three hours. And to know what real work is, see the miners, "contractors," on their own hook, paid per ton on ore brought out, digging and blasting.

An ordinary strong man could not sustain for 15 minutes the effort made by these men, hour after hour. Their labor is the best paid of any in Mexico, and they are happy with work that would seem torture to the soft, average men. Of one thousand men now in the mine, 900 are Mexicans, and they do all the hardest work, unless you call thinking hard work.

MEXICANS ALSO are trained, as rapidly as possible, for the "white collar jobs," Mr. Weed says.

"I should not like to see in America a plant with all the best jobs going to Mexicans, and I do not want to run in Mexico a plant with the best jobs going to Americans, if I can help it."

WHAT IS the real value of such a mine as Cananea? No man can know. It controls mountains spread over 400,000 acres, many of them are rich in copper. One of them, that even to the untrained eye is highly mineralized, is soon to have a drill sent down through the top of its head.

In that one spot future wealth runs into billions. And American enterprise is useful to our Mexican neighbors. Cananea pays to the Mexican government $1,000,000 a year, gold.

AGAIN, YOU are advised to come and explore this Western country, on both sides of the border. Better fish are in the sea than ever were caught. Better mines are in the earth than have ever been developed. And, under Mexican law, if you discover and claim a mine it is yours, no matter who "owns" the land. The owner has the surface, not what is below, unless he develops it.

Maine Survivor Loses Pension Claim

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—One of the 15 survivors of the battleship Maine disaster has failed to qualify for a Spanish War pension. A bill to confer a pension on 74-year-old John Beffron, of Brooklyn, passed by the Senate, was blocked in the House last night when it was shown Beffron served only 53 days. Ninety days war service are required by law for pension rights.

Widow of Baronet Fights Prison Term

VERSAILLES, France, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Lady Owen, French-born widow of a British baronet, today appealed from a five-year sentence and conviction of attempted manslaughter handed down here Tuesday in a Paris court.

She was convicted of having gravely wounded the wife of Dr. Gastaud, who, she said, had promised to secure a divorce and marry her.

Trapped Pair Fined On Wife's Charge

Harry Mucyk, 38, 1010 Madison avenue, was fined $50 or 30 days in jail, and Mrs. Martha Fisher, 32, 1625 Sedgewick street, was fined $25 or 30 days in jail by Magistrate Thomas D. Jones in Morals Court today when Mucyk's wife, Mrs. Cora Mucyk, 36, testified she found them together in a down-town hotel last night. They were arrested in the hotel on suspicious person charges on complaint of Mrs. Mucyk.

$150 a Week Once Dream To Lloyd, Bebe Says

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 26.—(Universal.)—Bebe Daniels once told Harold Lloyd that some day he would make $150 a week. Harold never thought he would live to see the day. He believed that Mary Pickford might earn that much, but no one would be crazy enough to pay such a staggering salary to a comedian.

Radio listeners throughout the nation, tuned in on the Sunkist broadcast yesterday, chuckled frequently at the reminiscences of the old, golden days of motion pictures from Miss Daniels and Louella Parsons, motion picture editor of the Hearst newspapers and Universal Service. This was the second of a series of broadcasted interviews by Miss Parsons with famous women screen stars. Last week Mary Pickford was heard on the air. Miss Parsons said:

"You were right again, Bebe, about Harold earning so much money."

Miss Daniels replied:

"I certainly thought so when he showed me through his million-dollar estate last week."

Miss Daniels revealed that she began doing stunt pictures when she was Harold Lloyd's leading lady. If a girl couldn't do the stunts required she didn't get the job. Doubles were unknown. In those days she was getting $30 a week, and Harold earned $50. They both thought they were overpaid.

According to an announcement from Miss Parsons, an interview with Constance Bennett will be broadcast next Wednesday.

This new and modern method of interviewing was sent out over the Columbia Broadcasting System.

AND they COST SO LITTLE! More than ordinary eggs, to be sure—and they're WORTH MORE! The quality is remembered long after the price is forgotten.

WHY buy ordinary eggs? Most ordinary eggs come from hens obliged to pick up their living in the barnyard, they drink stagnant barnyard water; no one pays much attention to them except to gather the eggs. That's why such eggs fall into the lower grades.

DONAHOE'S FIFTH AVENUE EGGS are laid by healthy, snow-white hens, living out-of-doors in the sunlight and eating clean grain and green vegetables and drinking pure, fresh, running water. Isn't it worth a fraction of a cent per egg more to have YOUR family eat DONAHOE'S FIFTH AVENUE EGGS?

VOTE MACHINE BIDS READY

County Commissioners expect to open bids tomorrow on voting machines, to be used throughout Allegheny County for the first time at the primary election next fall.

Some time ago the commissioners awarded a contract to the Poole Engineering Company, makers of the American Voting Machine, for about 1,000 machines costing approximately $1,000,000.

Under the terms of the contract the machines were to be delivered before the next primary election.

A taxpayer's suit was entered in the local courts seeking to cancel the contract on legal phases of the specifications. The court sustained the contract award but was later overruled by the State Supreme Court, which voided the contract.

'HYMIE' RENEWS LIBERTY FIGHT

A writ of habeas corpus seeking to have "Pittsburgh Hymie" Martin returned here from Cleveland, where he is held in connection with the murder of former Councilman William Potter, will be filed in Cleveland, Attorney S. S. Rosenberg said today.

This move is planned as the result of Rosenberg's failure to obtain an order yesterday in Common Pleas Court, directing District Attorney Andrew T. Park to seek the return of Martin by a habeas corpus action in the United States Court at Cleveland.

Martin was hustled from Common Pleas Court after a hearing February 18 on a writ of habeas corpus when Judge Stadtfeld ordered him turned over to Cleveland authorities. The order transferring custody had not been signed.

MANNS TO QUIT DORMONT POST

Borough Secretary Frank Manns of Dormont, will quit his post late this week, Dormont Borough Council having accepted his resignation, effective March 1, at a special meeting last night.

Councilmen E. E. Llewellyn and Daniel Dougherty opposed acceptance of the resignation, demanding an explanation why Manns was being ousted on such short notice, but they were overruled by a 5 to 2 vote.

Councilmen were notified about the special meeting by handbills sent out by Chester Winters, president of Council, it was said.

WALSH TO WAR ON DIRTY TAGS

In a letter to his police inspectors today, Police Supt. Peter P. Walsh announced he would launch a campaign beginning March 1 against dirty and mutilated license tags.

The arrest of drivers not having their 1931 driver's license on that date was also ordered by Walsh.

Walsh declared many hit-and-run drivers escape punishment owing to the inability of witnesses to read mud-splashed tags.

Those arrested, the letter specified, were to be charged with violating the state automobile laws.

Gas Prospectors Stampede Tioga County

WELLSBORO, Pa., Feb. 26.—(INS.)—Tioga and Bradford counties today took on the mildly reminiscent aspect of an old-fashioned western "gold rush."

Lease hunters and gas prospectors swarmed over the countryside as experts strove to harness the unleashed Meeker natural gas gusher, since last Friday sending up a 90,000,000-cubic-foot flow per day to represent a loss of nearly $100,000 every 24 hours.

Meanwhile, a score of workers rushed here from Wooster, O., and Oklahoma battled to control the Meeker well.

AMMONIA LEAK ROUTS POLICE

Offices on the Water street side of Central Police Station were filled with ammonia fumes early today when a tank in the basement began to leak.

William Murphy, engineer, discovered the leak, but was unable to reach it, and sent a still alarm to the fire bureau. A squad wagon was sent to the station and firemen and Murphy, with gas masks, repaired the tank.

Prisoners were not affected as the fumes did not reach their section of the building.

WOMAN, 4 MEN HELD BY DRYS

A man and a woman were arrested when prohibition agents raided a dwelling on the Monroeville road, Turtle Creek, and seized a half-gallon of wine and 16 pints of home brew. Those arrested, according to the agents, were Margaret Mason, 26, and Frank DeMuzio, 31.

Herbert Peterson, 38, was released on his own recognizance, agents reported, after the seizure of 192 pints of whisky and six quarts of gin in a building at 606 Summit street, McKeesport.

A saloon at 144 Pius street yielded the raiders large quantities of home brew and moonshine, they said. John Schultz, 54, and Leo Wuenstel, 50, were reported arrested.

Alma Rubens, Woke 'Blue,' Held Four-Day Dope Party

Despondent on Reading of Fellow Film Stars Victims of Drugs

By ALMA RUBENS.

CHAPTER XXIV.

One day just after Christmas in 1928 I woke up pretty blue.

I felt as if I were at the bottom of a deep well with no one to bear me company but snakes and toads.

I fidgeted around the apartment and happened to pick up Sunday paper with an article in it about dope.

This article mentioned many of my dearest friends, Wally Reid, Olive Thomas and poor Julia Bruns who was found dead in a New York tenement on Christmas eve.

I knew Julia when she was considered the most beautiful girl in America and I visited her in her gorgeous palace on Sutton Place New York.

Alma Rubens

"Gone," I muttered over and over, "all gone, well I'll be going soon, too."

Then I suddenly decided that I'd have one more good, big sleigh ride before I went anyhow. I telephoned three girls I knew. I met them through the maid who sold them dope, too.

I told them to come up to the apartment to a party. I called up a caterer and ordered food. I called up a bootlegger and ordered gin.

Up to that time I had never acquired the habit of drinking, but I had heard that all addicts liked it.

"I'm on the road anyhow," I said to myself. "I'll go all the way now."

By this time I talked to myself every time I was alone. When I was able to talk at all.

At 8 o'clock the girls arrived.

Passed 'Snow'

I passed around the snow and we all went on a sleigh ride together. We turned on the phonograph, we danced and told stories and played all kinds of pranks. Life wasn't life at all anymore, it was just a gay, gorgeous, light-hearted, light-footed dream. Everybody at the party was good, everybody was kind, everybody was clever. We all laughed all the time—at nothing. Then we began on the gin.

And that made us all ill.

But a little while later we started on the "coke" again—we quarreled—we fought, we kissed and made up, we laughed at the top of our voices about nothing, we cried bitterly, and called upon the pitiful God to witness that our hearts were broken and our souls were forever lost.

And then somebody started the coke around once more, and it all began again, the wild, crazy, degraded, shameless dream of wild, crazy, shameless, degraded addicts.

Party Raided

This nightmare of a party kept up for four days and four nights, they say, but none of us knew the difference between day and night. Finally some one complained of the noise and on the evening of the fifth day, the police came.

They let the others go, but took me to the station house and lodged a complaint against me.

I got out of the scrape somehow, and my poor mother came and took me home.

I didn't want to go, but I had no money, and not a friend left in the world but my mother, so I went and pretended that I was trying to reform.

I didn't want to reform at all, I didn't want my mother, I didn't want home, I didn't want comfort and plenty and decency—I wanted dope.

I kept in touch with the maid and day after day I gave her my best clothes, till I had nothing left except what was on my back.

Then the maid was arrested. The narcotic agents questioned me about her, but I would tell them nothing. They cross-examined several others, who had been getting their "snow" from her, but the others wouldn't tell either. So the maid was free again.

Now I'll be all right, I thought, for in my distorted brain, I had begun to look upon her as my one and only friend.

But the scare was too much for the poor, ignorant woman. She turned into a wild woman, and said she was "through forever" with dope and dope peddling. And there I was like a shipwrecked sailor alone and forsake in my agony.

I went back to my first doctor—he had been scared, too, and he wouldn't even talk to me—then I went to another doctor; he was very cold at first. He'd heard about my arrest, and I think he thought I had no money.

You should have heard his virtuous conversation.

I showed him a fifty-dollar bill, which I had managed to get, and he warmed up at once. I left him with a good supply of cocaine. When that was gone I raised another fifty dollars, and got some more dope.

But the third time, things were different. I walked into the office of my friend, the "Reputable Doctor," asked for my customary allotment, got it and started to walk out.

The doctor seized me by the shoulders as I was passing through the door.

Had No Money

"Hold on a minute, dearie," he said. "haven't you forgotten something?"

I tried to break away, but the good doctor held me firmly. "I'll see you tomorrow," said I. "I forgot to bring the money with me."

"Is that so," snarled the doctor, "you give me back that package."

I knew there was not the slightest chance for me to raise $50 by the next day—me who had been used to cashing a check for $3,000 every week of my life.

Me, that had tossed $100 bills around as if they were so many pieces of crumpled paper.

But I had to have the cocaine. I had to have it or go crazy. I begged and cried, and almost prayed. He laughed.

He struck me with his fists and I fell, and pretended to be unconscious.

The doctor took some long strips of gauze from a medicine closet only a few feet away, and tied me to the legs of an X-ray cabinet.

"Let me go," I begged, "have pity on me, doctor. Let me go."

He struck me another heavy blow.

And just at that minute, a most amazing thing happened.

What happened to Alma Rubens, prisoner, bound, in the doctor's office? Read tomorrow's thrilling installment.

WALTER WINCHELL
On Broadway

(Copyright, 1931, by Daily Mirror, Inc.)

Portrait of a Man Talking to Himself

Russell Ryder, whose Santa Claus "front" made him popular on Broadway for a spell until the law pounced on him, is suffering a greater punishment than the jail house can offer . . . The mother he neglected for pretty show girls (to whom he gave $1,000 bills) is in want . . . Fellows who won and lost their coin following Ryder's Wall Street magic feel sorry for his destitute parent, anyhow—and they are trying to collect enough coin to keep her in groceries during her son's stretch in the pen . . . But they are having a difficult time of it getting the money, considering that nearly everybody is strapped . . . Ryder never dreamed he would be caught so soon; . . . Or he would have prepared for his mother's comfort . . . His extravagantly appointed Park avenue apartment with its gold door knobs and other elegant hangings now is in the paws of the receivers who are hoping to return 60 cents on the dollar to Ryder's victims . . . But his aging mother? . . . What of her? . . . This would be a better world indeed if half the sons who send telegrams and poses to their maters on Mother's Day would kick in with a five-spot now and then.

That timid reader in town who is playing the Broadway belt poses as an East Indian of British parents, whereas, in reality, he was born in the South New Orleans, to be exact, and he owns a filling station in Houston, Tex. . . . But leave it to the Great White Way to be Barnum'd and like it . . . He has had countless columns of publicity all over the land, all lauding his alleged genius in mysticism, occultism, phrenology, etc. . . . He has been banqueted by Kiwanis, Rotary and Chamber of Commerce—all of them helpless him to bunco the citizens . . . And these outward manifestations of a supernatural being have caused him to think magnificently of himself . . . He has been spoiled by press agents, neglected wives, widows, flappers and old maids . . . Never asking questions, he answers yours on marriage, birth, divorce, heritage, stolen articles, anonymous letters, stock tips, and he runs through the gamut of trials, tribulations and human endeavor, answering with an aplomb that is strangely satisfying . . . He calls himself the only man in the world who can tell you what you are thinking of without you first writing it down . . . But he cannot tell you what you are thinking without you first telling it to his assistants in the audience.

One nice response from a reader is always better than 10 complaints . . . But as a rule the person you praise never tells you he saw it . . . You can depend on him to write you if it is a black ball . . . Fred Fisher, for instance . . . Fisher was a topnotcher on Tin Pan Alley at one time . . . He wrote many natural song hits and still does, for that matter . . . "Uncle Tom's Cabin Is a Road House Now," "What's the Good of Good Morning When There's No One to Kiss Good Night?" and "Don't Bring Home the Bacon I Like Salami" are some of his latest . . . In response to a gag printed here at his expense recently, he pens:

"I thank you from the bottom of my heart for mentioning me and keeping me alive on Broadway, where I'd rather be a has-been, or a once-was, than a never-was."

The newspaper map is changing again in New York . . . Two of the leading rags have new owners, which means grief for so many workers . . . Reputations are wasted for some of the staff—others are made brilliant . . . I can see the theatrical and sports press agents hastening to scrap the names of deposed dramatic critics and sports oracles from their lists, and replacing them with names of newcomers, or lads who wondered when the "breaks" would come . . . Walter J. Kingsley had the right idea . . . He always preached: "Never belittle the little fellow—you never can tell. That obscure chap running errands may be somebody's editor tomorrow" . . . Kingsley was a great press agent, and because of his patience with the "obscure"—he landed more free space in the newspapers . . . During his brilliant career on Broadway he watched dozens of nobodies become somebodies . . . These "20 Songs For A Nickel" racketeers on Broadway have found a way to keep within the law, after all . . . Their pink, green or red colored sheets carry a headline reading "Latest Songs" . . . Then follow the titles of current hits . . . But the songs printed are not the lyrics of the songs advertised—they are parodies . . . In the tiniest type, so it will escape the sucker's eye, is this so-called warning. (Comic Verses)

What is Shakespeare's and what is not, is best determined by reading, not by acting; his best is beyond acting, as John G. Wight would say . . . It is a remark of Coleridge that Schiller, to produce effect, sets you a whole town on fire, and throws infants with their mothers into the flames, or locks up an old father in a tower . . . The mathematical Buxton once went to hear Garrick play . . . When asked what he thought of Garrick's performance, he replied, "I only saw a little man strut about the stage and repeat 5,956 words" . . . What author besides Shakespeare could write 38 plays without repeating any of his characters? . . . And Seneca observed that a prayer may represent fear, sadness, anger and the like, but can never come to express a blush . . . What a devastating crack that was at Kean . . . His severest critic pronounced his acting—"Like reading Shakespeare by flashes of lightning!"

The girls in New York are prettier . . . I mean prettier than ever (one must be careful not to offend the pretty things in those cities where one's stuff is syndicated) . . . On Broadway, however, at least half the contagious-lookers are lassies from (fill in your home town here)— who come to Broadway to fade . . . Pity the Grecian athletes; they were forbidden to look at beauties . . . Cowley, however, compared a beautiful woman to a porcupine—that sends an arrow from every part . . . Experts say that a brunette beauty lasts . . . Who was it that chirped that one hair of a woman can draw more than a hundred pairs of oxen? . . . And one who adored them said that a woman's biography ought never to be written—as beautiful a line as ever I heard . . . But there I go chinning about women, again.

"You've been talking about women for the past hour," sarcastically said a fellow to a woman-mad man the other night—to which the woman-mad lad indifferently replied: "So I have. And so I will—until a more interesting subject comes up."

I do wish they'd give Fatty Arbuckle a break . . . Under an assumed name he is an able Hollywood director now . . . The newspapers were kind to him after his West Coast trouble, and the New Yorkers were affectionate in their receptions . . . But the woman's clubs and other civic organizations in the provinces still are very Judge Jean Norris-ish in their attitude . . . They refuse to give him another chance. Fatty must get by in a small way with a "mask" on . . . They say he hasn't smiled in years, or laughed . . . In casting his pictures he gives the old-timers a chance to make a few dollars . . . Fatty never was a bad sort, but the blue noses, after 10 years, refuse to be merciful . . . His old friends though, understand, and they are trying to help him make a living . . . Old friends, as somebody probably has written, are people who help those whom God has forgotten.

Only 1,350,000 of the 1931 cards had been mailed at noon yesterday, according to the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, as compared with 1,954,221 for 1930.

J. L. Roth, touring bureau manager of the motor club, explained that many of those who failed to secure 1931 licenses probably neglected to inform the Bureau of Motor Vehicles of changes of address and have not received application blanks.

A Clear Skin comes from Within

....before this

I was discouraged and uncertain about the future. I wanted strength and pep. I longed to have that skin glow which compels admiration. I took S.S.S. Now my skin is clear and I am well and strong, too.

TIME is precious when your health is slipping away from you!

Failure to take notice of Nature's distress signals inevitably leads to more serious trouble. Pimples, boils, that tired feeling, loss of appetite, loss of weight, paleness and perhaps nervousness, are but symptoms due to diminishing red-blood-cells.

S.S.S. should be your safeguard. Millions of people have found this the easiest and surest way to keep themselves "fit." S.S.S. will help Nature build up and enrich your blood. Your skin will clear up. Your whole body will be strengthened, invigorated!

If your vitality and clear skin are slipping away from you try S.S.S. Its successful record of over 100 years in building red-cells in the blood is a guarantee of satisfaction. Get the large size bottle. At all drug stores.

JEWS CONTINUE FUND DRIVE

The $450,000 campaign of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies is to be continued for 10 days, it was decided by leaders of the campaign at the fourth workers' report luncheon yesterday in Hotel William Penn.

Reporting $87,685 as collected during the last two days the 600 volunteer workers have reached the total of $320,406, nearly $130,000 short of the goal.

The funds collected are to be used for welfare work by the 17 social organizations comprising the federation.

Rabbis of 18 Jewish congregations today will be asked to present again the appeal of the thousands who are dependent upon the federation, so that the last possible gifts be obtained in time for a report meeting Monday.

HOOVER VETOES BONUS LOAN MEASURE

we must need impose further taxation."

The sole reason assigned for this bill, the President said, is that a great number of veterans are hard-hit by the business depression, unemployed and in need of funds. But he declared the number of veterans in need of relief is relatively small, "a minor percentage of the whole," and the needy veterans are receiving aid "from devoted committees" set up in many communities to take care of drought and business depression sufferers.

"WON'T PROFIT"

The veterans themselves will not profit to the extent generally believed, he said, pointing out that the popular assumption that each veteran would be able to borrow approximately $500 is in error. He continued:

"More than one-half will receive less than this amount. In fact, over 800,000 men will be able to borrow less than $200, and of these over 200,000 will be able to borrow only an average of $75."

There are probably another 100,000, he observed, who won't be able to borrow anything at all until two years have elapsed.

But significant as this is concerning the benefits to accrue the veterans, he said, "the breach of fundamental principle in this proposal is the requirement of the federal government to provide an enormous sum of money to a vast majority who are able to take care of themselves and who are caring for themselves."

Already, he pointed out, 387,000 veterans and 400,000 of their dependants are receiving governmental aid under existing law. To these it is now proposed, he said, to add benefits for "scores of thousands of others who are in the income tax paying class, for scores of thousands who are holding secure position with federal, state and local governments in every profession and industry.

"MANY" OPPOSE PLAN

The President said he knew that "many of these" did not want this legislation, and that many veterans had told him so.

The country has been generous with the veterans, the President said, emphasizing the enormous expenditures for hospitalization, vocational training, war risk insurance and adjusted compensation. The veterans are now costing the government about $600,000,000 a year, he said, which will shortly increase to $800,000,000 a year. He said:

"Our country has thus shown its sense of obligation and generosity.

"I have the utmost confidence that our service men would be among the first to oppose a policy of government assistance to veterans who have property and means to support themselves, for service men are as devoted to the welfare of our country in peace as in war and as clearly foresee the future dangers of embarking on such a policy."

SEES NO BENEFIT

Mr. Hoover then struck hard at the theory that the distribution of this large sum of money throughout the country would aid general business. He went on:

"It is argued that the distribution of the hundreds of millions of dollars proposed by this bill would stimulate business generally. We can not further the restoration of prosperity by borrowing from some of our people, pledging the credit of all of the people, to loan to some of our people who are not in need of the money. If the exercise of these rights were limited to expenditure upon necessities only, there would be no stimulation to business. The theory of stimulation is based upon the anticipation of wasteful expenditure. It can be of no assistance in the return of real prosperity. If this argument of proponents is correct, we should make government loans to the whole people."

Outstanding Points In Hoover Veto Message

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Here are some pithy extracts from President Hoover's message vetoing the veterans' loan bill:

"There is not a penny in the Treasury to meet such a demand. The government must borrow or impose further taxation."

"Inquiry indicates the number of veterans in need of relief is a minor percentage of the whole."

"The breach of fundamental principle in this proposal is the requirement of the federal government to provide an enormous sum of money to a vast majority who are able to care for themselves and who are caring for themselves."

"I have many manifestations from veterans on whom the times are bearing hardly that they do not want to be represented to our people as a group substituting special privilege for the idealism and patriotism they have rejoiced in offering to their country through their service."

"Veterans in need are and should be a preferred class that a grateful country would be proud to honor with its support."

Baby in House—Cough Not Wanted

Mother Makes Wise Move

"My baby is two years old. You can imagine how scared I was when I caught a bad cough. All I could think of was, 'If only baby doesn't catch it'. I took some Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup because I had used the Drops when I was a little girl. The Syrup is as good as the Drops—it relieved me of my cough and stopped my cold in a couple of days. Baby didn't catch it." Mrs. E. J. Kramer, 6604 Bliss Ave., Cleveland, Ohio.

U. S. Needs Resignations

What this country needs is more important resignations.

How do you know he is racing the government?

He has some bottles in the boat. They're in burlap bags. They're from Scotland. Well, what's wrong with that?

Are we at war with that country? The answer is a sparkling string of negatives.

You take the 10 grand, the bottles are smuggled into the works, thousands of people are made happy temporarily, and the firms that make headache powders declare an unexpected dividend. It's a big circle of back-scratchers and everybody gets a little gravy for his vest.

Don't blame the trusted employe who goes wrong. Maybe something is the matter with the detour signs.

Acid Indigestion Pain For Months Not A Sign Now!

New Prescription ACIDINE Ends Gas Pain After All Else Failed

"I suffered for months with acid indigestion and gas on the stomach," writes Mr. C. Redford of Detroit, Mich. "Couldn't eat a meal without being troubled with gas and pain, also dizzy feeling. I tried all kinds of medicines, but nothing really helped until I took Acidine. Got relief from the very start. Now I am entirely well, no pains at all. Have recommended ACIDINE to all my friends."

Thousands are astonished how this new prescription ACIDINE succeeds where other known remedies fail. The reason is that it is entirely different. Contains an effective scientific digestant, Japtase, that promptly liquefies 800 times its own weight of heavy, starchy food, under proper conditions. Five other ingredients relieve burning acid, stop gas and soothe irritated stomach lining. No other known remedy contains this scientific combination to end stomach trouble.

Physicians are prescribing ACIDINE, and thousands have found it the only real relief from acid indigestion and dyspepsia, gas, pain, heartburn, coated tongue, bad taste, dizziness and other troubles from the stomach.

Don't take chances with acidity and gas that may lead to more dangerous illness. Get ACIDINE today and watch how quick pain, gas end. You can smoke, eat and drink what you want if you take Acidine to stop resulting acidity. Results guaranteed or your money back. Get ACIDINE from any druggist today.

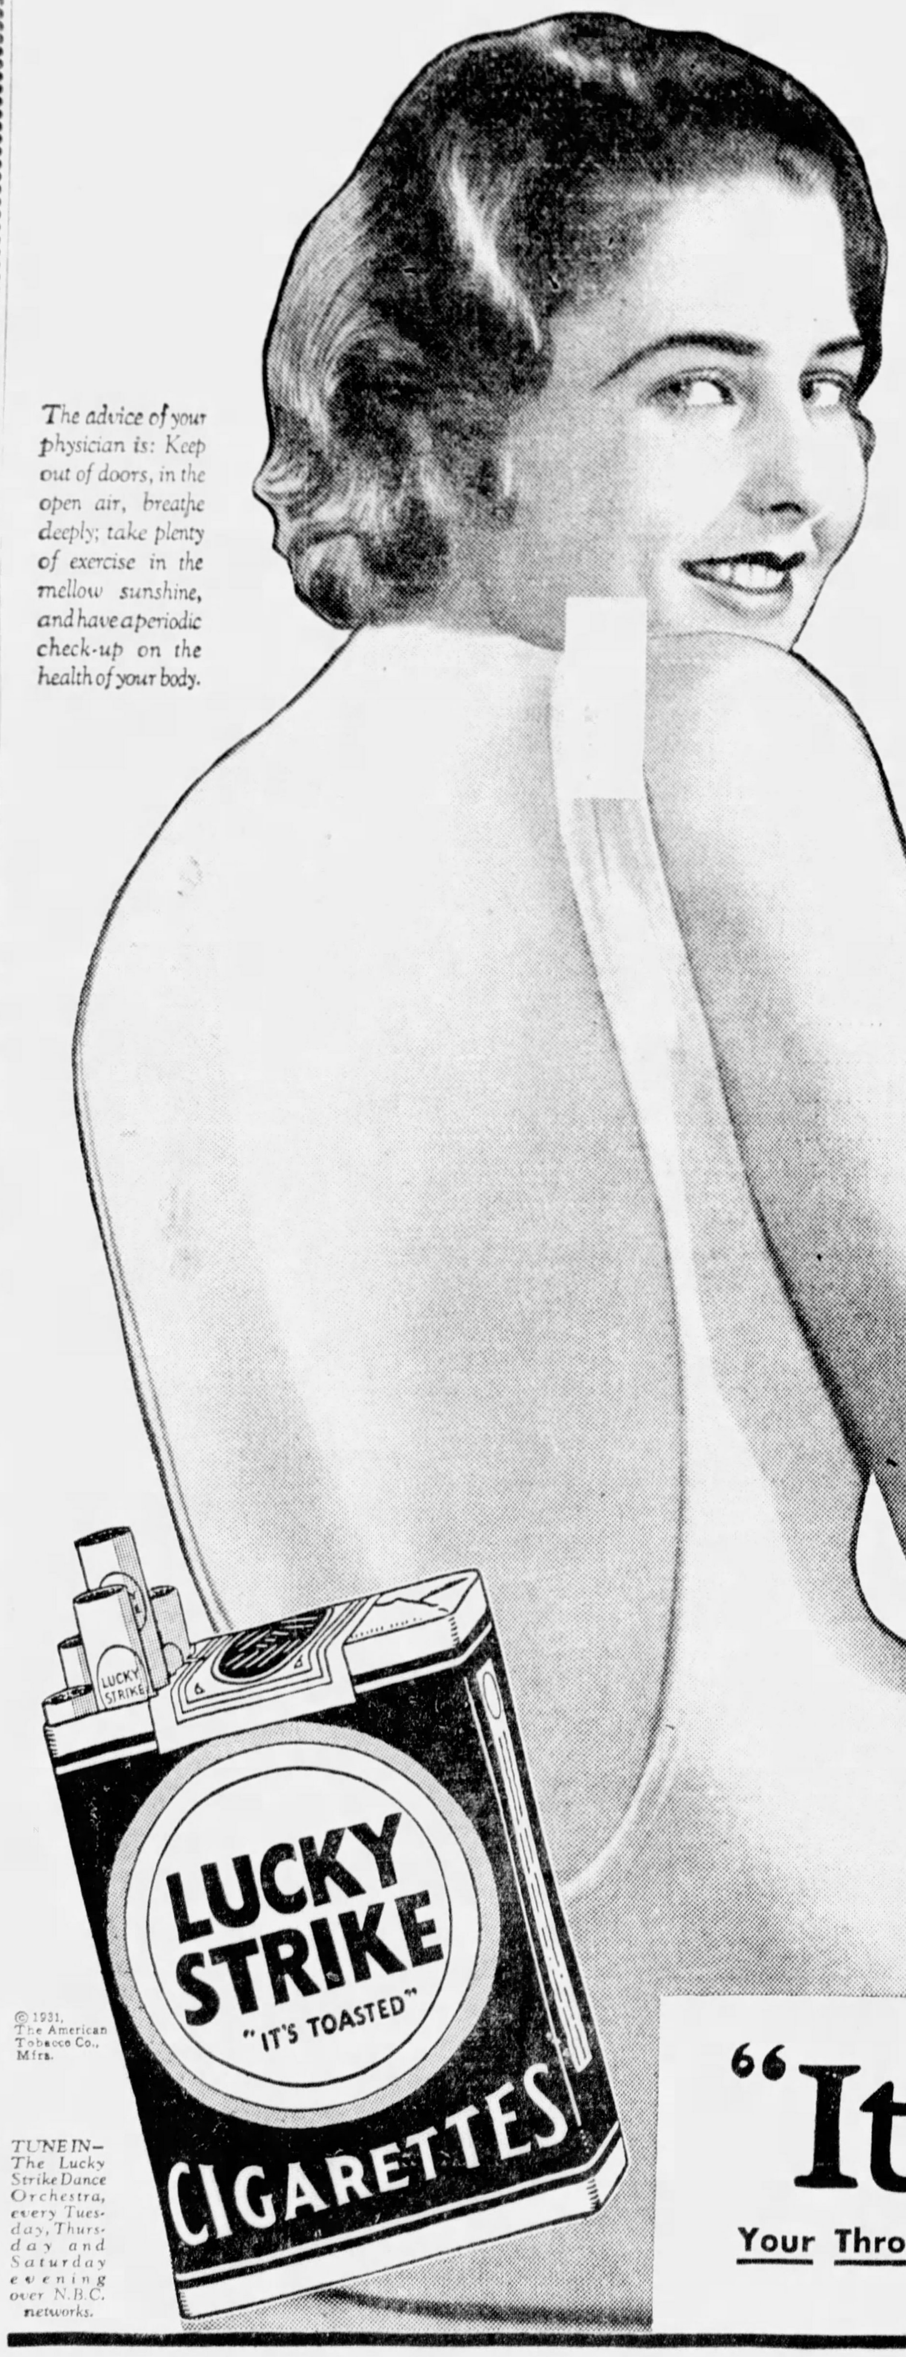
SUNSHINE MELLOWS



The advice of your physician is: Keep out of doors, in the open air, breathe deeply; take plenty of exercise in the mellow sunshine, and have a periodic check-up on the health of your body.

Heat Purifies

LUCKIES are always kind to your throat

Everyone knows that sunshine mellows — that's why the "TOASTING" process includes the use of the Ultra Violet Rays. LUCKY STRIKE — made of the finest tobaccos — the Cream of the Crop — THEN — "IT'S TOASTED" — an extra, secret heating process. Harsh irritants present in all raw tobaccos are expelled by "TOASTING." These irritants are sold to others. They are not present in your LUCKY STRIKE. No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.

BROTHER WINS MAN'S RELEASE

Edward J. O'Neill, Emsworth, was ordered released from the county hospital at Woodville by Judge Joseph Stadtfeld, after a hearing in Common Pleas Court on a writ of habeas corpus procured by a brother, James O'Neill, of Arch street, North Side.

The brother alleged the confinement was illegal and that O'Neill was suffering from no mental ailment but was confined at the instigation of his wife, Mrs. Anna O'Neill, January 22. Woodville physicians testified O'Neill was mentally subnormal at the time of his admission due to alcoholic excesses, but is now normal. Judge Stadfeld conditioned the release upon O'Neill's living on the farm of a friend for six weeks.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—At a meeting of Pennsylvania and New Jersey groups interested in construction of a tunnel from South Philadelphia to New Jersey, a permanent organization was formed under the name of the South Philadelphia-New Jersey Tunnel Association. John A. Martin was elected president and P. Harvey Middleton, secretary and treasurer.

I. D. Sayre, Woodbury, N. J., and A. R. Kohler and Jesse Darlington, Gloucester County freeholders, were elected vice presidents. An executive committee of 12 was appointed for New Jersey and one of 10 members for Pennsylvania.

A bill creating a Pennsylvania-Delaware River Bridge Commission No. 2 and appropriating funds for preliminary survey is to be introduced this week at Harrisburg by State Senator Trainer. The tunnel would be at a site to be selected by engineers, somewhere between Snyder avenue and the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

OLD TEMPERANCE DRAMA REVIVED—GENERAL NEWS ABOUT AMUSEMENTS

'Ten Nights in a Barroom' To Revive Memories Of Good Old Days

By GEORGE SEIBEL

About the time when Charlotte Cushman thought she was getting a fair salary at $25 a week, and when public opinion compelled ladies of the chorus to wear long Turkish trousers when they danced upon the stage, the play was incubated which George Sharp is reviving next week in the Pitt Theater, "Ten Nights in a Barroom," by T. S. Arthur.

George Seibel

Time seems further today than any farce, when there was a time when it was regarded as a high-ly ethical piece of dramatic lit-erature. There were people who thought it would abolish the evil of the saloon just as "Uncle Tom's Cabin" had abolished the curse of slav-ery.

It was a few years before the Civil War when Ten Nights in a Barroom" first created a sensation. Ten nights in a barroom was a record for depravity in those days. Today 10 barrooms in one night is nothing very remarkable.

Anyway a man named Arthur had written the book, and a man named William W. Pratt made a five-act drama out of it and it was played for the first time at the National Theater in New York City during September of 1858. It has lasted 73 years.

An actor by the name of Fitzgerald played Joe Morgan, and a Miss Plunket was little Mary. Three years later, at the Bowery Theater, George C. Bondface played Morgan and Cordelia Howard was Mary.

THEY LOVED TO WEEP

Audiences shed buckets of tears when little Mary would appear in the barroom and sing her pathetic ballad, "Father, dear father, come home with me now. The clock in the steeple struck 1."

They rose and cheered when Morgan cursed Simon Slade, the wicked saloon-keeper, to the soft strains of piano music.

'Here I swear, by the side of my murdered child, you shall die the death of a dog!'

And they sat transfixed with horror while old Joe writhed in the agonies of Delirium Tremens.

'My brain is on fire! Hideous visions are before my eyes! Look—a huge snake is twining himself around my arms! Take him off! Take him off, quick!'

But at last they would groan and breathe sighs of relief when the bartender had been killed by his own son, and the old soaks had either been buried in pauper's graves or had reformed and gone on the temperance platform.

MANY PLAYS LIKE IT

"Ten Nights in a Barroom" was only the best-known of the plays in the old-time temperance drama. There were many dramas like it. "The Social Glass," by T. Trask Woodward, was first produced in the Masonic Temple at Louisville in 1879. Its subtitle was "Victims of the Bottle."

In this play there is even deeper villainy afoot than guzzling whisky, for the arch-scoundrel tries to persuade the wife of the rum-victim to get a divorce and marry him. To which she replies:

"Never! Never! Villain! There is a great, a good, a lov-ing, allwise Being, who, sooner or later, will right all wrongs, reward the innocent and punish the guilty. In Him I trust!"

Whereupon Nettie Nettleby rushes in, seizes a broom and hits the villain over the head to trem-olo music in the orchestra.

There was "The Drunkard's Doom," "Fifteen Years of a Drunkard's Life," "The Drunk-ard's Warning," "Fruits of the Wine Cup," "Ruined by Drink," and many, many more such plays.

There had to be at least one murder with a trick bottle, at least one scene of D. T.'s, at least one little girl whose father hasn't bought her any shoes, and at least one suffering wife and mother whose love rescued the hapless victim from a drunkard's grave.

Those were glorious days, when the stage still stood for righteous-ness and sarsaparilla, and George Sharp deserves a vote of thanks for reviving this mighty moral drama in the Pitt Theater next week.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

The quaint ways of movie makers sometimes rile authors. The latest to run a temperature is Louis Bromfield, novelist, credited with having done the script of "One Heavenly Night." In a letter to Variety he disowns parts of it that caused criticism of himself. In his disclaimer is the following sentence:

"Certainly, among other things, I never visioned Miss Lave and Mr. Boles singing a duet in a thunderstorm."

Yet when Wagner and other operatic composers make their heroines and heroes do that it is high art. Someone must be wrong.

Critics are not all like Mr. Bromfield—some are worse. And the smartest cracks have not al-ways been made by the big hitter and rag men who maul the plays and players in the metropolitan press. There is, for instance, the classic of a Western small town scribe who witnessed a presenta-tion of "Hamlet" by a barn-storming troupe and wrote:

"The controversy as to whether Shakespeare or Bacon wrote the play now can be settled. All that is needed is to dig up their graves and see which one turned over last night."

Another example is the com-ment on a staging of "The Rivals." This one was "and Sheridan 20 miles away."

Texas Guinan has announced she will take her gang to Paris for the summer to show the French how tame apaches are compared to wild women. Donnez la petite fille une grande main! Pardon the Swedish, please, and blame the translator if the imperative and feminine happen to be all mixed up.

* * *

Ina Claire has quit the stage forever, having signed a five-year film contract, because she can more successfully combine pri-vate life with the taking of talk-ing pictures. So there is "pri-vate" life in Hollywood!

Dick Powell to Sing In East End Church

Dick Powell, of the Stanley Theater, will sing at the Sunday night services in the East End Christian Church, of which the Rev. John Ray Eyre is pastor. He will sing two numbers, "I Come to Thee" and another to be be selected by the pastor.

NOTES ABOUT COMING STAGE AND SCREEN ATTRACTIONS

Grace George in "The First Mrs. Fraser," St. John Ervine's witty comedy of divorce and re-marriage, comes from a year's run in the Playhouse, New York, to the Alvin next Monday night. The seat sale opens today.

A judicious sense of tempo, which includes suitable pauses and the right placing of emphasis, is one of the most vital things in comedy, says Jerome Daley, stage veteran who plays the amusing police officer in "Strictly Dis-honorable," which will play a re-turn engagement in the Nixon next week.

NEW BANCROFT FILM

Regis Toomey, former Univer-sity of Pittsburgh student, has a prominent role in support of George Bancroft, Clive Brook and Kay Francis in "Scandal Sheet," the feature opening tomorrow in the Penn. He acts the part of a reporter employed by a two-fisted managing editor.

Bela Lugosi, who plays the title role in "Dracula," which opens in the Stanley tomorrow, took the same part on the stage for two years. Others in the cast include Helen Chandler, David Manners and Edward Van Sloan.

Ernest B. Schoedsack, producer of "Chang," "Grass" and "The Four Feathers," is the producer and director of "Rango," a film of the Sumatran jungles, which opens in the Fulton and Sheridan Square theaters tomorrow. "Ran-go" is the name of a baby orang-outan, which has a prominent part in the picture.

ANOTHER WESTERN

Zane Grey's drama of the Old West, "Fighting Caravans," fea-turing Gary Cooper and Lily Da-mita, is the screen attraction com-ing to the Aldine tomorrow. The cast includes Ernest Torrence, Fred Kohler and Tully Marshall.

S. S. Van Dine Busy Writing New Philo Vance Yarn And Huston Story

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 26.

As soon as S. S. Van Dine can get around to writing it, Walter Huston will star in a crime story for First National.

The creator of Philo Vance will not write about his favorite character in his first original for the screen. Under the terms of one of the most elastic agreements on record, he will do the story at home and will submit it at his leisure.

He has no contract with First National. If they don't like the story he intends to turn it into a book, and to write another for Huston.

Walter Huston

For the benefit of Philo Vance fans, "The Kennel Murder Case," Van Dine's sixth story in the series, will not be finished until fall. According to the author, it will be the last appearance of Philo Vance. He admits, however, he may send the detective on a trip instead of killing him off.

Van Dine writes his stories with great care. He spends a year on each of the Vance series, plotting the story out for nine months and writing it in the remaining three. He prepares a 40,000 word synop-sis in advance of actual composi-tion.

Showing the detail with which the author calculates, each of his Vance stories has a six-letter dis-tinguishing title—"The Scarab," "The Benson," "The Kennel" mur-der cases. Van Dine figured a six-letter word would be easy to block for ads.

The writer expects to be a num-ber of months on his first screen story.

VICTIM'S RUSE FOILS CAPTORS

CHICAGO, Feb. 26 (AP).—Kidnaped and held three days by extortionists who threatened his life, Harry Kaplan, wealthy cigar manufacturer, won freedom by a ruse.

Kaplan escaped when his captors took him to the Continental Illinois National Bank to get $5,000, which he had agreed to pay for his liberty.

In asking the teller for the money, Kaplan conveyed the idea he was in trouble and the teller sounded an alarm that brought bank police to the scene. The kidnapers, three men, ran from the bank and escaped.

Kaplan said he was abducted by the men while standing on a street corner and taken to an abandoned brewery formerly operated by Terry Druggan. The men, he said, threatened to burn him alive if he did not pay them $5,000.

Red Cross Attache Demands Work For Miners

CLARKSBURG, W. Va., Feb. 26.—Demand was made upon the Harrison County Court by Harold B. Nearman, Washington, state field investigator for the Red Cross, that work on roads or elsewhere be provided immediately for the heads of 15 miners' families at Mount Clare, found in distress.

"The men have long been out of work, want work, and should have it," Nearman said.

VAN DINE BUSY ON STORIES

cago gangsters to sell "pineapples" on the street corners.

A FISH STORY

If you can believe Lew Cody, his chauffeur didn't know what kippered herring were. Lew told him they were fish and instructed him to buy some for breakfast the next morning. When the chauffeur asked how they were sold, Lew replied in bulk and by the barrel.

Now comes the pay-off. He swears a barrel of herring was delivered by the market that afternoon.

BANNISTER SIGNED

Simultaneous with Ann Harding's new contract came one for her actor-husband, Harry Bannister.

Harry has been under contract to Pathe as long as Ann, but despite several offers from other studios he hasn't made a picture since "The Girl of the Golden West" at First National. Under his new agreement, however, Pathe is promising to give him regular assignments.

On the stage Bannister was a player of prominence. He was seen on the coast in "Strange Interlude."

BILL HART WRITES

Bill Hart, famous gunman of the silent screen, will complete his eighth book within a few weeks. It is a novel of the west, tentatively known as "Two Boys and a Girl." The former cowboy star has been writing it for a year and a half.

Bill Hart

I find he has lost contact with motion pictures. The last western film he saw was "In Old Arizona," which he liked very much. Bill lives on a ranch and seldom comes into town. He admits the ranch isn't productive.

"All I grow on it," he said, "is some hay to feed the ponies."

LIKES FAMILIAR FACES

Next to Charlie Chaplin, John Barrymore is the most particular star about being surrounded by familiar faces.

His assistant director has been with him for nine pictures, his propertyman for 10, his wardrobe man for 11 and his make-up man for 12.

A little old extra lady, "Tiny" Jones, has played in his last five films.

As hitherto announced, Marion Marsh will play opposite him again in "The Genius." His latest request is for Carmel Myers to be signed again for a supporting role.

Anniversary Parade For Stanley Today

Soap and Hard Water Alone Will Not Give Best Dish Washing Results

Local housewives claim amazing results when new water-softening cleanser is added in washing anything. Takes ¼ the soap—saves ½ the time.

A NEW discovery is cutting dish washing time in half—eliminating greasy film on dishes and the scum in the dishpan—the penalties you local women have been forced to pay for the hardness of city water.

It is not a soap but a water-softening cleanser that makes any soap more effective in cleansing results by changing "hard" water to "soft". And you need use only one-fourth the soap formerly needed.

What It Is

It is a preparation called Climalene that you add to your washing water. Just a teaspoon or two.

Instantly, it takes all the harshness out of that water. Makes it soft as rain water.

At the same time, due to certain bland cleansing agents, it instantly DISSOLVES all dirt, stains and grime. And thus cuts washing time ONE-HALF or more.

Use the soap or soap flakes you ordinarily do. Then see for yourself the amazing results. During 1930 women used over 33,000,000 packages of Climalene for washing, for cleaning and in the dishpan.

Laboratory Proved

To assure results to you, we buy fine things, lingerie and delicate fabrics, costly china. Then by repeated washings, try to spoil or fade them.

Consider, please, what those things mean to you. Consider, too, that the minute you put this creation into water, all harshness is taken away—your hands protected from roughness, made soft, smooth and white. Then try it.

Remember the name — Climalene. Your grocer has it in 10c and 25c packages. 173-RA

CLEVER COOKS USE SUGAR TO SEASON FOOD

Improves the Taste-appeal and Increases Nourishment of the Dish

There is no need to deny yourself flavor when you eat essential foods. According to leading nutritional authorities and dietitians, the use of sugar to season vegetables, meat dishes and fruits is entirely proper.

Sugar adds zest to essential foods which carry vitamins, mineral salts and roughage. It heightens the "taste" of peas, beans, spinach and other vegetables. It improves the flavor of meat stews and makes them more palatable. In the case of fresh fruits, sugar modifies harsh acids.

In vegetable and meat cookery, a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt is a popular rule of clever cooks. The great value of seasoning and flavoring foods with sugar is that it makes them more enjoyable. Too often essential foods are rejected, especially by children, because they are not pleasing to the taste. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

One of many Reasons Why MUELLER'S is America's . . . Largest Selling Brand of Macaroni Products

Thousands of letters are received every year by the makers of Mueller's Macaroni Products. Some praise the deliciousness of these fine foods—their better taste and flavor. Others comment on the unusual lightness and fluffiness of Mueller's Products. Still others mention the better health enjoyed by all the family when Mueller's Pro re served often. Some mention the fact that Mueller's cooks in les and thus makes a delicious meal easy to prepare.

It all comes down to this:—There must l ason why Mueller's is America's largest selling brand of macaron cts. There is a reason —not merely one, but many. Mueller's Ma Spaghetti and Elbow Macaroni are made from farina—the heart of the wheat. Mueller's Egg Noodles contain only selected fresh eggs and a choice blend of flour. All Mueller's Products are made by exclusive methods that insure lightness, fluffiness and easy digestibility. The taste is better. The healthfulness is unsurpassed.

Perhaps you, like Mrs. Bradburn, have been having disappointing results with your macaroni, spaghetti and egg noodle dishes. Then try Mueller's! A delightful surprise awaits you. Your grocer has Mueller's or can get it for you.

Next Week is Macaroni Week

From March 2 to March 7 you are particularly urged to become acquainted with the deliciousness and healthfulness of macaroni products. This week has been designated as Macaroni Week. Make it a point, during Macaroni Week, to ask for MUELLER'S when you order macaroni, spaghetti or egg noodles from your grocer.

For over sixty-three years, the makers of Mueller's Macaroni Products have kept faith with the American housewife. You may be sure that this faith will not be broken.

To Whom it may Concern. —

I am enclosing a coupon requesting a copy of your recipe book.

I want to tell you why I always use Mueller's Products. In making Macaroni au Gratin, I have used several different brands of macaroni, but my husband was never satisfied with it until I used Mueller's macaroni. One brand was tough, another had no flavor + another "just starch" according to him, but when I used Mueller's he declared it to be splendid.

I will [illegible] a copy of your recipe book. Suggesting ways + giving directions for making other dishes using your products.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Ralph C. Bradburn

The LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The latest darling of the broadcasters is Morton Downey, high-voiced singer of sentimental songs.

Downey's present success as a balladeer can be traced directly to the microphone. Playing the Palace Theater last fall as a vaudeville headliner, he failed to set Broadway into ecstatic whoopla. Broadway set him down as a singer with an unusually high tenor voice and a pleasing personality and let it go at that. No more was heard of him until he established a night club in the snooty fifties and had listened to the siren call of radio as sounded by M. Paley, of Columbia.

With Downey's name upon their dotted lines the broadcasters straightway performed a stroke of showmanship as daring as it was adroit. They placed him on their schedules at the forbidding hour of 7, in direct and defiant competition to Amos 'n' Andy. Today radio points to him as the most successful figure to enter its ranks since Floyd Gibbons sent his rat-a-tat accents over the ether.

Listeners at first reluctant to give up their loyalty to the bewildered oafs of Harlem are now seemingly eager to turn the dial to Downey even though he is concerned with the maudlin sentiments of Moonlight on the Colorado. He has become, in short, Columbia's biggest bet and many returns are still to come.

The M. Paley figured rightly as to the nightly scheduling of Downey if he believes—and our spies say he did—that a first-class musical program would find a hearty welcome at the hitherto mystic hour of 7. He merely had to look over the program sheets to discover that listeners submit to an epidemic of gabbing at that hour.

He merely had to realize that there were millions of listeners throughout the country clamoring for something besides talk, that millions of pounds of roast beef and lamb chops were being devoured nightly, unaccompanied by the traditional aid to digestion of music. Dinner music, so-called, was even being aired some time before—long before, in fact, the majority of diners were accustomed to sit down at the table.

Paley's guess was good. We have a notion he could have scheduled a tenth rate tenor or a third rate coloratura and accomplished the trick, so weary had the ear-cuppers become of the ceaseless gabbing at dinner time.

* * *

Radio and the screen are striking more and more an Alphonse-Gaston attitude. It's a case of hands across the ether and the proscenium arch. Radio, long hospitable to stars of the screen, is now paying its party call, is presenting to visitors at the cathedral of St. Paramount not only Downey but the melancholy warblers of "Around the Samovar," the Jewish dialectician, Henry Burbig, and Charles Previn, maestro of the unruly hair but obedient musicians.

Everything comes to the ear-cuppers if they wait long enough. Broadcasters have now booked radio lessons in roller skating.

Dr. Charles Fleischer is now the official commentator of the Columbia System. Nice word, commentator! Much in vogue in England.

England, we learn, seeks to avoid the adoption of American slang, even such stimulating slang as "speed cop."

Don't Let Ailing Kidneys and Bladder Ruin Your Entire Bodily Health

You'll be sorry if you don't act at once to curb kidney and bladder troubles. A serious break-down in your health may occur. Take action at once. Get Santal Midy from your druggist. It has been prescribed for half a century by doctors throughout the world.

Santal Midy

Mothers, Mix This At Home for a Bad Cough

You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour the into a pint bottle; then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The full pint thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, loosens the germ-laden phlegm, and soothes away the inflammation. Part of the medicine is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps mightily to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

How to Relieve Catarrhal Deafness Or Head Noises

If you have catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if phlegm drops in your throat and has caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels, you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment, which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from any druggist a 4-oz. bottle of Parmint (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it a pint of hot water and a little sugar, stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first dose. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headaches, dullness, dizziness, thinking etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell or taste, defective hearing and pains in the back of the head are other symptoms which succumb to the influence of catarrh and which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. If nearly 90 per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh, there must be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple home treatment.

FIGHT GIN PARTY CONFESSION

VALPARAISO, Ind., Feb. 26.—(INS.)—Attorneys for Virgil Kirkland, former Gary (Ind.) high school football star, on trial for the murder of 18-year-old Arlene Draves, were prepared to block the state today in its attempt to introduce the youth's asserted confession as evidence.

The bitterest legal battle of the trial was expected with the prosecution's attempt to introduce the document which, according to authorities, describes in detail the gin party during which the Draves girl died.

It is charged that Kirkland and four other youths who attended the party attacked the girl. She was pronounced dead three hours later by Dr. Russell Wharton.

Dr. Wharton yesterday testified three of the youths brought the Draves girl to his home at 3 o'clock one Sunday morning. He pronounced her dead, and the youths fled.

Man Leaps to Death Ignoring Warnings

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—A man identified as Cecil Arthur Fullick, 38, ignored cries of would-be rescuers and leaped to his death in the Schuylkill River from the Walnut Street Bridge. Several persons on the bridge, including passengers in a crowded trolley car, saw Fullick climb the bridge railing, pause a moment and then leap as they shouted to him to wait. The body was recovered.

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor.

The two programs of most promise tonight come within half an hour of each other on KDKA and WCAE. Efrem Zimbalist, famous violinist, is the evening star. He plays Rimsky-Korsakoff's "Hymn to the Sun" and Dvorak's ever-popular "Humoresque" for KDKA listeners at 9:30. We salute the sponsor of this program for including also an orchestra interpretation of the lovely Intermezzo from "Cavalleria Rusticana." George K. Fields—better known to you as "Cheerio"—is toastmaster at 9 on WCAE at a reincarnation of George Friedrich Handel, whose "Messiah" and other glorious compositions form the backbone of the most beautiful sacred music ever written. Largo from "Xerxes" is a bass solo by John Moncrieff. Margaret Garrity, soprano, sings "The Girl In the Prow," from "New Moon," on KQV at 9.

Will Rogers is still making good to the sponsors of programs who sent entertainers to help him in Arkansas. Tonight he aids James Melton and Nat Shilkret on KDKA at 8:30. Melton is scheduled to sing Moya's "Song of Songs," which is Dick Powell's favorite of favorites.

No less an authority than Lynden Morrow, fellow scribe on a morning journal, advises us that the Minstrels on KQV at 7:30 are "network."

QUESTION A DAY:

What is the name and address of the chairman of the Federal Radio Commission?—E. V. W., Punxsutawney.

Answer—Maj. Charles McKinley Saltzman, Department of Commerce Building, Washington, D. C.

Amos 'n' Andy missed their big chance last night by failing to bring a feminine character into their sketches. The part of "Madame Queen," impersonated by Freeman F. Gosden (Amos), was rather flat.

What a hit those boys could have made by introducing a southern mammy with genuine Negro brogue.

Only readers of "We Now Present" had positive assurance last night that Madame Queen would take the stand.

Things you might want to hear tonight: Testimonial dinner for Bobby Jones on WJZ at 10; Ben Bernie on WABC at 11; Nan Halperin on WABC at 11:30 and "Jean and Joanne" on WFAA at 12:15.

* * *

Toscha Seidel (WJAS at 10:30) judges the time of his selections on the air with a small watch in the lapel of his coat no bigger than a lodge button.

Louella Parsons, Hearst movie editor, brings Constance Bennett to the WABC-WJAS audience next Wednesday night with the Fruit Growers' Orchestra.

Raymond Knight, the Ambrose J. Weems of Station KUKU and also Bill Borealis with the Eskimos, is in the city today. He speaks to the Engineers Society tonight. Ray is just what his name implies—a Ray of sunshine wherever he goes.

The millenium has arrived! Ed Harvey's coffee continuity on KDKA at 10 tonight has but one commercial announcement.

* * *

NBC has decided to make "electrical transcriptions" for stations not in the network. NBC artists are to supply the talent.

WISHART URGES UNITED CHURCH DOCTRINE

Pastor Here Addressing Washington Meeting Offers Solution Pending Merger

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Rev. Dr. W. J. Wishart, pastor of the Eighth United Presbyterian Church of Pittsburgh, today will discuss a "Doctrinal Basis for Presbyterian Church Union" at the Western Section of the World Alliance for Presbyterian and Reformed Churches, in session in the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. After speaking on the five confessions of faith considered, Dr. Wishart suggests that the recently modernized confession of the United Presbyterian Church offers a possible solution.

In his address, Dr. Wishart sets forth:

"It is reported that the Joint Committee representing the five major churches holding the Reformed faith and the Presbyterian order has agreed that in the proposed merger of these five communions 'the doctrinal basis for the union shall be the existing standards of the several uniting churches.'

NOT IDEAL

"Having in mind the desirability and the great practical advantage of having these five Presbyterian bodies organically united into one, this recommendation of the Joint Comittee is probably wise.

"Nevertheless, this proposal as to a doctrinal basis for the united church is not entirely ideal."

Dr. Wishart points out that a statement of faith that is to be couched in simple and forthright twentieth century language that would face a little more directly toward the problems of our modern world.

He continues:

"The united church will have a lengthy and rather elaborate creed if the union goes through on the five-standard basis proposed. It will be a somewhat multi-colored creed. It is safe to predict that not one in 20 ministers will ever wade through all the chapters."

PROPOSES CREED

According to Dr. Wishart, the unified creed would include:

"The contribution of the German Reformed Church—also of the Dutch Reformed—will be the Heidelberg Catechism.

"The Reformed Church in America will have the privilege and honor of sponsoring, in partnership with the German Reformed, this Heidelberg Catechism. But in addition the Dutch Church will contribute two other documents, the Belgic Confession and the Canons of the Synod of Dort.

"The Third contribution which the Dutch Church will make is 'The Canons of the Synod of Dort.'

"The contribution of the United Presbyterian Church will be the twentieth century formulation of the Reformed faith known as 'The Confessional Statement.' This document has the distinction of being the only modern credo in the proposed basis."

Stove Fumes Kill 2 Men and Woman

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 26 (AP).—Two men and a woman, all [illegible] were found asphyxiated in a home here this morning, police thought to have come from a kitchen gas heater. The bodies, fully dressed, apparently [illegible] without warning.

The dead were: Mrs. Letha Stickel, 65; Benjamin Stickel, 70, husband and brother, and William Coble, [illegible], all of Mt. Stickel.

JUDGE UPHOLDS $4 TRIAL FEE

The fate of a fee of $4 that must be paid in the case asking a jury in Quarter Sessions Court is upheld in a decision handed down by Judge Sara Soffel, who ruled the amount must be paid the court clerk before the jury trial is listed.

Ernest & Ernest had sued the Ohio River Transportation Company on a contract involving $225. The company demanded a jury trial last September 3, but its attorneys refused to put up the $4. The matter was argued before Judges Soffel, Thomas C. Jones and S. J. McKinny. The attorneys argued the fee was unconstitutional, because the Constitution says trial by jury remains inviolable. Judge Soffel in the opinion upholds the Act of 1929, which requires the fee.

JUDGE HUGHES ASSISTS HERE

Judge Howard W. Hughes, of Washington County, arrived today to assist in the trial of cases in Criminal Court. A near breakdown in the trial list had occurred when two visiting judges cancelled their engagements to sit on the Allegheny County bench this week and one of the local judges, Hebert W. Dithrich, was taken ill, leaving but four judges to handle cases scheduled to occupy the attention of seven.

Do You Feel Worn Out At Five o'Clock?

Even if you eat three big meals every day, you may be starving for vitamins! The food you eat just doesn't supply enough of them. That's why you get worn out. That's why you feel tired and listless so much of the time.

For years doctors have been prescribing cod liver oil. But many people can't take it. The nasty oily taste upsets them. For these people there is a remarkable new way to take cod liver oil, easily, pleasantly and tastelessly.

Mother Builds Up Underweight Children

Husband Gains Strength After Serious Illness

A half-sick, rundown child is ill-equipped to face the season's dangers. With strength at a low ebb, even an ordinary cold or sore throat may be serious.

Now is the time to build up health and vigor. Mrs. Estelle Frey, 11 Nevada Avenue, Malden, Massachusetts, says: "Father John's Medicine is my old standby. My husband had a serious illness which left him very weak. Father John's Medicine built him up wonderfully. My children were underweight, so I gave them Father John's Medicine with the same results. I recommend it to any mother for growing children."

The experience of Mrs. Frey is typical of what has happened in countless homes for over 75 years. This is because Father John's Medicine is a scientific combination of proved body builders. It contains no alcohol, dope or drugs—so that it can be given in perfect safety to even an infant.

Follow the Experience of 184 Hospitals and Institutions

Because of its composition and its method of manufacture, Father John's Medicine supplies just the right amount of cod liver oil in the right form to do the most good. Children thrive on it amazingly. Pale cheeks glow with health and color. Appetite becomes keen and sharp. Pounds are added. Colds break up. Sick spells are few and far between.

If your child has a cough or cold, or if anyone in your family is pale, underweight or rundown, give Father John's Medicine a chance to demonstrate what it can do for you. All druggists have it.

If you're "on the fence" about gas and motor fuel-

If you're all muddled up by conflicting claims--if you wonder why some gasolines sell at one price--and some command a premium--consider these facts.

The American Oil Company makes both a regular gasoline and a special motor fuel. Therefore it never makes exaggerated claims for either one or the other. It never claims that its regular-priced gasoline, Orange American Gas, can equal the performance of a high-grade special motor fuel such as Amoco-Gas.

Orange American Gas will give better all-'round performance than any gas selling at regular gas price--that's a flat statement we'll back to the limit.

Amoco-Gas, selling at a few cents more per gallon, delivers more power and more mileage, cuts down your repair bills and actually costs less per mile than anything else you can "feed" your car.

No matter which side of the fence you finally land on--you'll get the best possible value for your money from either of these American Oil Company products.

CROSSES OCEAN TO SEEK FATHER

Crossing the Atlantic Ocean seeking his father, William Oswald Wilkinson, 19, has made a futile search for more than a year.

Mr. Wilkinson

John Clark Wilkinson, 45, left England May 16, 1925, landed in New York May 25, and came to Pittsburgh, where he obtained work at the Westinghouse Air Brake Company in Turtle Creek.

According to William, his father worked for a year and disappeared mysteriously August, 1929, when he left with a friend in an automobile.

William arrived in America January 21, and has visited Washington, Newark and other cities, but further information could not be obtained.

The father is 5 feet 4 inches in height, brown gray hair, gray eyes and has a North English accent. He is of British descent.

Besides William, Mr. Wilkinson left his wife and son, Ormonde, 16, in England. William Wilkinson is making his home at 1008 Maple avenue, Wilmerding.

Splinter in Finger, Worker Falls Dead

Pastor Withholds Confidence, Held In Contempt

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 26.—(AP)—The Rev. Emil Swenson, pastor of the Bethlehem Evangelical Lutheran Church, here was held in contempt of court for refusing to testify as to information given him in confidence by a member of his church.

The minister had been called to the stand as a witness for Mrs. Gladys Sundseth, who is seeking a divorce from Arnold Sundseth. Mr. Swenson was asked by Sundseth's attorney to tell about a conversation Sundseth had with the minister.

Although the court ordered him to answer, Mr. Swenson declined.

BRIDGE PARTIES BRING DIVORCE

The marriage of Henry A. Klein of the Frontenac Apartments, South Highland avenue, and Mrs. Alice R. Klein, of 5811 Ellsworth avenue, was wrecked by her devotion to bridge, according to the testimony of Klein, granted a divorce by Judge James R. Macfarlane in Common Pleas Court. They were married October 13, 1919, and parted April 23, 1928. Klein charged desertion. He testified:

"She resented my telling her not to do things she was doing, such as going to bridge parties and coming in at late hours in the morning. I came home many a night and she would not be there to have my dinner. I would have to call four or five places to find her.

"I told her she had to cut out the bridge parties or something serious was going to happen to both of us. When I came home April 23, 1928, all the furniture had been removed from our apartment, except my personal belongings, and she was gone."

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist.

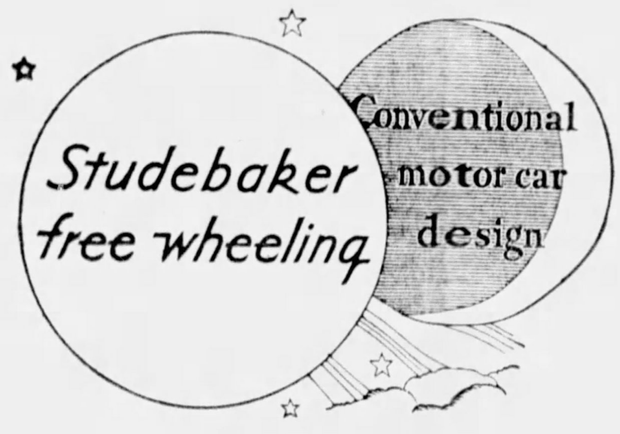
The great eclipse of 1931



To the motorist thinking of buying a new car now, the attention the entire industry is giving to Free Wheeling means a great deal. Pierce-Arrow and Lincoln, noted for engineering excellence and conservatism, have adopted—intact and unmodified—the same Free Wheeling mechanism that is built into Studebaker's three great Eights and brilliant new Six.

Free Wheeling has captured public interest as thoroughly as it has captured the hitherto wasted power of momentum.

In Free Wheeling, for the first time in the history of the automobile, Studebaker has released momentum from subjection to the engine that creates it and made it serve as an instrument of economy and power. Free Wheeling with positive gear control utilizes this long-lost overflow of propulsion, enabling the engine to do five miles of work with four miles of effort and one mile of rest!

You will do well if you make sure that your new car is a Free Wheeling Studebaker. It will save you substantial amounts on gasoline, oil, tires and repairs.

But you must actually drive a Free Wheeling Studebaker to know all the thrills, all the pleasure, all the satisfaction this great achievement can give you.

This is not the time to buy a new car on impulse or through habit. The cars of today that do not offer Free Wheeling are cars of the old order even though they may be spoken of as new.

Base your new car choice on first-hand knowledge—ask your Studebaker dealer to take you Free Wheeling. Highway commissioners and safety directors throughout the country have driven Free Wheeling Studebakers and then voiced approval of Free Wheeling with positive gear control as a new measure of safety to driver and public.

All Studebaker cars—the President, Commander and Dictator Eights, as well as the brilliant new low-priced Studebaker Six—have Free Wheeling with positive gear control. Studebaker cars are priced, f. o. b. factory, from $795 to $2600.

SIDEWALKS —of— PITTSBURGH

By William Pfarr

To those who go to the theater to laugh, above all, the season can now be called a success, for Ed Wynn has been here. Not only the cleanest, Wynn probably is also the funniest man on the stage. And he takes his humor seriously. In his home he has a library of jokes, catalogued, just as the groceries a chain store are listed in inventory. Jokes on Fear, Jokes on Love, Jokes on Hate—these are some of the titles in the Wynn catalogue. As he rehearses for a new show he tries to fit in these old jokes to the new situations. He succeeds remarkably well. In fact, no other comedian can do so much with a bad joke.

William Pfarr

We doubt that Wynn has a place in his catalogue for the joke which actually occurred in Spokane, Wash., 20 years ago. Wynn and Jim Hughes, now an announcer at WJAS, were playing the same bill in vaudeville. They were strolling downtown when they saw a parade move by—a parade of Yakima Indians and pioneers who were marching to the government's office where land grants were to be distributed.

It was a joyous occasion, and Wynn and Hughes decided to add to the gayety by joining the parade. Not only that, no sooner had they joined the marchers than they lighted cigarets. A minute or so later police removed them from the parade and tossed them into the jug. You were arrested in those days for smoking cigarets in Washington.

Vic Faust, the bell-ringer, has made his debu' on Broadway ("From the Allegheny River to Broadway"), but there was just as much of a tear in his debut as a smile. In the hurly-burly attending the opening of "The Gang's All Here," Vic's bell-ringing act, whose novelty might have appealed to Broadway audiences, was lost sight of. Vic still hasn't had a chance to ring his bells and inasmuch as the show is far from being a hit, probably he won't. In fact, Vic has already written, "I'm going to write Capt. Menke and find out when the old boat opens."

Councilman Clifford B. Connelley seems to be one of the foremost defenders of the mayor's secret investigation of the city's food-buying case. Councilman Connelley is a former printer, and it might be a good idea, when and if an open hearing is held, to have him set in type all the newspaper stories of that hearing.

Since Bill Boyce, the commercial manager of the Railways, just completed 25 years' service with the company, this is as good a time as any to reveal that he wear a mandarin robe in his easier moments. What's more, the robe is adorned with all the epaulets and insignia Boyd can lay his hands on. This means something when you realize that, honorary or not, he is at once a traffic officer, a captain in the Navy, a messenger boy, and a lot of other things. He started out as a street car conductor in the days when (although he was not a follower of the practice) the conductor tossed the fares against the ceiling and allowed the company to keep all those which stuck there.

At least 60 police turned out yesterday to stop a handful of Communists from holding a demonstration downtown. Herein lies the solution of the unemployment problem, against which the Communists were demonstrating. If the Communists will hold enough demonstrations the city will have to hire all available hands as police to stop 'em.

'NOT LOST,' PRIEST SAYS

Father Clougherty, Located Here, Denies Report; Sees Error in Identity

A nation-wide search for the Rev. Father Dom Francis Clougherty, Pittsburgher, chancellor of the Catholic University at Peiping, China, ended here today with Father Clougherty denying that he had been lost at all.

The search originated shortly after Father Clougherty, traveling through the Middle-West, raising funds and books for the library at Peiping, left Detroit, Mich., January 17, bound for Youngstown, O. When Detroit friends failed to hear from him, they commenced their search.

AMNESIA FEARED

Word came that he had been seen in Toledo, O., that he had stopped at a local hospital for treatment of a cold, had left the following day. He was not heard of after that. It was thought he was suffering from amnesia as the result of a head injury received in an auto accident in New York just before Christmas.

Today, Father Clougherty denied that he had been in Toledo within the last 10 months. He said:

"It's just a case of mistaken identity. My predecessor in office suffered a nervous breakdown on the job, was unheard of for some time. So possibly friends became panic-stricken, thought the breakdown was part of the job and that I should not be lost from sight.

VISITING FRIENDS

"I went directly to Youngstown from Detroit. My friends in Detroit had my forwarding address in Pittsburgh. At Youngstown I stayed with friends. I had a touch of grippe in Detroit, but wasn't laid up by it at all."

Father Clougherty said he will leave for Rome, Friday, in answer to a call from Pope Pius. From there, he says, he will go to the university at Peiping.

Father Clougherty is staying at the home of his sister, Mrs. M. A. Gorham, 2013 Columbia avenue, Swissvale.

Ries, Jr., past state deputy, will feature the monthly meeting of Pittsburgh chapter, Knights of Columbus, tomorrow evening at Allegheny council headquarters in the Sterrit Building. Louis F. S. Pershing Urged Allies to Begin Spring Offensive

MY EXPERIENCES IN THE WORLD WAR

By JOHN J. PERSHING

Commander-in-Chief, American Expeditionary Forces

Succeeding chapters of "My Experiences in the World War" will appear daily and Sunday exclusively in the Sun-Telegraph.

CHAPTER XLVI.

The 2nd Division assumed the offensive June 6, 1918, and began a series of attacks which culminated some three weeks later in the capture of the last German positions in the Bois de Belleau by its Marine Brigade, and of Vaux by its Regular Brigade.

The fighting during most of this period was of peculiar intensity. The German lines were favorably located on commanding ground and were more formidable by the extensive use of machine guns, especially in Belleau Wood.

Gen. Pershing

In the initial advance Harbord's Marine Brigade captured Bourescheș, and Lewis' Regular Brigade took Triangle Farm and Bois de la Barette. During the next few days our troops progressed piecemeal. June 15, the 7th Infantry, 3d Division, arrived to re-enforce the Marine Brigade engaged in the Wood.

This regiment relieved the brigade on that date and the Marines were rested for a week, when they again entered the line. Against stubborn resistance, they drove the enemy from the Wood June 25.

Meanwhile, the Regular Brigade continued its attacks intermittently, and July 1, with great dash, captured Vaux and the Bois de la Roche. The operations of the division in this vicinity were practically at an end when the new lines were stabilized on the high ground captured from the enemy.

The casualties in the division were about 9,500. More than 1,600 prisoners were captured from the enemy.

Acclaimed by French

The gains by the 2d Division were won with little aid on either flank by the French units, which were still in poor shape, and were made against an enemy determined to crush this early American effort.

The successes of this division and of the 1st at Cantigny and 3d on the Marne, following as they did the crisis of May 27, were loudly acclaimed by the French, and for the time being had a very stimulating effect upon French morale.

With the transfer of activities to the French front northeast of Paris, our plan to build up an American corps near Amiens had become impracticable, and as I had offered Gen. Petain the services of our divisions wherever they might be needed it now appeared possible to form at least a corps and possibly an army somewhere along the Marne salient.

I had suggested that we should bring other divisions to join the 2nd and 3rd for that purpose, and accordingly the 26th and 42nd were relieved from the inactive Vosges front, and five American divisions from the British area were designated to be sent to that quiet sector to relieve French divisions. The assembly of four American divisions in aid of the French on that front would more than offset their recent losses.

Gen. Petain, in his letter accepting my offer, said in part:

"I must express my deep gratitude for the prompt and very important aid you are bringing in the present crisis. The American troops already engaged in the battle are the unanimous admiration of the whole French Army.

"The power of the effort which your country is at present showing, as well as the resolute and generous spirit with which you enter the struggle, is for the Allies—and about all for France—a comfort in the grave times through which we are passing, and a pledge of the hope for the future."

Favors Counter-Attack

The position of the Germans in the Marne salient created by the recent offensive was inherently weak. As the efficiency of certain units of our forces had been fully proved, it seemed to me the time had arrived for us to utilize them to good advantage by combining them in an independent effort.

It was a moment of depression for the enemy, while the large numbers of American troops arriving and their success so far had helped Allied morale. The Germans had been stopped at the Marne.

I felt that we should not give the enemy time to reform and rest his forces, but if possible take the initiative ourselves.

It was with this thought in mind that I suggested to Gen. Petain we should assemble a number of American divisions in the Chateau Thierry sector. I had already proposed to Foch that they should be

MYSTERY DEATH INVESTIGATED IN CARRICK

Suicide, Murder Theories Sifted by Detectives; Believe Victim Slain

Two theories, one of suicide, the other of murder, were being investigated today by the homicide squad in the death of Silvio Lucarelli, found with a bullet through his heart in his fruit store, 2612 Brownsville road, Carrick, early Tuesday.

One supposition is that he killed himself so his family might collect double indemnity on $27,000 life insurance.

Attorney Franklin A. Ammon, to whom Lucarelli had gone a week ago to make a will, but failed to do so as the attorney was in court, today said he had learned from members of the family that $1,000 in jewelry was missing in addition to $300 making the suicide theory improbable.

A gun, found beside Lucarelli, with two empty shells and four loaded ones, was not Lucarelli's, Attorney Ammon said. One shot had lodged in the wall. Lucarelli's hands were scratched, indicating a struggle, he said.

Finger prints on the revolver and on the safe were taken by detectives in an effort to trace the person who fired the shot.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Feb. 26.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Say, if you want to do something and you really want somebody on the job to help you out, and do it right, don't go any further than the Federated Women's Clubs over the country. To them goes the success of our little tour. You know you can't just stick up somebody's name and expect people to come flocking in nowadays. It not only takes persuading, it takes force. You could have such stars as Columnist Coolidge or Greta Garbo, but still somebody would have to sandbag the customers to get 'em to pay real dough to see it. We are living in an age of "urge." We do nothing till somebody shoves us.

Yours,
WILL.

REFERENDUM RESULT OF CRITICISM

Independent Move Aimed To Answer Claim Prior Vote Not Representative

A voluntary committee of members of the Allegheny County Bar Association has been formed to conduct a referendum of the entire membership to determine sentiment of attorneys on the bill providing for two additional judges for the Common Pleas court here.

Aroused over the manner in which the proposal is being received, the committee decided on the referendum to determine whether the bill, pending in the Legislature, should be passed and approved by the Governor.

The action is not intended to supplant or affect the vote taken by the association February 19, after special notice to the membership for a meeting to consider the bill, but is an independent effort to ascertain the sentiment of the bar, in response to statements that the association vote was not truly representative of the entire membership.

It is intended to take the result of the vote before the members of the Committee on Judiciary Special of the House of Representatives, which will conduct a public hearing March 3 in Harrisburg. At that time the bar association will be officially represented in accord with its resolution of February 19. Some of the local judges and several members of the bar opposed to additional judgeships will also be present.

It's a Boy! So Chinatown Prepares to Celebrate

Joy reigned in Chinatown today—for Lee Fook Chew has become the father of a baby boy. A great celebration has been planned and the guest of honor is to be the doctor, Dr. H. E. Lutz, who attended the arrival of Lee's heir.

The baby has long been the cause of not a little consternation. Many hours have been spent in wondering as to whether it would be a boy or a girl. If it had been a girl, well—it is certain that no great celebration would be taking place; but it's a boy and the Chinese are all in holiday mood.

A many-coursed banquet is to take place at Lee's home, 515 Second avenue, and at that time the baby will be christened. He is the first-born of Lee and his 20-year-old bride, and they are very happy, as are all of their friends. A baby boy means a lot in Chinatown!

PAVING CHECK ASKED BY CITY

Legislation was being prepared today by City Controller James P. Kerr and Public Work Director Edward G. Lang to provide more adequate checks on street improvement work done by private contractors for the city.

Fifty per cent of street improvement work by contractors has been rejected by the city since the bureau of tests has inaugurated exhaustive borings into concrete, stone and asphalt roadways, Kerr reported yesterday to Council. A copy of a bureau of tests report must accompany all requests for payment, Kerr pointed out.

Kerr's plan, which has approval of Lang, is for Pittsburgh Testing Laboratories to take over the work of street boring from the city at a cost of $3 per hole for concrete, $3.50 for concrete and brick, and $4 for concrete over stone.

The Pennsylvania Committee on Penal Affairs, Western Branch, yesterday issued a statement in support of State Senator Frank J. Harris' two bills calling for application of modern science in protecting society from criminals.

One of these bills would require an investigation and report by a probation officer on the history of the accused person, in every case in which the offense charged is punishable by imprisonment for six months or more.

The second bill would provide for a mental examination of any person pleading guilty or indicted by a grand jury on a charge of murder or manslaughter, or for a felony, who is known to have been a previous offender.

Insured and Assured

Metropolitan policyholders—including about one-fifth of the total populations of United States and Canada—have built up their reserves from millions into billions.

THE financial story below is a record of achievement by men and women who are planning to avert want or to build estates. You may admire their steadfastness of purpose last year under handicaps which tested courage.

These —policyholders of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company—are building for their future. They would like to know what the future holds in store for them and for the country as a whole.

Let them, and other citizens, examine any chart of our country's unparalleled prosperity over the past hundred years. It appears, not merely as a jagged line, but as a series of towering steps which rise steadily onward and upward.

It is heartening now to recall that, after each depression, our country has always gone forward to greater heights of prosperity and better, sounder standards of living. Today this country has more riches and better facilities than ever before with which to commence her next great period of development.

A review of the financial history of the United States since it was founded in 1783 should turn any pessimist into an optimist.

The Metropolitan will gladly mail, free, a booklet, "The Development of Prosperity in America", telling of past ups and downs—and ups again—and how soon the "ups" followed.

Leetsdale Man Dies When Hit By Motorcycle; Homeless Victim Hurt on North Side

One man was killed and another critically injured in automobile accidents last night and early today.

Harry Huta, 50, of First street, Leetsdale, was killed last night when he was struck by a motorcycle at Broad and Beaver streets, Leetsdale, while returning home from work, the coroner's office reported.

Edward Simon, 19, of 421 Maplewood avenue, Ambridge, riding the motorcycle, was hurled to the street and suffered injuries which necessitated his removal to Valley Hospital, Sewickley. His condition was reported fair. Huta was said to have stepped from the curb into the path of the cycle.

Oscar Lockhart, 48, "no home," was in a critical condition in Allegheny General Hospital from injuries suffered when he was run down by an automobile on Federal street, near the Sixth Street Bridge, early today. Lawrence P. Reece, 26, of 1322 Avon street, Bellaire, O., alleged driver of the automobile, was held by North Side police on a charge of reckless driving.

Emmet Byers, 25, of New Brighton, was in a serious condition at the Sewickley Valley Hospital, where he was taken following an automobile crash in Duss avenue, Ambridge. He suffered a probable fractured skull, internal injuries and a fractured leg. James Byers, a brother, suffered minor injuries in the crash.

Two men were arrested on charges of violating the automobile laws after an automobile in which they were riding crashed into an air compressor and tool car of the Pittsburgh Railways Company at Perrysville and Riverview avenues, early today. At North Side Station they said they were Roger L. Schmidt, 23, of 4 Perryview street, and W. C. McCleary, 33, of 23 Brightridge street.

FAVOR CHANGES IN ASSEMBLY

The Allied Boards of Trade of Allegheny County, meeting in the Congress of Women's Clubs last night, finally approved the proposed reappointment of Pennsylvania's legislative districts, calling for seven state senatorial districts in Allegheny County instead of six, and 28 assembly districts instead of 27.

Attorney A. B. Maris, of Philadelphia, will be given plans of the board's committee on citizenship and government for consideration in drafting of a reapportionment bill to be submitted to the Legislature at this session. The plans have the co-operation of the League of Women Voters, Civic Club of Allegheny County, Committee of Seventy of Philadelphia and the Pennsylvania Elections Association.

The committee on government, headed by George B. Snyder, reported that two bills had been introduced in the Legislature, and passed on the first reading in the House.

DAGUE BURIED BESIDE MOTHER

WHEELING, Feb. 26.—Two unmarked graves today held the earthly remains of Irene Shrader and Walter Glenn Dague, each buried beside a mother's grave, while survivors of both treasured last-minute notes and other belongings of the couple whose love led through a short life of crime that ended in the electric chair.

Just as Dague followed the blonde triggerwoman into the Rockview death chamber Monday morning to pay for the killing of Corp. Brady Paul, so he followed her into the grave. The former Sunday school superintendent of the little country district of Sand Hill was buried yesterday afternoon in the family plot at Dallas, 12 miles from Elm Grove.

Funeral services were held in the Crider Brothers funeral home in Elm Grove with only members of the family and relatives admitted. As the Rev. H. O. Teagarden, who had taught Glenn in his church and who was spiritual adviser to both during their last moments, conducted the services the casket being opened to the family for the first time.

Mrs. Shrader had preceded Glenn to her grave in the Oak Hill Cemetery at Bellaire, O., by eight hours. To avoid curious throngs, the funeral was conducted before daybreak and burial completed at 7 o'clock yesterday morning. The change of funeral time from an afternoon hour thwarted possible gathering of the idly curious. In contrast, several hundred persons gathered at the Dague services.

As the services closed at Dague's grave, the Rev. Mr. Teagarden gave Mrs. Dague the Bible from which he had read and which had belonged to Dague.

PINCHOT'S WIFE TALKS OF IRENE

HARRISBURG, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Persons who deluge the office of the Governor for mercy before the electrocution of criminals falsely assume that the Governor is unaware of the pitiful, tragic and solemn nature of the event, Mrs. Gifford Pinchot said today in a radio talk. She declared:

"How little such a conception squares with the actual facts. None knows better than I do, having lived with Mr. Pinchot through many of these sad and difficult hours during his last administration."

Referring to the appeals in behalf of Mrs. Irene Shrader, Mrs. Pinchot said many were in response to an organized drive of one sort or another.

In many cases, Mrs. Pinchot said, these last-minute drives are organized by a "shyster criminal lawyer," who gets a large fee from the unfortunate family by cruelly exciting hopes that cannot be fulfilled. In the Shrader case, however, Mrs. Pinchot said, there was no evidence of such exploitation.

CLUB NOTES

Conditions in India were discussed by a native, Prasulla Mukerji, before the New Era Club yesterday in the Congress of Clubs. It is not the Hindu religion, but Anglo-Saxon irreligion; not the urge of Christianity, but the lure of gold; not the urge of charity, but the desire for political and economic advantage, which have brought India to her present state, he said. It is idle to expect young India to rid the country in one generation of the caste system, which took centuries to build up, he said, adding that education is its only solution. Young India will also attack the problem of the untouchables, he said, as he went on to tell of what has already been done for them, even to their adoption into Hindu families in some cases. Gandhi himself has adopted one of these outcasts for a daughter.

Music at the meeting was furnished by Mrs. W. B. Hartley, who sang, accompanied by Mrs. H. D. Everett.

TUNIC CONTINUES TO BE POPULAR

Sketched in Paris

Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph,

PARIS, Feb. 26.—The tunic is ready to meet the demands of another important style season. It is being considerably used again this season and it does seem surprising that it was until recently neglected for so long. Somehow it seemed to have the reputation of adding years to the wearer's age and inches to her girth. All of which is quite libelous. The tunic is a most accommodating style and suits almost every type of figure, quite regardless of age. It lends height and dignity, that is perhaps why so many women insisted that it was suitable only for the older woman.

BUT DESPITE all the arguments and neglect, here it is again, better and going bigger than ever. It is being used extensively with suits this season and many women are buying tunics of satin, crepe de chine or crepe in light or bright colors to wear with their spring suits. Such a tunic is certainly more dressy and formal than a blouse, however elaborate the latter may be, and the new tunics have all sorts of new details and touches to render them even more attractive and useful.

Teeth 3 shades Whiter

when this condition you can't hide is removed

THERE'S a condition that blasts happiness and stands in the way of success because none of us can forgive or forget stained, unclean teeth and soft receding gums. This condition is known as Bacterial-Mouth and anyone may have it. It is due to millions of germs that sweep into the mouth with every breath. These germs defy the average toothpaste and attack teeth and gums. Kolynos quickly kills these germs and so removes Bacterial-Mouth.

Try the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique* for just 3 days . . . Then note the results.

Teeth look whiter—fully 3 shades. Gums feel firmer, they are healthier. And your mouth tingles with a refreshing, clean taste.

Kolynos cleans teeth and gums as they should be cleaned.

As soon as it enters the mouth, this highly concentrated, antiseptic dental cream gives you a pleasant surprise. It becomes an exhilarating FOAM that is full of life.

This FOAM gets into and cleans out every tiny crevice, pit and fissure. It instantly kills the millions of germs that cause offensive Bacterial-Mouth—that lead to tooth decay, stain, ugly yellow and to gum diseases. (Kolynos kills 190 million germs in 15 seconds.) Moreover, this FOAM keeps on working after you hang up your toothbrush. For 3 hours it continues to cleanse teeth and purify the mouth.

That is why teeth are so easily and so swiftly cleaned down to the beautiful, naked white enamel—without injury.

If you want whiter teeth free from decay, and firm, pink gums, discard the dentifrice that does only half the job. Switch to Kolynos. It will win you in 3 days. Get a tube from any druggist.

*Saves Teeth . . . Saves Money!

The unique action of Kolynos permits the Dry-Brush Technique advocated by leading dentists the way. Its scientific cream (all strength . . . to keep the bristles stiff enough to clean every tooth surface and massage gums properly. Use a half inch of Kolynos on a dry brush, morning and night. Kolynos lasts longer. Teeth look cleaner and whiter. Try this amazing Kolynos Technique.

COLDS
pour germs in handkerchiefs

Handkerchief carried in purse or pocket is constant cause of self-infection—should be discarded.

BE SAFE!
use Kleenex . . . then destroy

DON'T risk flu, pneumonia and other dangerous aftermaths of colds! Latest laboratory experiments now bring definite proof of the health value of Kleenex.

A series of scientific tests prove that millions of disease germs thrive and breed in handkerchiefs used during colds. These germs self-infect the user, causing colds to get worse instead of better. This constant self-infection may cause colds to develop into flu and other menacing diseases.

USE KLEENEX AND DISCARD

Kleenex prevents self-infection because you use it only once and then destroy. No germ-filled handkerchief to carry around in pocket or purse, preserving germs, spreading infection.

Kleenex is a soft, immaculate, super-absorbent tissue. The size of a handkerchief. So gentle, so soothing, that irritation is impossible. So inexpensive that each tissue may be used just once, then discarded.

You buy Kleenex in Cellophane-sealed packages. Each tissue is as sanitary as it looks. No tissue touches your face that isn't clean as clean can be.

The use of Kleenex will materially reduce your laundry bill. It is ideal for children.

Kleenex has many other uses. Beauty experts say these absorbent tissues are the safe, sanitary way to remove cold cream. Being powerfully absorbent, Kleenex picks up all dirt and powder along with cleansing cream.

Ask for Kleenex at any drug, dry goods or department store. Comes in three sizes: 25 cents, 50 cents and $1.00. If you have not tried Kleenex, send for a free trial package to the Kleenex Company, Lake Michigan Building, Chicago, Illinois.

What science says about the ordinary handkerchief

1. It may self-infect the user time after time.
2. Spread infection among others.
3. Infect clothing in which carried.
4. Infect clothing in laundry bags (germs survive for days.)

Bacteriological Tests show:

1. That handkerchiefs used by persons having colds may contain as many as 4,170,000 germs per handkerchief.
2. That organisms representative of those associated with colds, when impregnated upon linen and rinsed in boiling water and soap water were not killed nor appreciably inhibited from growing.

These results are typical of tests performed in the laboratories of Dr. Herman Bender, Chicago Bacteriologist.

MY EXPERIENCES IN THE WORLD WAR

By GEN. JOHN J. PERSHING

Commander-in-Chief, American Expeditionary Forces.

GREAT ALLIED DRIVE URGED BY PERSHING

utilized in a counter-attack against the salient.

It was obvious that a blow at the enemy's line south of Soissons, if successful, would compel him to retire. It would have the effect of threatening his rear so far as that part of his force was concerned. I was very eager that our troops should be allowed to undertake such an attack.

Leaving the suggestion with Gen. Petain, without further discussion, I returned to Paris, arriving June 8. The next morning I called on Prime Minister Clemenceau, and on that morning the fourth phase of the great German offensive started between Montdidier and the Oise. Reports indicated that it was meeting considerable success.

Mentioning this to M. Clemenceau, I asked him what he thought would be the result if Paris should fall.

Clemenceau's Courage

M. Clemenceau replied that he and Mr. Lloyd George had considered that possibility, and had reached the conclusion they would do everything in their power to save Paris, but if it should be lost, they would go on fighting.

"Above Paris is France," he added, "and above France is civilization."

He expressed himself satisfied with the agreement reached at the special conference at Versailles, and I recall distinctly his more than usual graciousness that day as he said: "You need never make an appointment with me at any time, but just come whenever you wish and you shall always see me."

As I was leaving he came to the door with me, and I said: "It may not look encouraging just now, but we are certain to win in the end." He clung to my hand and in a tone that showed the utmost solicitude he replied: "Do you really think that? I am glad to hear you say it."

This was the first and only time that I ever sensed any misgiving in the mind of this resolute man. Notwithstanding our occasional rather heated discussions on the use to be made of American troops, I admired him greatly. It always seemed to me he represented the true spirit of confidence and courage of the French people.

I then motored to Gen. Foch's headquarters at Bombon. We considered my proposal to form an American corps near Chateau Thierry, to which he readily agreed. He spoke especially of the fine work of our troops.

Foch Expresses Views

I asked how a German drive which threatened or perhaps captured Paris would effect the armies and the people. His reply was almost word for word like M. Clemenceau's. They had evidently discussed the possibility of losing Paris. He, too, was certain the armies would go on with the war. Foch spoke so positively and with such evident feeling that I was moved to get up and shake his hand.

I said his assurance was gratifying and that the French people could be certain the American government and people would be with them to the last. Everybody was in a cordial and agreeable mood, and as I departed Foch asked me to come to see him oftener and talk over matters in general, and never to hesitate to let him know when anything turned up that I did not like.

Looking back on those days, one must say that although the French regard their country as the very keystone of the arch of civilization it might have been difficult to have kept them in the war if Paris had fallen.

While no one could have openly suggested any such thought at that time, some French officers felt that it would cause the ministry to fall and be replaced by one in favor of peace.

Back at Chaumont, June 13, I saw Gen. de Robilant who was at that time the Italian military representative on the Supreme War Council, and discussed transportation of our troops to Italy.

While the Italian government was anxious to have our troops, yet so far they had found no sea transportation to bring them over. Mr. Orlando, the prime minister, wanted the American troops sent direct from the States that they might go through Italy by rail to show the people Americans were actually there. Moreover, he wanted them to be other than naturalized Italians for fear the people might doubt their nationality.

Mr. Orlando

When we came to consider the details, Gen. de Robilant proposed that they should be transported from New York by Italian shipping and he entered a lengthy discussion of the plan, by which he was to send over three or four ships, to which I readily agreed.

French Stop Enemy

But it turned out later that the vessels he counted on were already included in the list of those the British were going to use for carrying our troops.

After a delay of about a month, and acting under instructions from Washington, I directed that the advance regiment of the 83d Division, which had recently arrived, should go to Italy by rail.

Meanwhile the 4th and 28th Divisions, en route from the British front to the northeast of France, were stopped at Gen. Foch's request in the vicinity of Villers Cotterets, the object being to concentrate several of our divisions on the west of the Marne salient, primarily as a precaution against another German offensive there, but ultimately for possible use on the offensive.

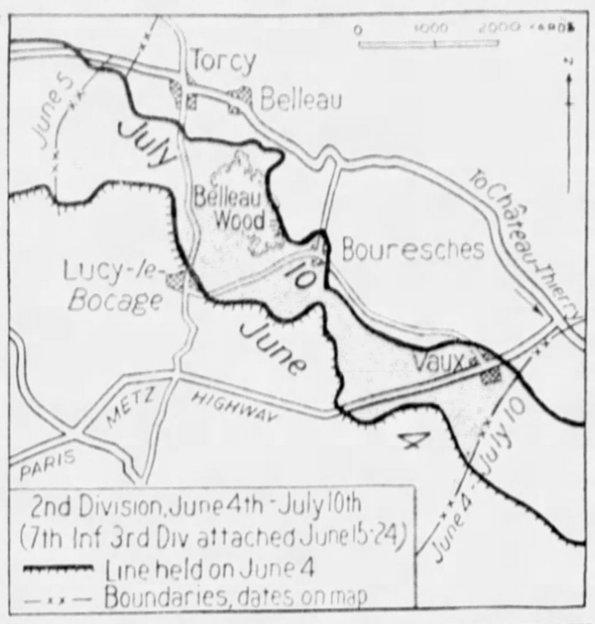
The 2d, 3d, 26th and 42d were in that area, and with the 4th and 28th there was a force equivalent to 12 French divisions, although some of these units were without their artillery.

An encouraging circumstance at the moment was the success of the French in holding Von Hutier's attack on the Montdidier-Noyon front. This fourth phase of the German offensive was an effort not only to widen the vulnerable Marne pocket but to secure the railway between Compiegne and Soissons and open the way to Paris.

The French had anticipated this attack and fought desperately, stubbornly yielding only under great pressure until, on June 11, when, using tanks and quantities of mustard gas, they launched a series of local counter-attacks, by which they were able to advance more than a mile on a seven-mile front.

In view of the remarkable success of the preceding German offensives, the German defeat here, in which they suffered heavy losses, materially encouraged the Allies.

The credit for this brilliant operation by the French must go to Mangin, one of France's greatest generals.



Warm Congratulations

The anniversary of the arrival of our advance contingent in France was the occasion of many congratulations on the part of the French, some of which it seems worth while to record.

"The anniversary of your arrival in France furnishes a happy occasion to address my warmest congratulations to you and the valiant troops which you command and who have so admirably conducted themselves in the recent battles. I beg you to receive the assurance of my best wishes for the continuation of their success.

M. Poincare

"RAYMOND POINCARE."

"On the anniversary of your arrival in France to take command of the American troops, I wish, my dear General, to express to you once more the greatest admiration for the powerful aid brought by your army to the cause of the Allies. With ever increasing numbers the American troops cover themselves with glory under your orders in barring the route of the invader.

"The day is coming when, thanks to the support of your country and the valor of her sons, the enemy, losing the initiative of operations, will be forced to incline before the triumph of our ideals of justice and civilization.

"CLEMENCEAU."

"Your coming to French soil a year ago filled our country with enthusiasm and hope. Accept today the grateful homage of our soldiers for their daily increasing aid on the battlefield brought by their American brothers-in-arms.

"The last battles where the magnificent qualities of courage and military virtue of your troops were demonstrated in so brilliant a manner are a sure guarantee for the future. The day is not far off when the great American Army will play a decisive role, to which history calls this Army on the battlefields of Europe.

"PETAIN."

"A year ago you brought us the American sword. Today we have seen it strike. It is a certain pledge of victory. By it our hearts are more closely united than ever.

"FOCH."

What's the matter with you? Probably not a thing, Milly dear. Chances are you're just as sweet and bright as any other girl—and just as desirable with all the makings in you of fun and friendliness and lasting love. But of course being human, you're not perfect.

Dull-Eyed Wasters Bore Bright-Eyed Workers, Fay King's Opinion

By FAY KING

It often happens that in the early morning hours night-lifers who are just rounding out their evening, meet the early morning workers who are just beginning their day.

The night-lifers imagine that the workers envy them.

Far from it.

There is nothing more unflattering than the critical light of dawn shining on the pasty-faced, bleary-eyed bunch who emerge into the daylight attired in the togs that were made and meant to look best in the glow of artificial light.

Nine out of 10 on their way to work give them only a glance and not a second thought.

Nothing bores a bright-eyed worker more than to glimpse the dull-eyed wasters.

Madge Wonders How Much Her Husband Overheard.

"Dicky!"

I was conscious that even my startled pronunciation of my husband's name was banal and that he would be justified in reading it aright as a subterfuge to gain time for my answer to the query he had put immediately following Philip Veritzen's departure from the hotel dining room. But for an instant I could think of nothing to say. I could only wonder how much he had heard of the colloquy between my employer and myself on the subject of the flowers I meant to wear at Mary's party.

"At your service." My husband bent from the waist in a meticulous bow. "And I'll assuage your evidently burning curiosity right now. How did I get inside this sanctuary, which you evidently figured was closed to all intruders? I walked in through the street door, which evidently by some careless—even criminal—oversight I grant you was left unlocked. How long have I been standing behind you listening to the exchange of sweet nothings between you and that prize old billy goat? Ah, wouldn't you like to know that? I wonder if I'd better tell you or keep you guessing?"

His voice was light, mocking, but there ran through it a touch of the brutality which can be Dicky's when his jealous temper is aroused. It was the goad I needed, however. Before his atrocious little speech I had been abashed, but after it I felt nothing but resentful humiliation, while the old adage concerning a sheep and a lamb kept pushing itself up from the limbo where such proverbs lurk.

I managed a laugh as light and airy as his own and faced him with mocking eyes.

"You are laboring under error, dearest," I cooed. I haven't the slightest curiosity how you got in here. There are several entrances—from the street, from the lobby, and from the rear—all of them unlocked as far as I know. And if you haven't gleaned sufficient information concerning my behavior suppose you linger a minute or two and interview Mr. Seibel, who has only just stepped out of the room. But I must ask you to be brief. I have to put these flowers in their proper places, and you know it fusses me terribly to have anyone around. I have just managed to get rid of Mr. Veritzen, who mistakenly thought that his gift of flowers entitled him to stay around and help in their arrangement." I made my voice slightly derisive. "And——"

"You want me to vamoose, too, even though——"

He broke off abruptly, looking at me steadily as if he were trying to solve a puzzling problem. I gave him as intent a look for my chameleon husband had made another startling change at the end of my little speech. His voice was no longer mocking, his anger appeared to have fled and there was in his voice a sort of disappointed, hurt-little-boy tone that tugged at my heartstrings.

For, though I had told the truth to Philip Veritzen and to Dicky when I said that it fussed me terribly to have anyone around when I was arranging flowers, I never had voiced it to Dicky before being glad to smother my own nervousness and yield to my husband's greater artistic taste upon the rare occasions when he showed an interest in the floral decorations for any home festivity.

With a sudden impulse I went up to him and put my hand compellingly upon his arm.

"Suppose we stop playing at cross purposes," I said softly. "I didn't mean it when I said you would bother me when I was arranging flowers. Because you know whenever I can get you to stand still long enough I am anxious to turn that job over to you. But you said some pretty atrocious things yourself, remember. I think we're quits, however. So won't you take your coat off and get busy with these flowers?"

I made my voice and eyes as appealing as possible, or, rather, I permitted my real feelings to betray themselves. Dicky stared down at me for a long second. Then he gave a short little laugh.

"What do you think I came up here for, idiot?" But his voice was tender. I hauled up another old adage from its lurking place, the one concerning the temperature of iron, and acted upon it.

"There is something I must say to you," I told him, "and I have a few seconds' breathing spell just now. Will you listen?"

Dicky's face darkened.

"Oh, I'll listen all right," he told me, "but I warn you if it deals with your wearing that old buzzard's flowers tonight, everything's all off."

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Expressing Appreciation of Hospitality.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am taking this opportunity to thank you for all the help you have given me in the past. May I ask a few more questions?

When my escort and I have been out with his friends whom I have never met before, how may I tell them that I have enjoyed their company?

LOUISE.

Thank you for your appreciative words—and I bow!

This is a very important occasion for the articulate expression of your appreciation, this occasion when we thank friends of friends for their hospitality. And again, as on most occasions of the expression of our thanks, it is the way we say these thanks, the graciousness and sincerity of our manner of saying them, that counts most.

Say, for instance, "Good-by, Mrs. Allen. And thank you so much for a most happy evening. It was a great pleasure to meet you, and I have enjoyed every minute of the evening," or "Good-by, Mrs. Allen. Thank you so much for inviting me tonight, and thank you so much for a most happy time. I do hope that I am to have the pleasure of seeing you again soon."

An Absurd Social Attitude.

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A claims that a gentleman accompanying a lady, when meeting or passing other men known to him, but unknown to his friend, should not tip his hat if his friends do not show respect to his friend by tipping their hats.

B claims that a gentleman always tips his hat, regardless of what his friends do.

Y. I. D.

B is right—absolutely right. We do not gauge our own manners by what other people do. A's attitude is absurd from every point of view. For instance, if A does not raise his hat, is he "showing respect" to the lady with whom he is? He shouldn't lower his manners so that they descend to those of his friends whom he meets and, incidentally, it does seem incredible . . . doesn't it . . . that the friends or acquaintances whom he passes don't raise their hats when they see that he is accompanied by a lady? It's the rare man, in this day and age, who is as ignorant and ill-mannered as that.

Formal Costuming

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper to wear a hat to a formal dinner party? If so, what kind of hat would look nice with a dress of pink net over satin? A. C. F.

It is not correct to wear a hat with formal evening clothes, the clothes that you would wear to a formal dinner party. Your dress, as you describe it, calls for "no hat."

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Dandruff, While Trivial, Should Not Be Neglected.

One of the most common disorders of the scalp is the familiar trouble universally called dandruff.

A great deal has been written about this disturbance and its causes. Some authorities believe it is due to an infection. They think it is spread from one individual to another by hats, combs and brushes.

Dr. Copeland

Others believe it is due to negligence in the care of the scalp. There is no doubt that neglect plays a part in the continuance of this disease.

Most afflicted persons neglect dandruff and make no effort to rid themselves of it. This is unfortunate because it is not pleasant to see a coat collar covered with its scales.

It is probable that a mild dandruff may be a normal condition. If you have slight dry scaling from the scalp, you need not be alarmed. But if there persists a greasy scaly condition of the scalp, we are dealing with something that requires attention.

An excellent way to control dandruff is by soaking the scalp overnight in olive oil, sweet oil, mineral or almond oil. In the morning, wash the scalp with an abundance of very warm water and soap.

If the scalp is an oily one, use green soap. For a dry scalp, castile soap is preferable. The hair must be thoroughly dried after the washing and then it is well to rub into the scalp some sulphur cream. This may be repeated at least twice a week until the dandruff has dissappeared.

Unfortunately dandruff is such a trivial thing that most persons neglect it entirely. When it gets better, there is little attempt to prevent its recurrence.

Greater care in the hygiene of combs and brushes is only decent. It may help to prevent this condition. Have your own brush and comb and never use those used by others, it is also important for you to keep your own brushes and comb clean and not to loan them to others.

Proper care of the hair is very important. There is nothing more appealing than a head of good hair. To look after the scalp is an important step in preserving it.

Abounding health is another consideration. A diet which includes the mineral carrying vegetables will help to make the hair strong.

Household Hints

Good and cheap sachet powder for bureau drawers, etc.: Mix ½ ounce of lavender flowers with ½ teaspoonful of powdered cloves.

For the knitting bag: two corks are handy for placing on the ends of needles when stopping in the middle of a row, to prevent stitches from coming off.

With so many women taking over practically the whole responsibility of handling the family income, sound home-banking methods are of increasing importance to homemakers. An inexpensive mechanical device that prevents checks from being raised or altered is a sound investment for the woman in the home.

To draw threads in hemstitching easily, scrub them with a wet brush which has been rubbed over a bar of soap.

All uncooked fruit should be washed as soon as it comes into the kitchen. Then when little Johnny or Mary slip into the kitchen for a piece of fruit, it is certain to be thoroughly clean.

To remove discoloration from aluminum without injury, cut up a piece of rhubarb (either fresh or canned) in small pieces and boil it in the discolored utensils until it is clean; afterward rub it up a little for a polish. Apple peelings or a few cranberries are also good.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

An excellent hair tonic can be made by mixing equal portions of castor oil and rubbing alcohol. Add a few drops of the favorite perfume.

If a woman holds up her chest, her chin and her spirits, she is pretty sure to make the beauty grade. No woman is good looking who doesn't appear brave and strong of spirit whose shoulders slump and chest caves in. By assuming an attitude of energy and courage, energy and courage comes tagging along to cheer one on the way.

Hands chap in cold weather because cold absorbs the natural oils of the skin. Winter time is also hard on finger nails, that become brittle and seem to have a special fondness for growing hangnails. A remedy is found in lanoline, which is soon absorbed, so hands can be used afterwards. There are any number of proprietory articles, sold at reasonable prices, which will heal chapped hands in a few applications.

Do you know that warts don't like castor oil. As soon as they appear, dab the oil on every day. Soon it is goodby wart. Honest!

Carbolized vaseline is beneficial to finger nails and finger tips that suffer from the wear and tear of housework. Put on at night, freely, and slip the hands into large-sized cheap white cotton gloves. Biting off hangnails is a bad habit. These painful shreds should be softened by soaking in warm soapsuds and then snipped away with curved needle point scissors.

Fruits are beauty foods. The juice of two oranges together with the juice of half a lemon taken before breakfast will help whiten a sallow complexion. Pears and apples, dates, melons, figs and grapefruit are filled with beauty making material. Fruits are not high in nutritive value, but they are rich in elements that are necessary for the well being of teeth and digestive organs.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of splendid achievement under a high stimulus to the energies and due to a particularly versatile and adaptable quickening of the talents, especially as to literary or creative ambitions. It is a time for pushing with confidence and decisiveness.

A child born on this day should be brilliant intellectually and have its versatile talents supported by a fine stimulus to initiative and keen resourcefulness. It should attain whatever it starts out to get, through its own sagacity and aggressiveness.

Babies GAIN when guarded from Constipation!

BABY isn't gaining his six or eight ounces a week? Constipation may be the reason. It is behind most of a baby's trouble. Colic. Fretfulness. Gas. It keeps Baby from accepting or retaining the proper amount of food.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is good for any baby. It is a prescription for the bowels written by a famous doctor—one who attended over 2500 births without loss of one mother or baby—a record believed unique in American medical history.

Half a teaspoonful of this simple prescription often relieves occasional troubles like that in a few hours. If Baby is bottle-fed or for any other reason is regularly constipated, give half a teaspoonful daily until the little fellow is happy; gaining as he should.

The pleasant, syrupy flavor of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin commends it to children. Its gentle action makes it ideal for women. It doesn't sicken. It cannot gripe. So it is a blessing to elderly people. And it is thoroughly effective for the most robust man. All druggists.

Hinchman's Prediction. | Cooper Awaiting Offer.
Daylight Ball to Return. | Rube Ferns Not Dead.
Players Deals Affected. | Petrolle May Retire.

END OF CLASS AA NIGHT GAMES SEEN

AS FAR AS the larger minor leagues are concerned the end is not far off for night baseball, in the opinion of Bill Hinchman, veteran scout of the Pittsburgh club, who left yesterday for the Paso Robles training camp with Bill Regan and Augustin Dugas in charge. Bill doubts that the nocturnal pastime will last even through the present year in that particular part of organized ball. He thinks the Class AA loops will decide to abandon it for the sake of their own best business interests.

Bill Hinchman

It is not because of a belief that the night games will not continue to draw profitable crowds after the novelty has worn off that Hinchman sees an early finish. He bases his opinion largely on a different business reason, this being the possible discovery by the big minors that if they do not give up the practice of playing under artificial light it will eventually cut heavily into their main source of revenue and their only chance for a balance on the right side of the ledger—the sale of players to the major leagues.

THE BUCCANEER IVORY hunter points out that the clubs in the "Double A" circuits have been receiving huge prices from the majors for their outstanding players. These sales have saved them from heavy financial losses and have represented their principal or only profits. But such prices cannot be expected to continue, Hinchman says, unless there is an early return to daylight ball.

"Buying a minor league ball player is a big enough gamble even when you get a look at him in daylight," Bill remarked, "and it's a longer chance than the proverbial purchase of a pig in a poke when you buy one whom you have seen playing only at night. There is no way of telling if a player who is making a good record in night ball will be worth even a nickel for daylight play in the big leagues.

"BESIDES, EVEN if the player has the required natural ability, he is not getting the right kind of training or preparation for major league service when he is kept playing at night. That suggests another angle, too, for what good will it do big league clubs to send young players back to the larger minors for further seasoning if they are to play only night ball there?

"It would be only a waste of time, as night ball cannot improve a youngster for daylight play in faster company. The big leagues cannot be expected to continue paying enormous prices for young players when there is so much additional doubt as to their real ability, and I believe that rather than lose those big prices the 'Double A's' soon will give up night ball. They'll have to do so for self-protection or they'll kill their own market."

HINCHMAN is rarely enthusiastic, but he approaches that state when he discusses this year's Pirates. He says a greatly improved defense is assured with Tommy Thevenow at short-stop and the pitching staff as a whole is stronger than it was in 1930, and he just can't see how the Bucs can miss being pennant contenders from the start. Bill is one of baseball's leaders in long service with one club. This is his seventeenth season with the Pirates, and he is still as valuable on the club as he was in his playing days, when he was one of the best hitters in the big show.

BEFORE THE SECOND Pirate squad started Westward, Hinchman was greeted by another Pirate star of the bygone in the person of Wilbur Cooper, who came to the Bucs three years before Bill, or in 1912, and from the same minor league club, Columbus.

Wilbur Cooper

The veteran southpaw, who celebrated his thirty-ninth birthday anniversary on Tuesday, is a free agent after finishing the 1930 season in the Texas League, and has made no plans for the 1931 season, but he is keeping himself in fine shape and will be prepard to jump into baseball work as soon as an offer that strikes his fancy comes along.

COOPER THINKS THAT the new ball is going to prove a life-saver for a number of old pitchers who were about ready to pass out but who will be enabled to regain some of their former effectiveness with the heavier stitching giving them a better grip on the pill, meaning an improvement in curves and control.

Many baseball followers hereabouts believe that Cooper himself, under the new conditions, could do a better job of pitching than several of the old-timers who are still hanging on to major league payrolls. At least, "Coop" ought to make a good coach for young hurlers, with his long experience and vast store of slab knowledge, and some club in the big show might do worse than give him a chance in such a capacity.

THERE APPEARS TO have been a case of mistaken identity behind the report sent out by various news services and published under big headlines in the New York newspapers that Jim (Rube) Ferns, former welterweight fistic champion, had died there Sunday. The real Rube Ferns is very much alive, it is learned from David McDonald, secretary to Philip Murray, international vice president of the United Mine Workers, who makes his headquarters in this city. Ferns is an international organizer for the United Mine Workers, and all the organizers work under the jurisdiction of Vice President Murray.

SECRETARY M'DONALD says Rube has been reporting to the local office regularly in connection with his field duties, and that word received from him since the New York report was first published throughout the country on Monday prove the Ferns who died in the East was not the former welterweight champion.

As a matter of fact, Rube has not been in the East for some time. The scene of his activities at present is Excelsior Springs, Mo., and local officials of the United Mine Workers say they have been in communication with him at the Royal Hotel there. The old fighter, who is a native of Pittsburgh, now makes his home in Scammon, Kan.

MOST BOXING FANS are of the opinion that tomorrow night will mark the end of the ring career of Billy Petrolle if the latter sticks to his avowed intention of retiring in the event that he is beaten again by King Tut in their bout at New York. Tut has won the last three times in a series of five meetings in four years.

Billy Petrolle

In September of 1929, Tut gave Petrolle such a beating that Billy went into retirement for five months. Then he made a great comeback, winning all but one of 17 fights, and defeating, among others, such topliners as Jimmy McLarnin and Tony Canzoneri. But in another tilt with Tut in St. Paul four weeks ago Billy was knocked out in 24 seconds, and this evidence of Tut's continued mastery makes ring followers look for a fourth straight victory for the King tomorrow night.

AS FOR PETROLLE'S own vaunted punch, Tut doesn't fear it, he says. The King was once floored by Petrolle, but declares it wasn't as hard a blow as he once received from Young Jack Thompson, a right to the chin. "That was the hardest punch I ever stopped," Tut is quoted. "Yet, for some reason, I didn't go down. I thought my neck was broken, but I managed to weave out of danger and went the distance. Thompson got the decision. People who never have boxed probably do not realize that a knockdown may not hurt a fellow as much as a blow that goes unnoticed by the crowd."

BULLDOGS MAKE FINAL BOW AT GARDEN

By CARL W. SHATTO.

Another gripping chapter in that thrilling best seller, "The International League Hockey Race," will be inscribed on Duquesne Garden ice this evening when the Windsor Bulldogs meet the Yellow Jackets in a battle that will mark the formers' final appearance of the season here.

The chapter will deal with revolutions and villains, and in tonight's assault on hockey royalty the local puckmen will play the villains' roles.

A few months ago the Jackets' station in International League circles was so low that they were regarded as ice beggars, eagerly grasping such victory crumbs as were tossed their way by the higher and haughtier members of the loop. While the downtrodden Jackets were furtively peeping out of their home in the loop's cellar, Roy D. Schooley, long experienced in the business of starting hockey uprisings, decided to start another revolution. Roy D. equipped the "common herd" with formidable weapons in the form of better, more experienced players. He gave his "serfs" courage by spending freely of an apparently limitless supply of cash. And then he sat back to watch things happen.

REVOLUTION SUCCESS

The situation now prevailing is conclusive proof that in organizing his ice revolution Schooley builded well. His Jacket upstarts, new to International League social circles, are mingling with the loop's elite and calmly and persistently advancing toward the throne. The hockey royalty of today is badly shaken as it visualizes itself as the hockey rabble of tomorrow.

Windsor is entitled to recognition as hockey royalty because the Bulldogs have been in second place ever since the campaign opened. A Pittsburgh victory tonight is likely to drop Windsor to fifth place and bring to a successful climax the ice revolution that got under way months ago.

Should the Jackets win tonight the standings tomorrow will show Windsor in second place, a point ahead of Pittsburgh, in third place, and two points ahead of London and Cleveland, tied for the fourth notch. Windsor, however, has played one game more than has Pittsburgh, London or Cleveland. By the time the rivals have played the same number of games, the Bulldogs are likely to be in fifth place, with Pittsburgh, London and Cleveland sharing the second, third and fourth berths.

RACE EXTREMELY CLOSE

With the finish of the campaign only about three weeks away, Buffalo is the only team certain of capturing one of the four title play-off berths. The race is the closest in the circuit's history, and the Pittsburgh, Windsor, London and Cleveland managers can do nothing except tighten their holds on their smelling salts and their hopes.

The Bulldogs realize that a defeat tonight may leave them out in the cold insofar as a place in the title series is concerned. The Jackets realize that a setback may ruin their play-off chances. The victory incentive could not be greater, and the season series record of two wins, two ties and two defeats each indicates that the rivals could not be much more evenly matched.

The Jackets probably will rule slight favorites because of their record nine-game winning streak. The Bulldogs have lost two and tied one in their last three starts.

President and Manager Schooley is spending sleepless nights trying to think up ways and means of enhancing his Jackets' play-off berth chances. His latest move is to employ a physician to give his athletes violet-ray treatments each day.

Lloyd McIntyre and Milt Halliday, wingmen, who were at home resting while their mates were invading Detroit, Buffalo and Syracuse, probably will return to action tonight. The probable lineup:

Pittsburgh.		Windsor.
Cox	G	Benedict
Fraser	L. D.	Arbour
Reise	R. D.	Bellemer
Rodden	C.	Haynes
McCurry	L. W.	Duguid
Gregg	R. W.	Robinson

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOONS OF YESTERDAY: HENRY MARSTON PREDETERMINES SEX BEFORE BIRTH—Marston, who has correctedly determined the sex of 44 children before birth, bases his theory of predetermination of sex upon several scientific truths proved by him after long and diligent study and application. His successful prophecies have attracted much attention in the vicinity of his home, Coushatta, La., and they are verified by scores of his townspeople. COYOTES ARE OMNIVOROUS—Contrary to the popular belief that the coyote, or small prairie wolf of Western United States, is strictly a meat-eating animal, it has been observed that in some sections they are fond of watermelons, corn, apples and berries. All coyotes, when pressed for food, will eat cedar berries, ground cherries and hipberries.

SUPPORT PLANS FOR NEW LOOP

By TOM BIRKS.

Two sections with eight well-balanced teams probably will form the personnel of the Honus Wagner Monongahela Valley League this season. Fourteen managers attended the initial meeting of the Mon-Yough loop last evening at the Hotel Main, Monongahela, and with baseball talk very much in evidence, a season of league baseball seems to be assured.

With Floyd France and Joe Tabary showing lots of interest, the managers of that section appear to be behind the efforts of Wagner to organize another loop in the fast growing list of baseball leagues.

Among those present were Joe Tabary, Monongahela; Joe Montana, New Eagle; Bill Licklighter, Van Vooris; Alex Smith, Finleyville; William Roney, Riverview; William Dixon, Bentleyville; Jim Allegre, Bunola, and Freddy Ricco, Monessen.

Many other teams were represented at the gathering, the first of its kind in that section for a long time. Only the formal business of the league was discussed. Joe Tabary will be the secretary pro-tem until the next meeting, when officials will be elected for the season.

The Wagner Tri-County Basketball League with teams from Monessen and Monongahela, has been one of the outstanding loops of the winter season, and Floyd France, one of the most popular scribes in the Monongahela Valley, states that the baseball loop will have the same success.

There will be a meeting of the Panhandle and Keystone baseball leagues at Gloko Hall, Heidelberg, tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. All teams in the district are requested to be on hand. Honus Wagner will be in charge of the meeting. Cecil Kirwin, Heidelberg, Carnegie, and other teams take notice.

WALKER WINNER OVER RISKO

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 26.—(INS.)—Mickey Walker's bid for recognition in the heavyweight ranks may be no more seriously rated today, but 20,000 customers who banked Madison Square Garden Stadium last night were willing to grade the New Jersey "Bulldog" as the best all around performer in the ring after his second slashing 10-round victory over Johnny Risko, Cleveland.

In this judgment they agreed with 24 of the sports critics.

Walker beat Risko from bell to bell and in the ninth and tenth rounds had the Cleveland baker on Queer street. Walker won eight of 10 rounds, Risko taking the fifth with the fourth even.

Walker, who scaled 165 to 194 for Risko, was in marvelous fighting condition.

Pa Stribling, who promoted the show, took it on the chin for approximately $5,000. The net intake was said to be $35,000. Walker fought on a 50 per cent basis, guaranteeing Risko $7,500. Schmeling and Pa's son, who gave exhibitions, were guaranteed $5,000 each.

The cost of prelims, transportation for the headliners, office help, and incidentals, helped to make a total of $41,000.

Susce, Goldberg Set to Join Minors

George Susce and Dick Goldberg, Pittsburgh district baseball stars, will leave soon to join minor league clubs. Susce, whose home is in Oakland, and who has been tested as a catcher by the Phillies, will depart for Kansas City tomorrow night to join the American Association club there. Goldberg, New Kensington dentist, is to report to the Chattanooga Club of the Southern Association next Thursday. The Washington Americans hold an option on his services. He has been performing in the outfield, but aspires to play first base.

THE LOWDOWN ON THE BUCS

By THE BENCHWARMER.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 26.—Well, folks, I'll be glad when the second squad gets here and we start to play some games. Julie didn't give me much of a tumble last spring, but I'll be in there this spring if I have to shove a star out of the lineup.

Andy Bednar came up with one today that brought a laugh, but there was only a few of us rookies heard it. You see last year Andy was about as green as lettuce. He was out of a Class D horse and buggy circuit. Jule put him roomin' with a couple of birds that kinda looked down on Andy. They kept riding him with smart cracks about what Bush League he would like to go back to.

Andy came in for a rub-down yesterday. You see he doesn't talk much, but he knows a thing or two. He took the ridin' last year without complaining. This year he is the well-dressed man about town, but he's just as nice a kid as ever. Well, Andy knocked some of the boys over when he cracked to Doc Jorgensen:

"Say, Doc, I wonder what's become of them two birds that were shippin' me to the sticks last year?"

It was a bull's-eye, because neither is with the club.

KEN HIGH FIVE TAKES ON SWISSVALE

Probable Lineups

New Kensington.		Swissvale.
Wilson (C)	F	Herring
Krisket	F	Groat
Dayoub	C	Castillo
Susek	G	Fullen
Bell	G	R. Emerick

By JESS CARVER

The defending champions of the W. P. I. A. L., New Kensington's Section I quintet, will seek to join the big parade of teams into the second round of league's annual championship elimination tournament tonight. Last night, New Castle clambered to the second rung of the title-ladder by elimination of Ambridge. Tonight, the Ken-Hi entry takes on Swissvale, of Section XI.

Ed Paulie.

Neither of tonight's combatants sports an unbeaten record. New Kensington has won 16 games and lost three. Swissvale has taken down 13 victories and been defeated half a dozen times. Last year, Swissvale was eliminated in the first round of the tournament by Duquesne, 28 to 26.

Both coaches, Carl Glock, of New Kensington, and Ed Paulie, of Swissvale, have done good enough to win their teams this year. Paulie has a star of the first rank in Ross Emerick, guard, who scores well, handle the ball very cleverly and possesses a good basketball head.

Paired off with this chap tonight, at the other guard, will be Fullen. Castillo will start at center and Groat and Herring will be in at the forwards.

DAYOUB BACK

New Kensington has Dayoub, all-tourney center of 1930, and Whitey Wilson, an accurate shooting forward back for duty tonight. Dayoub has been playing a fine brand of ball for the champions all season. Wilson's running mate this year is Krisket, and Susek and Bell are playing the guards in the place of the star pair of last year, Laughlin and Ames.

The winner of tonight's contest will clash with either New Brighton or Ford City in a second round affair March 9.

Ambridge Beaten

A bad pass, thrown late in the final period, and intercepted and converted into a field goal by an alert New Castle guard, cost Moe Rubenstein's Ambridge High School team, Section II champion, a ball game last night. New Castle eliminated Ambridge in the initial round struggle in a nip-and-tuck game, 25 to 24.

At the time the ill-fated pass was started, Ambridge was ahead 23 to 22, with less than two minutes left to play. The boys were taking the ball down the floor, and New Castle's zone defense was none too firm, so the chances are that the Bridgers would have counted another point on their own side had they retained possession of the ball. N. Uram, guard member of New Castle's Uram brother act, grabbed the ball, dribbled to the hoop and hooked in a two-pointer to put his team ahead. A foul by the center, Lasky, made it 25, and the best Ambridge could do was shave the two-point margin down to one before the ball game sputtered and died.

MATZIE STARS

The teams were all even at the end of the first period, each having four points. At the half, Ambridge was ahead by 14 to 11, due mainly to some ultra-accurate sharpshooting by Forward Matzie, who took five shots at the basket and made four good. Capt. Huck Yoos and Zwatykanich each popped one field goal and Matzie and Yoos added foul points.

New Castle's points were garnered by Lasky, a pretty fair center, who bagged three field goals, and by Johnny Uram, who threw one. Johnny was good for a single foul, and the other forward, Shaffer, counted two.

The Ambridge attack added another field goal as the third period opened when Yoos dropped in a lone one from the side, and Eddie Gutowski bagged a foul to boost the Bridge Workers' lead to six points at 17-11. The apparently safe advantage melted rapidly as the speedy Castle quintet uncorked a sustained drive that netted three goals from the floor and a foul, sending the Lawrence Countians into the final period with an 18-17 lead.

SMALL LEAD LASTS

That one point held up, despite desperate and heroic efforts by Ambridge to beat it down. Matzie, after missing one try, scored another goal and Yoos hooked in a tough one to eventually effect a tie at 22-all. Eddie Gutowski, who played a fine defensive and floor game, swung the advantage to his team's side with a foul, but N. Uram counted his game-saving

ENS TO DRILL PIRATES IN HITTING TODAY

Standing Room, Smoking Banned by Commission at Local Boxing Shows

BUCS' MANAGER PLEASED WITH WORKOUT

By CHARLES J. DOYLE.

PASO ROBLES, Cal., Feb. 26.—The weleome sound of the ball and bat will be heard in Paso Robles today as the Pirates engage in the first hitting drill of the season. Manager Ens announced this morning he would stage a batting drill for the edification of the infielders, outfielders and catchers with Eval Wilcox also stepping into the picture before by right of home-run conquest.

Ens had intended to devote most of the work to pitching drills and other forms of exercise like soccer, volley ball, arm and the like, but the weather has been so good that the sharpshooters, particularly the youngsters, are able to put something on the ball. The idea for the early batting spree, however, came out of the fact that the camp is loaded with players who are not pitchers or catchers.

APPROPRIATE STUNT

On the crowd are many infielders, a couple of outfielders and five catchers. So what could be more appropriate than a batting session. Hence Pie Traynor will lead to the plate a crew of batters composed of Moskil, Piet, Gooseberger, Sever, Sankey, Vaughn, McClanahan, Hemsley, Phillips, Bird and Meadey. There will be plenty of pitchers to serve the hitters. Twelve veterans and rookies are on the scene and Johnny Gee of the Hoolerees, shapshooters are keen to show the boss what they possess in the way of speed and curves.

Manager Ens was not altogether surprised when Big Heinie Adam Comorosky was not among those present when the second squad joined Gee in Pittsburgh yesterday. His doubtless knew the Polish flyer and Owner Dreyfuss were at loggerheads over Commy's holding out for the coming season. Adam created a big season in the last campaign with his bat being responsible for many a Pirate victory, while in the field looked like the best left fielder in the league.

FRENCH AWAITED

Commy's holdout stunt, however, is not regarded as serious as the situation surrounding Larry French, who is still to be heard from in Paso Robles. Larry is sawing wood at his home in Oregon, but he is apt to put away his saw soon and hook up with the others. The club needs the left-hander. He loves baseball, so what could be more natural than a return to the fold at some time in the near future. French by the way has given his employers a hard time in the course of the years he has been ordered to report to camp.

Ens was thrilled with over the two-hour workout of yesterday. There was so much done at the ball orchard the two hours went past in a hurry. An infield drill was the high spot of the long session. The brush on the diamond brought five youngsters into the picture. Moskil operated at first base, Piet at second, Sankey and Geissberger at short and Sever at third. The three stranders were loaded with pep and Ens was smiling over their fine actions as he batted the ball around the infield.

TRACK RECORDS BROKEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Two new world records were on the books, eight of the nation's best wore their first National A. A. U. championship medals, while six others were in possession of their second successive title today as the result of indoor track and field championships held in Madison Square Garden last night.

Percy Beard, a long-striding youngster from Alabama Poly, clipped one-fifth of a second off the existing world record for the 70-yard high hurdles. He beat Lee Seaman, of the University of Illinois, co-holder of the record, in :08 5-10. The University of Pennsylvania medley relay team, with the diminutive Carl Coan running the anchor lap, slashed 5 1-5 seconds off the eight-year-old record in the one-and-seven-eighths medley relay time to defeat Bates College in 7:30 2-10. The old record was hung up by a quartet from the Illinois Athletic Club.

The 1930 champions swept through the field events, Harold Osborn repeated in the standing high jump, Anton Burg turned back Osborn and a classy field of youngsters in the running high jump. William Werner took the standing broad jump.

Howard Spencer, of Geneva College, was Burg's leading rival in the running high jump. He cleared the bar at 6 feet 5 inches to capture second place, and forced Burg to leap 6 feet 6 inches to win.

The Illinois Athletic Club retained its team championship, scoring 16 points.

Building Up Big Fights

By IKE DORGAN,
The Man Behind Tex Rickard's Fistic Ballyhoos.

CHAPTER XI.

The Willard and Dempsey battle made money for Rickard, but nothing like Tex had counted on.

The crowd that was to be got away from Tex entirely. So certain were Toledo citizens and Rickard, too, that the town would be hopelessly overburdened with the innocents that hotels, all of them, sent out printed warnings to their usual drummer guests not to hit Toledo. There would be no room. As it was, the newspapermen who had not been lucky enough to get quarters in the mansion that Tex had leased were crowding into hotel rooms until some of them had to take pot luck on the floors. It was just like national convention time. Publishers, newspaper owners, the giants of Wall street, bankers and railroad presidents were making Rickard's life a hell with their requests for accommodations.

Damon Runyon.

All of these preliminaries seemed to indicate a record-breaking crowd. There was Toledo to be counted on. Surely every man and woman in Toledo was going to the fray. It was the event of their lives and might never come again. They'd attend, never fear.

ENTER TOM BODKIN

The politicians were clowning Tex all over the lot, too. They wanted to hear him somehow and Tex, finding himself [illegible]

THE BEDS THAT FAILED

Rickard looked upon this as a smart move on the part of McCarney, and the hotel people were for pinning a chafing dish on Rickard's pride chest for his efforts in relieving congestion—that was to come!

Natives looked on with startled eyes as they watched the big trucks coming into town loaded to the skies with bedding. It was conceded on all hands that McCarney was in line for a fortune. Happy thought that had hit him between the eyes! He had 1,500 cots installed in one building alone two weeks before the fight.

Then McCarney and Bodkin made daily trips to the railroad station to see the trains come in. They were reviving an old rural habit. The scheduled trains snorted in, but the only persons that were getting off were the engineers with their oil cans, the conductors and the flagmen. Something had gone wrong with Tex's customers. They just weren't coming, that's all.

And then it was that the railroad people dropped the bomb in Rickard's lap. That one about "no special trains." Well, of course, that nailed Rickard's show to the old barn door. He'd have to depend on automobile trade and the natives. Things didn't look so good for that 100,000 capacity arena being filled.

Tex Rickard began to rub his chin in deep thought. But he gave little outward evidence of his worry, if worry there was.

BAT NELSON'S BATH

The night before the fight, McCarney and Bodkin opened up their hop joints for "business." Their record for guests accommodated still stands. There were three—McCarney, Bodkin and myself. The great housing bubble popped off right in their faces. I knew then that Rickard's big arena wasn't going to bulge from overcapacity the next day.

And those Toledo natives, on whom Tex had counted. Did they come to the arena? They did. Did they enter? They did—NOT. They backed up against Rickard's barbed wire entanglements and went into the business of selling gum, cushions, hot dogs, fried chicken, sunshades, fans, weenies and lemonade.

When Tex saw them that day, he all but swallowed his dollar cigar. But Nelson, who was "covering" the fight for some Western paper, hoping to save expense money, pitched a tent near the arena. He lived in it. The night before the battle, Larney Lichtenstein and another fellow made a barrel of circus lemonade. They placed it near the arena to cool off during the night. The next morning, Bat awakening in the 120 degree heat, looked around for a swimming hole. He ran across the barrel of lemonade. "Fresh water," he thought to himself. Whipping off his clothes he jumped in and sported around in the pink stuff for 10 minutes and came out again. The lemonade was sold at 10 cents per glass that afternoon, just the same.

THE GREAT SAHARA

The hotels had kept on sending out warning to the drummers and the advance agents to keep out of Toledo that there would be hell popping on the day before the battle and that a room couldn't be had for love or money.

Tex hadn't told them about "No special trains."

The day of the fight! That never-to-be-forgotten oven of a ringside—120 in the sun!

I pitied the men assigned to "cover" that fight. Tex tried to ease their thirst by serving bottled beer, soda pop and even plain water. By the time that water was relayed to them in old buckets it had gone a bit to the bilge.

Tammany Young and One-Eye Connelly, famous gate-crashers, turned out to be downy-winged angels before the scorching day was over. They turned friendly for the first time in their portal-busting days and became water boys of song and story.

If you run across a picture of that fight you can see the newspaper boys at the ringside, with their handkerchiefs trailing from under their hats down their necks to ward off the sun that blazed like a red-hot iron. It was a spot in deepest Africa.

BELL CAUSES CONFUSION

I missed my brother, Tad, who sat between Damon Runyon and Hype Igoe. I found him and Tiny Maxwell, famous sports editor and former football star, under the ring in utter collapse.

They both passed out after trying to watch Tony Biddle and a number of Marines going through a wild bayonet drill, in full choker uniform, as the canvas fairly smoked under their blistering feet.

When that bayonet drill was completed they stretched a second canvas over the floor and it was the anchor ropes on this that caused all the rumpus over the "time" in that famous first round, in which Willard was floored seven times.

Willard was on the floor and Ollie Pecord, the referee, actually counted "10" over Jess. Pecord suddenly saw Warren Barbour, Joe Bannon and other official timekeepers signaling him. He ran over and then it was that Barbour told him that the round had ended while record was counting over Jess, but that when he tried to ring the bell, he found it fouled by the anchor ropes of that second canvas.

Runyon, who had bet on a first-round knockout to be scored by Dempsey, forgot all his Spanish War Veterans' reserve and dignity, jumped up and down into the air, waving his arms like a Piute, yelling:

"I win myself $3,800! I'm a rich man. I win myself $3,800."

RUNYON'S TOUGH BREAK

Of course, there was great joy all around him. It isn't often that a fortune walks up and slaps a news writer across the cheek.

Dempsey was out of the ring and half way up the aisle on a rush to his dressing room before Pecord was warned of the mistake. The fight was ordered on again and poor Runyon sank down in his chair, crushed. "Thirty-eight hundred winner!" It didn't go. That $3,800 and his own $560 made a difference of $4,300 in Runyon's life, and I might say he has never been the same since.

He got the same sort of a break at Miami, when he bet $500 that Phil Scott would win in one round over Sharkey, "fouls to count."

There was $6,000 in the balance. Had Lou Magnolia disqualified Sharkey for the alleged foul in that first round, Runyon might again have been the "richest" writer of them all. He was wished out of more than $10,000 all told.

DUKES BEATEN BY W. VA. IN OVERTIME

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Bartrug's free throw in the last minute of regulation play pulled West Virginia up to a 29-29 tie with Duquesne in a thrilling basketball game here last night, after which the Mountaineers stepped out to win in the extra period, 38-35.

The Dukes worked a revolving offense on the Mountaineers to gain a 17-10 lead in the first half, but the locals knotted the count before the visitors were able to tally another point at the start of the second half.

The lead alternated several times after the count had been tied at 17-17. The Dukes were handicapped late in the fray when McGeever, their center, was banished because of four personal fouls.

Bartrug scored the victory points for the Mountaineers in the overtime. The lineup:

West Virginia—38	Duquesne—35
Lewis	Bertucci
Bartrug	McGeever
Carter	Stephens
Watson	Parry

Substitutions—West Virginia—Field goals—Doyle 5, Sortet 2, Bartrug 4, Dinsfeld 2, Watson, Benedict, Abele 2, McGeever 4, Stephens 4, Parry. Duquesne—West Virginia 12. Referee—Max Rannum. Umpire—Beggs Snyder.

GENEVA NOSED OUT

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., Feb. 26.—Grove City College staged a thrilling comeback against Geneva College in an extra period game here last night and obtained revenge for the defeat handed them by the Covenanters on the Crimson floor earlier in the season. The score was 36 to 35. Rockel, a substitute, was the hero, getting the winning field goal with a minute of play remaining.

BISONS TRIUMPH

MEADVILLE, Pa., Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Bethany had gained a 26-to-9 lead in the first half of a basketball game with Allegheny here last night before the Methodists sensed danger and aroused themselves into doing some scoring. The Bison advantage could not be overcome, however, and the West Virginians carried away a 45-to-32 victory.

WASH-JEFF BEATEN

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 26.—A spirited rally in the second half enabled the Wittenberg College quintet to defeat the W. & J. quintet, 36-19, here last night. The Presidents held the goals even in the first half but were unable to maintain the fast pace.

SCHOOL CHAMPS IN BIG TEST

and game-winning bucket, sending Ambridge down to defeat for the second year in a row in the first round.

Matzie, with a dozen points, was the high individual scorer of the game. Ambridge fell down when the boys failed to nurse their big lead in the third quarter and when they slipped into a bad passing orgy later on, when good passes might have meant the ball game. There was little to choose between the man-for-man defense of the losers and the none too tight zone defense of New Castle, although the latter was a bit more difficult to crack. Ambridge making most of its goals from shots taken from what is technically known as "out in front."

The game was witnessed by another big crowd, which came very close to numbering 3,000. Both New Castle and Ambridge adherents became irate as the officials, Referee Ruttenbush and Umpire Graham, appeared to be having a bad night. The arbiters failed to work together as well as they might have, which did the game little good. The lineup:

New Castle—25		Ambridge—24
J. Uram	F	Zwatykanich
Shaffer	F	Matzie
Lasko	C	Yoos
J. Uram	G	Gutowski
Reiber	G	Michelosen

EVENING SUN-TELEGRAPH MARKETS

Stocks Advance — Local Market Steady

STOCK MARKET MAKES FRESH UPSWING

U. S. Steel Sent to Best Level of Year, But Bulls Concentrate on Electrics

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—(AP.)—Having shaken off a load of impending liquidation, the stock market moved forward afresh today.

U. S. Steel common, which bulls had been holding in reserve of late, was suddenly jacked up to the best levels of the new year, but buoyancy again concentrated on the electric power issues. Some of the steels, electrical and railway equipments and miscellaneous manufacturing issues made good headway, but most of the rails, oils, rubbers, coppers and merchandising issues held back. A few soft spots were uncovered.

The market generally seemed to be impelled primarily by its own momentum, since little in the way of forward stimulus was provided by the day's news. With the expected technical reaction of the previous session out of the way, however, traders had an opportunity to consider the mildly cheerful mid-week business statistics which appeared yesterday, particularly the relatively favorable weekly report of electric power production, and the steady if gradual improvement in steel making.

Some brokerage houses have taken a precautionary attitude in view of the almost steady advance of the past three weeks. During that period the list has had only two substantial setbacks. Nevertheless, speculative sentiment in Wall street remains preponderantly bullish, acknowledging that the markets recovery has run well ahead of the pickup in business, but pointing out that troublesome situations are out of the way and liquidation and stock now for sale can be disposed of leisurely, so there is little in sight at the moment to check the advance.

It is widely felt, however, that the market will have a real test after a few weeks, when it becomes apparent whether the recovery in business is only seasonal and whether an unusually dull summer is in prospect.

Call money continued a little firmer, with little available under the official rate of 2½ per cent. Two per cent money would not be surprising after the turn of the month, which should cause a substantial flow of funds to the interior.

New International Bank Is Proposed

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, was said in unusually well-informed circles here today to have submitted to Gov. Moret of the Bank of France a plan for creation of a new international financial institution.

Other European bank heads were understood to have been consulted also in the project which would be distinct from but operating with the Bank of International Settlements at Basel. It would have the object of facilitating long-term credit operations.

Railroads Report Lower Earnings

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The first 18 railroads to report January earnings had net operating income aggregating $8,745,000, a decrease of 36.3 per cent from the $13,738,000 reported by the same carriers in January, 1930. The figure also showed a decrease of 51.9 per cent from the $18,211,000 reported for January, 1929. The same railroads had net operating income of $15,564,000 in December.

General Motors Unit in Merger

Oppenheim-Collins Quarter Sales Off

Oppenheim-Collins & Co. net sales for the quarter ended January 31, were $4,800,899 comparing with $5,508,357 in the like period in 1930. Leased departments' sales were $174,245, against $204,596 a year ago.

GRAIN MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 26.—Influenced by forecasts of rain or snow in parts of the spring wheat belt, grains averaged lower early today. There were also reports that Australia was dumping wheat on European markets at lower prices. Opening at ¼ cent off to ⅛ up, wheat afterward surged further. Corn started unchanged to ⅜ higher, and subsequently declined.

Radio's Profits for 1930 Expected to Cover Preferred Dividend

Wall Street was expecting the Radio Corporation report for last year would be made available by the end of the week. Whether the current strength in the stock is by way of discounting a better showing than had been anticipated remains to be seen, but those usually well informed did not appear to be over-confident on that score. Radio extended its advance about a point yesterday on top of its rise of 4 points on Tuesday, but the stock was decidedly irregular when selling swept over the general list in the afternoon. It is now expected that the corporation's report when it appears shortly will show net sufficient to approximately cover preferred dividend requirements.

Acute weakness in Warner Brothers has naturally served to arouse a good deal of discussion relative to the outlook for the company. Only a short while back the stock was one of the strong features of the market, having participated actively in the early stages of the recent advance. Selling which has been most persistent since the latter part of last week has been looked upon with a great deal of significance, particularly since the bulk of it has been coming from a special source. One trader is understood to have liquidated upward of 100,000 shares over the last few days. One story going the rounds had it that there had been a marked contraction in attendance figures since the turn of the year.

Measuring the achievements of the market since the inception of this current the upward phase by precedent of the past, there is not any wide margin left for further advance before a reaction of sizeable proportions might be expected. In crossing 186, the Dow-Jones industrial averages exceeded a recovery of one-third of the total amount lost during the 93-point decline from September to December-last year. In the important intermediate recoveries of the market since the crash in 1929, approximately 50 per cent of the preceding decline has been regained without exception. This would entail an advance to the 200 mark in these set of averages. At the high points of Tuesday's upturn, the averages were at 196.96. The virtual approximation of this point makes for decided caution at this stage.

"If the tape tells anything," said one trader in commenting on the recent action of the market, "it says rather plainly that some of the big shorts have been taking a dose of bitter medicine over the last week or so." This observer was of the opinion that the amateur shorts had taken theirs in the early stages of the rise. But Tuesday's heavy buying in a scattering of stocks that had been among the principal targets of the bears for months, namely Westinghouse, Anaconda Copper, American and Foreign Power and large scale buying yesterday in TransAmerica, spelled to him the closing out of the position of one of the last of the bear crowd to leave the scene of operations several weeks ago. Judging by the recent tame action of stocks like Case, Worthington Pump and Vanadium, he ventured the guess that most of the other bears had been taken care of a little earlier.

According to Standard Statistics, 1931 is likely to witness a moderate recovery in rail earnings rather than stagnate at the present low level. This would provide ample ground for a rail share advance later in the year in anticipation of the expansion in earning power. Prospective purchasers are advised to increase their holdings of rail stocks on any sharp reactions that may take place during coming weeks.

Problems continue to beset the oil industry from all sides. The last adverse factor is that pertaining to inventory. At the close of last year the combined inventory of oil represented 322 days' supply, with the price at 93 cents a barrel. A price level of $1.50 a barrel is declared essential by leaders in the industry, but in order to attain such a quotation it is imperative that combined inventories be reduced approximately two-thirds to 235 days of supply, according to consulting engineers who have closely studied this situation.

Copperweld Steel Reports Good 1930

S. E. Bramer, president of Copperweld Steel Company, states that despite the unsettlement in the copper market the company's business for 1930 had practically equalled that of 1929, which was the best year in its history. Mr. Bramer also said that the company's business so far this month has shown a distinct improvement January.

Forbes

Gloomy, Weepy Conversation Out of Vogue.

By B. C. FORBES

Mr. Forbes

HAVE YOU noticed among your friends that impatience is now expressed whenever anyone starts talking dolefully?

For months after the stock panic men's losses and worries were the favorite topic throughout the East. Jokes were cracked by victims of the disaster. Poverty was accounted no disgrace.

That attitude has passed. It is no longer considered good form to parade one's financial or other troubles. People have become sick and tired of hard luck tales. Many also have had their fill of depression talk.

The popular thing now is not to talk "shop" outside of business unless cheering statements can be made. The demand today is, not for gloomy retrospection or introspection, but for buoyant looking forward, for inspiration, for encouragement, for bucking-up.

So, if you want to make yourself agreeable, cease being a joy-killer. Get aboard the good-cheer band wagon.

AT THE PLACE where I spent Washington's birthday, guests were turned away. I learned, on making inquiries, that this was the first time this year every room had been taken.

A significant sign?

THE GUESS was made in this column that Wall Street was likely to indulge in bullish fireworks before any recovery in business became notable.

As usual, Wall Street hasn't done things by halves. The latest rise has been astoundingly brisk. One compilation shows that a representative list of 50 stocks on the New York Stock Exchange have advanced 37 points since mid-December. Everybody knows that neither industry nor employment, trade nor commodity prices, have meanwhile advanced anything like the same percentage.

While I still believe that next year and the year after stocks will sell substantially higher, I cannot but feel that the latest upswing has been too rapid and too violent to last. If the market had taken almost as many weeks as it has taken days to register this big advance, one would have had more faith in its stability. A fairly sharp setback would be extremely logical.

HENRY FORD has been mum for an unusually long time. Does this suggest that there may be something in the Detroit rumors that he is busily preparing to bring out an eight-cylinder car to sell at a medium price, thus giving him his low-priced Ford, his high-priced Lincoln and an in-between vehicle? These rumors have been denied; but so have other rumors which later turned out to be facts.

A VERY fine new store has been completed and opened close to Selfridge's, in London. Gordon H. Selfridge, the Marshall Field trained merchant who has become the foremost department store owner in Britain, has exhibited admirable magnanimity towards his new competitor. Mr. Selfridge, a unique personality, is the only business man in the world I know of who spends money every day in the newspapers to discuss timely topics—under the nom de plume of "Calisthenes." In the London Times Selfridge devotes half a column to "A Handshake of Welcome to a Competitor." These are extracts:

"We welcome our new competitor with absolute sincerity, in the same spirit as the tennis player or the golfer welcomes a renowned opponent who will help him to perfect his own game, teach him how to overcome old faults, teach him new strokes, new tactics, put him on his mettle, quicken his brain, rekindle his ambition.

"It has now for some time been the mark only of the outsider in business to malign a competitor. You are expected to play opposite him keenly. Never, in fact, has the play been more keen. Never has it been more necessary to keep alert the will to win. But the true and generous spirit of the game must dominate all our plays. . . .

"To our new neighbors, then, across the street, who, we know, of course, will play the game, as they always have played it, in the spirit of true sportsmanship, we offer a handshake of welcome and sincere best wishes."

May it not be that Gordon Selfridge's own success is attributable to his broad-gauge attitude toward competitors? Happily, in America hostility among competitors is giving way to harmony. Business men more and more realize that, unless they can derive solid satisfaction from their daily activities, they cannot hope to enjoy a really happy life. It was Judge Gary's proudest boast that, when the government sought to dissolve the United States Steel Corporation, not one competitor could be found to say a word against its policies and practices.

Success won at the cost of deserved ill-will isn't 24 carat success. In the end it tarnishes badly.

Westinghouse Elec. Postpones Meeting

The Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company directors' meeting for dividend action on both the preferred and common stocks has been postponed until March 25, because of lack of a quorum.

Columbia Gas Reserve Supply Increased

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

EXPANSION OF THE OPERATIONS of the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation has increased the gas producing area to 7,994,303 acres as compared to about 5,902,034 acres at the close of 1929. Producing wells now total 9,527 against 9,187 a year ago.

Most of the development work of the past year has been in pipe line construction. This has afforded increased outlets for gas to large industrial consumers and other public utilities, but sufficient time has not elapsed for any marked increase in the number of customers directly served to be apparent.

While gas is sold to 1,034,211 consumers, this figure shows little change from 1929 since losses due to the business depression have been just about balanced by the new areas secured in spite the fact that 1,206 communities are served against 1,066 in 1929. The development of service in the great number of towns in which franchises have been granted should be apparent iin sharp increases in the number of customers in future years.

Electric Business Important

LESS IS HEARD ABOUT the power portion of the business than about gas but this is a highly important phase of operations. Sales of electricity are not as great as those of gas but they are valuable since they are less subject to the effects of business depressions.

Power operations cover the southwestern portion of Ohio and reach such cities as Cincinnati, Hamilton, Middletown and Dayton. In addition to a large domestic load, industrial consumption is high with 316,000 electrical customers served in this area.

Last year the company completed a 132,000 volt transmission line connecting the main steam generating plant of the Cincinnati Gas and Electric Company, a subsidiary, and the hydro-electric generating station of the Louisville Gas and Electric Company. This will be operated on a contract for the interchange of off-peak and surplus power, resulting in the postponement of large capital expenditures for both companies.

Power Sales Gain

POWER SALES GAINED in 1930 while other types of sales declined. Gross revenue from electric service amounted to $27,245,145 against $27,103,527 in 1929. On the other hand, all gross revenue declined to $96,129,808 against $100,328,875 in 1929. The decrease was due to reduced business in the gas and traction divisions.

Revenue from the Columbia Oil and Gasoline Corporation also declined. These factors contributed to the reduction in net income for the year after all charges to $26,498,753 in 1930 from $32,161,139 in 1929. New gas pipe line facilities were completed too late in the year to compensate for the loss of revenue in these various departments.

While 1,098 miles were added to gas pipe lines last year making the total 28,427 miles, this is only a part of the expansion program described in this column yesterday.

New Reserves Tapped

THE INCREASED GAS reserves do not take into account the fuel which can be drawn from companies with which connections are being established. Included in this is the enormous reserve in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas which will be reached by the new pipe line of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line Company in which Columbia has a substantial interest.

Columbia is building a giant gas system for the future. Current earnings are not representative of the potentialities of this.

Plans Are Completed to Deceive Travers

CHAPTER XII.

When Mathews had left Travers he lay a long time thinking, trying to see, as Mathews had asked, the situation clearly. He understood all the implications. But he didn't want to see her tonight, not till he had gotten a grip on himself. It had all been so amazingly sudden. The unexpectedness of it.

She had not spoken to him, had not even called him by name. And the resultant crushing disappointment, the doubt of her loyalty, the conviction that she'd forgotten vows, embraces, promises, the certainty of her revulsion, had completely broken him. Now that he had, through Mathews, a plausible explanation for her incredible attitude, her amazing behavior, he was beginning to see the equal, if different, shock the situation had been to her. And so he must adjust himself. But he couldn't see her—tonight.

Delight's History

And for the first time in years he began to look ahead to tomorrow, not with confident secure happiness of course, yet with some measure of happiness. At least he would see her, touch her hand and hear her voice; at least, whatever had been lost to him, she was restored to him; she was under his roof.

Downstairs Dr. Mathews was recounting the story he had told Travers to the two women, and Mary Lou was breathing more freely, because her ordeal had been postponed a little longer.

"Do you remember the names of the people with whom Delight Harford lived?" Dr. Mathews asked Mrs. Lorrimer.

She rose and went to a small wall safe, adjusted the combination and, taking out a black notebook, came back to her chair.

"It's all down here," she told them. "I pumped every tiniest detail from Travers when he was able to tell me, so that I could instruct and inform the London agents as accurately as possible."

Delight Harford had been born in New York of American parents. When she was four years old her mother had divorced Harford and had taken the child to England on a visit to distant cousins and had remained there. Shortly before the war Mrs. Harford had married a German she had met while traveling in Switzerland and, on Delight's refusal to live with, or even speak to, the new stepfather her mother, now Mrs. von Kock, had gone to Dresden, leaving Delight with the relatives. Mr. Harford had died some time before and had left Delight a small legacy, enough to pay her board and lodging and a little over. The mother, always a rather casual and light-minded woman, had parted from her daughter without much sorrow. They had always been antagonistic, or so Delight had told Travers.

The cousins were named Lucy and Mary Morris, and were spinsters of some means, living on Green street. Delight had continued to live with them. They had both been immersed in war work at the time Travers had met the girl. Lucy, in fact, had gone to France with an ambulance corps and Mary was working as a V. A. D. in a London hospital. Delight herself had worked on a canteen and there young Travers had met her.

The background was thus established and Mary Lou went over it again and again, until she felt she was letter perfect.

"Of course," she told Dr. Mathews and Mrs. Lorrimer, "I'll fall down terribly, in my part, at times. He'll wonder why I haven't heard from the cousins, and don't hear from them while I am here."

"They are dead," announced Dr. Mathews, with a gesture denoting wholesale slaughter, "and that is why you came to America as a companion, hoping to find work here and perhaps some American relations of your father's."

Details Completed

"What about Delight's — I mean, my mother?" asked Mary Lou, seriously.

"Dead too!"

Mary Lou chuckled, in spite of herself.

"Oh, no!" she said earnestly, "not quite so funereal, Dr. Mathews. Please!"

"Permanently estranged then," Mrs. Lorrimer suggested, "she having stayed with the German husband whom you disliked anyway, and you having such strong English sympathies. How would that do?"

"It will have to do!" sighed Mary Lou.

A little while later Doctor Mathews left. Mrs. Lorrimer and Mary Lou dined alone in the beautiful paneled dining room, and after dinner, while Mrs. Lorrimer went upstairs to say goodnight to her son, Mary Lou wandered about the formal drawing room and music room and looked at books and pictures and wonder if she would ever become used to such luxury and beauty. Presently Mrs. Lorrimer joined her again.

"He's asleep," she reported. "And Peter says he ate practically nothing for dinner." She sighed and added, as if her son were still a stubborn 5-year-old, refusing his spinach and baked apple, "He won't eat much—or properly—at any time."

"He's missing a lot!" announced Mary Lou.

A little later they went upstairs to their adjoining rooms and Mary Lou found, in her own, an exquisite nightgown of pale peach crepe-de-chine with a matching negligee and slippers. In the bathroom a new toothbrush awaited her and the heavy silver brushes and combs on the bureau had been made ready for her use.

Faces Reality

She had undressed and bathed and was toasting her pink toes before the little fire Hilda had lighted in the sitting room when Mrs. Lorrimer knocked and came in, tall and lovely in clinging draperies of mauve and silver.

"Just to say good night. Will you be quite comfortable? I'm afraid the slippers are sizes too large," she deplored, "but it can't be helped tonight. I think I'll have someone sent out with things from the shops in town; I can't wait until we are free to go there ourselves," she laughed, excitement flushing her smooth cheeks with color, "and I've about decided for pajamas for you instead of nightgowns!"

"Now why?" asked Mary Lou, interested.

"You'll know when you see the kind I've mentally selected for you."

She took Mary Lou's hands as the girl rose and bent forward to brush her lips to the fragrant young cheek.

"Sleep well," said Mrs. Lorrimer. "I can't thank you enough. You've—given me new hope," she told her.

A little later Mary Lou lay in bed and breathed the crisp air which ruffled the curtains at the windows. She was tired and and drowsy. But she couldn't sleep yet, there was so much to think about.

Cinderella and the Beggar Maid of King Cophetua—she felt like both of them rolled into one. Tomorrow, tomorrow she faced the reverse side of the fairy tale fabric. Tomorrow she faced a certain unreal reality.

"I have to think of it," she told herself, "as my job. Just my job, that's all. I have to give it everything in me. I have to see it through. For her sake."

And so she slept, looking, if one could have discovered her dreaming, more like the Sleeping Beauty than like Cinderella.

DAILY TRUE STORY Love and Mystery

"Love first, mystery second," Dwight Harrod said to Amy Arden.

He had hurried down the path through the apple orchard to the bench where Amy was sitting before a table supplied with writing pads and pencils.

"Then I was right," Amy said, brightly.

"Well, yes, in a way. But just now, they told me, good mystery novels sell almost as well as the love stories."

"What else did Oglive say?"

Dwight had been to the city to talk with his friend, Oglive, the publisher.

"He said that I ought to stick to my biographies. And when I told him that I was to collaborate with you he said that you should stick to your birds and wild flowers."

Amy's pretty mouth straightened and her chin took on a determined angle.

"You may take his advice if you wish—"

"But we've already decided to do a novel—you aren't going to back out on me, are you?"

"Never!"

"Good—now let's think of a title."

"Before we have a plot?"

"Titles help—it leads to a train of thought and this train may take us right into a clever mystery."

"Mystery? Why Dwight, you just reported that Mr. Oglive said love stories were the best sellers—and what do I know about mysteries?"

"But Amy, for that matter, what do I know about love?"

They stared unwaveringly at each other for a moment.

"You don't have to know about it. You don't have to be a murderer, do you, before you can write a murder story?"

"Well, what do you know about love?"

"I've read about it and so have you. And all there is to it is to have two people think they love each other and there are rivals and opposition and—and misunderstandings and lots of trouble like that before the dark clouds pass and they finally are married and happy."

Disagree on Story

Dwight made some notes.

"Let me see?" Amy said.

She pulled the paper over and scanned it. She read:

"He—she—love—opposition—rivals—cleared up—married—happy."

"Well, it's a start on our love story, anyhow."

"Perhaps."

"Perhaps? Isn't it?"

"Well, what sort of opposition? How many rivals? Does he or she or do both have rivals? What happens to clear up the misunderstanding?"

Amy tapped her teeth with the pencil point and scowled at the paper.

"Suppose you are plotting a mystery—what sort of a mystery would it be—rich old man dead in library, revolver on floor, 20 clues to 20 different people?"

"No, that's the old-style mystery. We could have a lovely, mysterious dark girl—"

"Dark girl? Do you prefer dark girls?"

Dwight smiled at her as she ran her hand over her corn-silk hair.

"I prefer them for mysterious characters, adventuresses and the like."

"Oh—well, yes, I see."

"We can have a wealthy owner of a fleet of freighters killed, and there would be several who might profit by his death, and he is seen several times with his mysterious and beautiful dark girl — how's that?"

To Merge Plots

"Just about on a par with the love plot, Dwight. Who would profit by your man's murder? How would they profit? What makes this dark girl mysterious and why does she associate with the man just before he is murdered?"

"Well—that would have to be worked out."

"Oh, dear—I thought you just had to sit down and think of things for a few minutes and then write out a plot."

"So did I. Shall we give up?"

"You may be a quitter, Dwight Harrod, but I'm not."

"Quit? Quit and give up this wonderful opportunity to work with you every day all summer in this delightful orchard? Never."

"It is different when I write flower and bird books. I know what group I want, and just tell about them."

"Same with biographies. I dig up data about the subject, arrange it in order, and then write. But doing an adventure story—"

"Love story!"

"Oh, I thought—"

"We agreed to do this solely to make money and you admit that Mr. Oglive says that love stories have the biggest sale—the biggest sale means the most money—"

"But Amy, I don't know a darn thing about love!"

"And I don't know a thing about mystery stuff!"

Dwight pulled a blossom from a low branch and smelled it. He paced up and down and scowled.

Amy watched him and smiled just a little.

He halted and sat down beside her.

"I have an idea!"

"Then you are one idea ahead of me."

"You go ahead and think out a sort of love story plot. I'll think out a mystery plot. Then we'll merge."

"Merge? You mean—"

"Put them together into one plot, one novel. If love stories have the best sale and mystery stories the second best sale, we will have a sure-fire best seller—a love-and-mystery story—see? We'll merge them."

"Oh," said Amy.

"What do you think of it?"

"Suppose they just won't merge, my love plot and your mystery plot?"

"We'll make them. Come on now, Amy, let's walk through the grove and around the pond, taking it slowly, each one of us busy thinking out our plots. I can think rather well when I walk out where it is quiet and beautiful."

Amy agreed.

That night Dwight took Amy down to the pond where he had ordered a canoe to be hauled and left.

"Moonlight seems more romantic from a canoe," he said, and Amy agreed.

They talked about books and fireflies and of the first time they met in the office of Mr. Oglive the publisher, and then they talked a little about their novel, about mysteries and loves, and seemed quite hopeful.

The next day they tried to make notes as they sat out in the orchard, but as neither showed the other any of these notes, they didn't get very far with their plan to merge a love and mystery plot.

"The moon will be waning soon; we better take advantage of it again tonight," Dwight said.

Amy agreed.

And so they paddled down the pond and found a little sandy beach that looked like silver in the moonlight. They landed there and sat on the canoe cushions on the sand.

"Has your hero got to have hair like a lion's mane and blue eyes? Couldn't he have black hair like mine and gray eyes?" Dwight asked.

"Well, how about your heroine, swarthy, olive-skinned, sloe-eyes, Spanish type? Is that necessary?"

"Amy—listen—I have a swell idea—honestly!"

Dwight's Suggestion

He moved his cushion over closer.

"Why not write a novel about a man and a girl who started to write a novel together, a purely commercial literary endeavor—and they get stuck for a good mystery and love plot and they finally get married!"

"You really mean that—for a plot, I mean? Where on earth is the love and mystery, Dwight?"

"Sure, I mean it—for a plot and for ourselves, too. We are in love—there's the love element, and it's a mystery why we didn't know enough, six months ago, to realize that we were made for each other!"

"You mean—really—" Amy hesitated.

"Remember the old standby sentence—'She clung to him as he held her closely, and she returned his fervent kisses'—like this—"

Dwight showed her.

Just as soon as they return from their honeymoon they intend to write this novel

Shirking Their Duty

Neither Council Nor District Attorney Park Is Showing Proper Zeal to Investigate Succop Deals.

The people of Pittsburgh are becoming very impatient with Council.

They are also becoming impatient with District Attorney Park.

The scandal that has developed from John D. Houston's charges that Bertram L. Succop, as director of supplies, evaded the law by buying city supplies without asking for competitive bids, by trickery in specifications, and by awarding contracts to high bidders, daily grows worse.

Mayor Kline admitted "irregularities" in discharging Succop.

Yet Kline's supporters in Council—Herron, English, Muldowney, Connelly, Alderdice, Kambach and Little—persist in blocking the open inquiry demanded by Councilmen Garland and Anderson.

Are they trying to conceal something?

Are they trying to protect someone?

Are they placing loyalty to a political faction above their duty to the city?

And what is the explanation for District Attorney Park's seeming indifference to a situation that has stirred the taxpayers as nothing else has in years?

Pittsburgh Plan at Work

Scheme Is in Actual Operation Which Will Lift District Out of Business Depression.

Two hundred men went to work today under the Pittsburgh Plan.

They all reported promptly at the appointed hour—pretty good evidence that their need and desire for remunerative employment was genuine.

Soon thousands will be employed under the plan.

That means less need for charity; it means better business for the stores; it means increase of happiness and self-assurance and self-respect in homes where, because of the unemployment of the bread-winner, the wolf has been at the door.

The Pittsburgh Plan, as nearly everyone knows by this time, is the scheme that has been devised by the city's commercial, civic and industrial leaders to lift the community out of the business depression.

It is Pittsburgh's answer to the talk of a dole for the unemployed.

Corporations donating a day's pay on the basis of the 1929 payroll, persons now regularly employed donating a day's wages, and other contributors are raising a fund of several million dollars from which our jobless men gradually will be put to work on public and semi-public projects.

The sun is breaking through the clouds.

He Distrusts the People

But Senator Reed Must Be Credited with Candor in Expressing His Views.

Senator Reed has been described as an aristocrat with scarcely concealed contempt for the people. His article in the March Atlantic Monthly does not dispel that notion.

Notwithstanding our experience with bossism under Cameron, Quay and Penrose, Reed likes the old convention system under which they gained power and is opposed to the primary system and to direct election of United States Senators by popular vote.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to repeal the direct primary act. Gov. Pinchot said in his radio address Tuesday night that the measure showed the "war board" of the Philadelphia Republican machine still had designs on the political virtue of Pennsylvania. However that may be, the part of wisdom is to kill the bill.

Senator Reed's views may be offered in support of the measure, but it should receive short shrift.

The answer to Senator Reed and to Representative Philip Sterling, of Philadelphia, sponsor for the primary repealer, is that the ills of the body politic are due, not to our having too much popular government, not to too much direct participation of the people in politics, but to our not having enough of it.

If undesirables are elected to office, it is because the people let the bosses dictate nominations, and because many of the people do not take the trouble to vote.

But Reed deserves credit for his candor.

Fortunate Pittsburgh

We Supply Many Kinds of Materials Needed in Construction Projects.

To show that "the influence of any single job on unemployment is by no means restricted to the immediate locality of that project, but may actually be nation-wide in extent," the President's Emergency Committee for Employment has taken the trouble to find out and publish the sources of the various materials used in the construction of the new Department of Commerce Building now nearing completion in Washington.

It is rather embarrassing for us, for some people might say the Pittsburgh district had received more than its share of contracts for the edifice.

The structural steel was rolled at Homestead, and fabricated at Ambridge. Forty-five draftsmen worked for nine months on the shop drawings for the fabrication.

One and a half million face brick came from Kittanning and 200,000 gray brick from Bigler, Pa.

A quarter of a million square feet of plate glass came from the Pittsburgh district.

To heat the building seven large locomotive fire-box boilers were ordered from Titusville.

The Pittsburgh area, supplying so many materials required in construction projects, is fortunate.

Gold in That Nose

Millions of Dollars.

Louis Wolheim ("The Hairy Ape," "What Price Glory?" "All Quiet on the Western Front") was no beauty, as the accompanying picture of the late screen star shows.

Equipped with such a face, no wonder young Wolheim despaired for a time of making a success in life. But then it occurred to him that he could capitalize his ugliness.

As you know, he did.

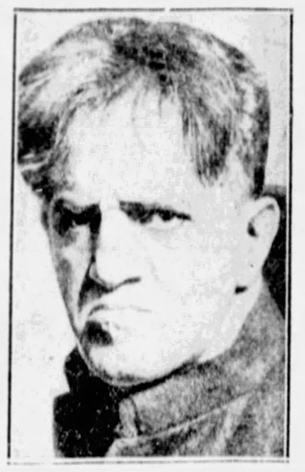
You are interested to hear also that, after making a fortune in the films, he grew tired of having little children burst into tears when he approached them on the street. He decided to have his features made over. But the film company which had him under contract obtained an injunction to prevent him. There was gold in that flattened nose, millions of dollars, and beautification would wipe it out.

So Wolheim remained ugly.

Himself a kindly, educated and cultivated man he was known to the public as the quintessence of the hard fisted and hard-boiled. Fate plays odd tricks.

Yet there is a thought for everyone in his strange career. What seems an insuperable weakness may prove to be a source of strength. What looks like a handicap, if properly exploited, may bring you home first in the race.

It did that for Wolheim.



LOUIS WOLHEIM

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Park Row as a journalistic haven is mostly memory. Reporters, novelists and short story tellers still try to thread it with romance but it is in realty only a wraith. As a street it curls northward into Chatham Square. As the Fourth Estate's tribunal it is dead.

The Pulitzer building with its gilded dome valiantly and alone holds the fort to recall vivid days agone—days when Cobb was top-salaried reporter at $125 a week, when O'Malley wrote unsigned stories that convulsed the town for the Sun, when "scops" meant something.

Park or Newspaper Row became the site of newspaper homes before days of the telephone and was so selected because of proximity to big news centers, such as City Hall, the West street liner piers, police headquarters and the criminal courts building.

With telephone the disintegration set in. The Sun moved further up Broadway. The American occupies a huge strip along the South street water front. The Tribune made a jump northward into the Forties. Others reared giant skyscrapers in mid-town.

Doc Perry's drug store, awash with tradition, is still on Park Row but there is no "little back room." The patronage today is mostly suburban instead of journalistic. Folks come from those towns with the wild Jersey names for malted milks whither once came star reporters for eye-openers.

The picturesque saloons on Park Row along with those under the bleak shed of Brooklyn Bridge or on those cobbled streets slanting down to the East River are now quick lunches, German Kitchens and oyster bars. Many are open all night for workers of the World.

Thus Park Row, the goal of every scribbler from out yonder, has become second rate. It is lined with shoddy shops—upstairs shoe parlors, downstairs pool halls, melodramatic movies, passport photo-galleries and "reliever" cellars.

A favored haunt of mine in Park Row days was "Ham and" Dolan's. Here for 15 cents—plus a nickel tip—one could feast on a hefty slice of boiled ham flanked with beans, three slices of bread and a cup of coffee. Pie or ice cream were 5 cents extra. One saw many whose names became of great lustre—Richard Harding Davis, Albert Payson Terhune, Winfield Sheehan and William Johnstone.

* * *

On Saturday pay days impecunious pamphleteers lunched at Hahn's, where cocktails were 20 cents a throw. Golf was known remotely as a game where one hit a ball and walked after it. The newspaperman's sport was bottle pool.

Lou Holz is another Broadway comedian to produce and appear in his own show. Holz was singing in a San Francisco roadhouse when Elsie Janis heard and encouraged him to come to New York. She prophesied success. Holz has fulfilled her prophecy with a bang.

* * *

Broadway lights once burned only for the stage stars. Today a half dozen stage names glitter. The rest twingle for tooth paste, cigarets, coffee, fountain pens and the movies. Or were you worried?

Yet in the decay of Broadway's artistic grandeur ferments a touch of the old order, the incorruptible egoism of exploiting one's self. Hard by the Metropolitan a Sicilian bootblack stand heralds: "Giavonni, Premier Shiner De Luxe."

The boot-black in many barber shops in the metropolis is the "stool pigeon" for the boss. He tips off irregularities among the barbers and reports any unusual vivaciousness of manicure girls toward customers. Many also act as agents for handbooks and often have greater incomes than proprietors.

* * *

He is one of those old birds, English as an adenoid, who, following several introductions, now nods woodenly in passing. Having relaxed that much, I decided, seeing him this morning to meet him more than half way with a little American cheerio, toodle-oo and pip pip. And the way he thawed out has me worried. I'm afraid he'll be popping in for tea.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND.

The Siren City—New York.

New York, like Mussolini, is either adored or hated. Like marriage and the stock market, it is accustomed to being blamed for everything, denounced, defended, sneered at, laughed at and joked about.

I like New York for a hundred things—and dislike it for half as many.

* * *

I like New York for its cheerfulness and good humor. In July heat or January blizzard, in roaring traffic or sardine-packed subway, nothing can quench its imperturbable, light-hearted equanimity.

* * *

I like New York for its ability to mind its own business. There is no other city in the world in which there is so little gossip, scandal, cattiness and backbiting.

I like New York for its independence. In other cities you must "keep up a front." But in New York you can wear your oldest clothes or the latest creation from Paris; rags or rubies, and nobody stops to notice.

* * *

I like New York for its glad hand. It is the land of opportunity and the City of Eternal Hope. No matter what you may do or have done, you can always "come back."

* * *

I like New York for its variety and charm and its creature comforts. Nowhere else in the world can you live half a mile up in the air and sunlight far from the noise and dust and hurry.

* * *

I like New York for a hundred things but I hate its roar and hustle and rush; its breathlessness and its stifling, jostling crowds.

I hate its tinsel and bluff, its sordid, gawdy night clubs. I hate the honking of its millions of motor horns and the screeching of its millions of taxicabs; its rude and ruthless manners and its worship of money and publicity and ballyhoo. I hate its imitation pep and cockiness, its tawdry electric signs, its vulgar vernacular and the utter "homelessness" of all its inhabitants. For there are houses and apartments and gorgeous hotels in New York, but there are no HOMES!

* * *

I have to get AWAY from New York every now and then for my soul's sake. But I always come BACK, joyfully. For New York is a spangled siren in a tawdry gown—but a siren, nevertheless!

TRAG HEROINE OF SCIENCE

By Archibald Henderson

With the opening of [illegible] it [illegible] s, the question naturally itself. Are women capable of achieving great things in science? Nothing could be more unfair than resort to a past history. For only in very recent times have careers in science, properly speaking, been open to women, and even inviting by reason of the possibilities for advancement to high position and fame. Only the future will be able to answer this momentous question. It is probably true that women, if they dedicate themselves undividedly to science, will achieve eminence therein, as well as in other branches of knowledge and fields of human endeavor.

In a recent study of women mathematicians down to the beginning of the present century, Gino Loria, the Italian mathematician says: Although in a general way, I am disposed by inclination and by conviction to open the doors of the sanctuary of the exact sciences to whoever wishes to leap upon the threshold, I find myself with regret obliged to make reservations in regard to those whom nature seems to have called to other destinies. Perchance some archaeologist of the future, comparing my reservations with progress in mathematics by women of the coming centuries, will find good arguments for accusing me of having been a man of little faith and a false prophet. My bones, bleaching in the sepulcher, will quiver with joy at this new triumph of the "eternal woman."

So far as history gives indisputable evidence, Hypatia was the first woman of real eminence in mathematics. Born about the year 370 A. D., she was the daughter of Theon of Alexandria. He flourished under Theodosius the Great, and indeed some years earlier. He was a teacher at the Museum of Alexandria, and edited Euclid. Sarton, in his History of Science, says that, for a long time during the Middle Ages, it was thought that Euclid had simply enunciated the geometrical propositions, but that Theon had proved them! He made important commentaries on the works of Ptolemy, was engaged in making astronomical observations in A. D. 365 and 372, and mentions the precision of the equinoxes.

It has been said that Hypatia was given the best training the philosophy of the time could furnish. Some writers have said that she seemed to be a better mathematician than her father. She taught in the academy, giving instruction in mathematics and philosophy; and succeeded her father upon his retirement. Her fame spread far and wide, perhaps as a beauty no less than as a gifted teacher; and many pupils were attracted to the school at Alexandria, notable among them being Synesius, afterwards Bishop of Ptolemais. She is credited with having written commentaries on Apollonius, Diophantus and Ptolemy; Hypatia was revered for her wisdom, and was often consulted by the magistrates of Alexandria.

It was during this era that Christian thought became antagonistic to secular learnings, which was falsely identified as associated with heathenism. In 415, Hypathia was murdered with revolting cruelty by a mob. It has been well said that Hypatia was famed alike for her beauty, her purity and her tragic fate.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Often riding across the range
I have seen a terrible thing . . .
Endless swoop of blazing sky.
Endless sprawl of blistered earth.

And there, in the middle, some poor creature—down. Sick, wounded, deserted by the herd—huddled alone in its agony.

A day and a night—many days, many nights—it has stood there, head sagging lower, lower . . . breath struggling fainter, fainter against the heaving sides.

And as it stood, far up in the white-hot hollow of the sky a spot appeared.

One spot.
Two spots.
Three.
Moving a very little on great, lugubrious wings.
Gathering, gathering.
Three spots.
Four spots.
Five.

Now all the sky is dotted with their gathering.

And now they're dropping—slowly, down and down.

Until they're squatted in a wide, black circle round the dying beast, waiting.

Then the end. One last shudder, one tortured, rattling gasp—then the poor carcass sprawls, legs all awry—

The circle closes in . . .

When I ride past, they're at it.

A squirming, struggling mass, claws braced against the helpless flesh, beak plunging, gouging.

The place that was so quiet, now a hell filled with the racket of their rusty wings—the clamor of their gobbling, guzzling squawks.

Often, riding across the range, I have come across a sight like that and ridden on, sick—hating beasts.

Often, moving through life, I have come across a sight like that—

Life, more terrible than any desert range—

Ignorance—infinite as the blazing sky—

Loneliness—endless as the blistered sand—

And, in the middle of it, some poor spirit—down. Sick at heart, bewildered . . . lost, when it took that first wrong turn. There it stood deserted by the human herd, alone in its agony.

Blank days and mocking nights—

Already the Spots are gathering—

At that first wrong step, at that first weak cry, they had seen, they had heard, from afar.

They had seen, they had heard—they had sent on the news.

And now they have gathered . . . and now they have dropped . . . and now they are squatted—waiting.

No mercy in that squatting circle of buzzard-gossips. No help for the stricken soul in those watching eyes. Only vicious curiosity and evil speculation and horrid, eager greed—

And now the end—

The shamed, bewildered soul has ceased to fight—it's down, upon the sand its poor, sick secrets bared—its humor all asprawl—

And they are at it!

At it . . . the buzzard-gossips! A squirming, whispering mass—beaks gouging, yanking at helpless shreds—the place a hell of horrid sneers and sobbing, guzzling 'I-told-you-sos!"

Often, moving through life, I have come across a sight like that. And gone on—sickened—hating men.

Biography

If one would write
Biography
He must have eyes
So clear they see
Below your froth
And foam of days
Into your being's
Hidden ways.

Not just your life,
But how you live;
Not what you get,
But what you give:
These are the things
That matter most,
Whatever else
Is gained or lost.

Not of your speech
But of your thought
The fabric of
Your life is wrought
One who would write
Biography
To all your dreams
Must hold the key!

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

Are you one of those persons who believe that young people in general are on the way to ruin?

You shudder when you hear of some of their doings.

You compare their freedom of manner with the reserve of your day.

You think modesty has been discarded and gallantry no longer exists.

Your imagination depicts the decadence of the human family.

As you see it, the devil leads the procession of girls and boys.

It is evident that you have failed to keep abreast of the times.

You have failed to take into account the false modesty that was characteristic of youth in your time.

Now there is frankness and greater equality of the sexes.

Young folk are better informed, more independent, better able to protect themselves because of their knowledge and fearlessness.

The clinging-vine girl is seldom seen now-a-days.

The healthy, wholesome, athletic girl has taken her place and she is one not so easily deceived because she knows something of what life means.

The girl of today need not be coarse and vulgar, though she be as well informed as her parents in many matters.

ISN'T IT SO?

The man with a long face gets a short welcome.

Truth may be stranger than fiction, but it will never sell for much.

Getting out a newspaper is romantic to the person who is not getting out the paper.

Too often businessmen make friends in the hope that their friends will make them.

The man who says his wife doesn't understand him probably doesn't talk the language of his courtship.

Lunatics have habits that are the most fixed.

It takes a lot of crust to get a piece of political pie.

Any man can agree with a woman, but it seldom does any good.

A girl may not be able to see farther than her nose, but she can see how to powder it.

Silence is golden, but it isn't everyone who has the opportunity to convert it into cash money.

The man who is always wishing he were dead either can't marry the girl he would like to—or has already married her.
